24 Die As Airliner Hits Mountain In Snowstorm

Only One Survives Pennsylvania Crash

MONTOURSVILLE, Pa. (AP)—An Allegheny Airlines plane crashed into a 1,400-foot mountain today while attempting an instrument landing in a snowstorm. Three of the 25 aboard were found alive but two died while being taken to a hospital.

The lone survivor was identified as Louis Matarzzo of Springfield, Pa., a suburb of Philadelphia. He was reported in serious condition.

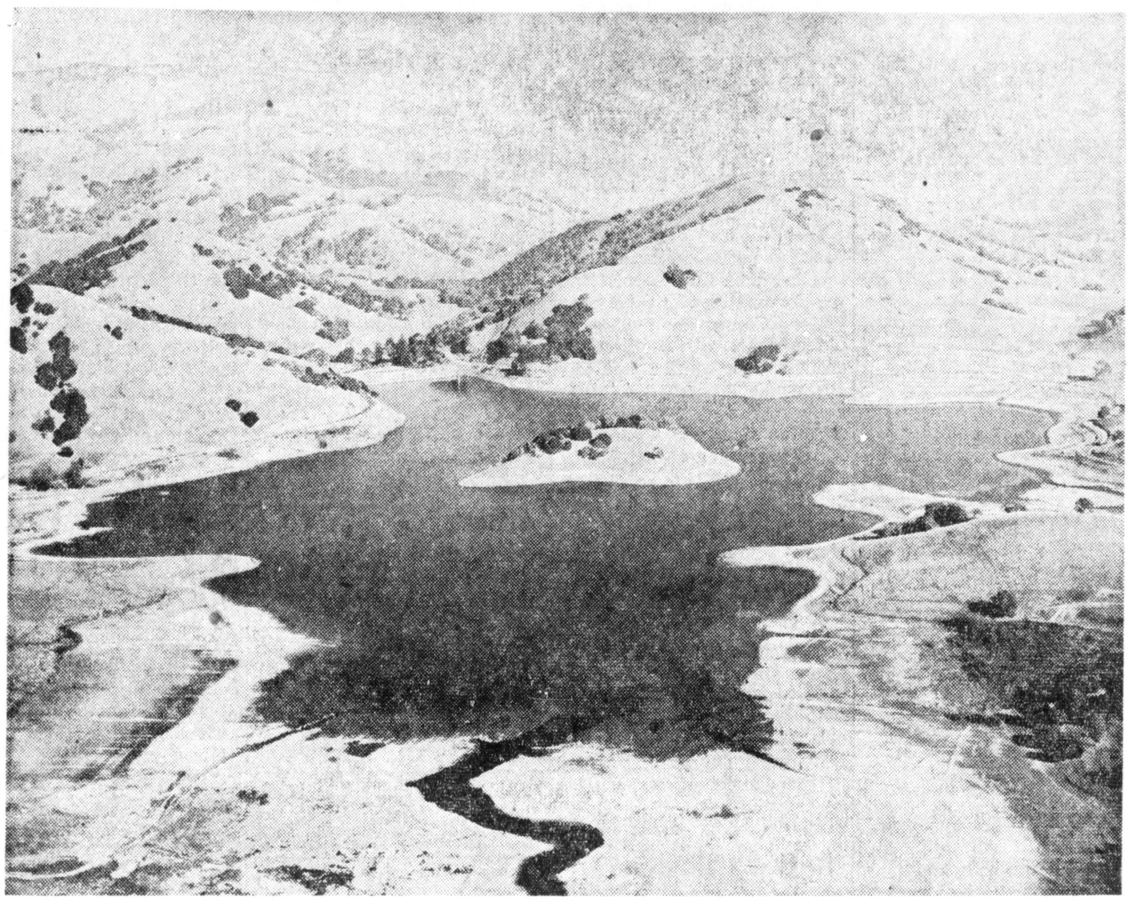
The plane was en route from Philadelphia to Cleveland, Ohio. It struck Eagle Mountain about midway from the top.

Tom Schadt, a salesman, said he saw the twin-engine plane approach the Williamsport-Montoursville airport, turn away for a new landing try, and then head directly toward the nearby mountains in this central Pennsylvania area.

"I heard the pilot gun his motors," Schadt said. "A second or two later there was a gigantic crash."

An Air Force helicopter located the plane about 11:25 a.m., some two hours after the craft—a Martin executive-type—was due at the airport. The plane left Philadelphia around 7:18 a.m.

At Washington, an airlines spokesman said the pilot last was heard from when he was cleared for a landing at 9:41 a.m. Snow was falling at the time. Moments later the plane broke through the storm over the airport. But it turned away, the spokesman said.



LAKE LEVEL FAR DOWN — Although Stafford Reservoir sprawls over many acres, wide stretches along its edges which would normally be covered by water appear as barren beaches in this aerial photo by Independent-Journal reported-photographer Carleton Williams from Tollefson Flying Service plane. Storage is about half of normal and one-third of capacity, according to Jerome P. Gilbert, North Marin Water District engineer. Even lower is storage in Marin Municipal Water District reservoirs, giving rise to a hint of water rationing for consumers in the district.

McElroy Quits Defense Post; Aide Steps Up

Thomas Gates Jr. Picked By Ike For Cabinet Seat

WASHINGTON (AP)—Neil H. McElroy resigned today as secretary of defense and President Eisenhower chose Thomas S. Gates Jr., now deputy secretary, to succeed him.

The resignation, long expected and effective immediately, was announced by the White House while McElroy was attending a meeting of the National Security Council with Eisenhower presiding.

AWARDS MEDAL

At that session the President awarded the Medal of Freedom to McElroy for "outstanding service to his country and his dedication to his task."

In a letter to Eisenhower dated Nov. 27 McElroy said he was resigning for personal reasons of an urgent nature.

McElroy is expected to become chairman of the board of Proctor and Gamble, Cincinnati soap manufacturing firm. R. R. Deupree, present chairman, plans to retire, and he said he will ask the board to elect McElroy as his successor.

FORMER PRESIDENT

McElroy was president of Procter and Gamble when he was appointed secretary of defense.

Eisenhower, in a "Dear Neil" letter, accepted McElroy's resignation with regret and expressed "deep appreciation of your distinguished service." McElroy served as defense chief for 26 months, starting in the fall of 1957.

Eisenhower gave Gates a recess appointment. A formal nomination will go to the Senate when Congress reconvenes in January.

Gates, 53, has been deputy secretary of defense since last June. He took that job at Eisenhower's request after having resigned as secretary of the Navy to return to private business. He is a Philadelphia investment banker.

Juvenile Hall Chief Tells Of Outburst

Two girl inmates of juvenile hall staged a violent outburst Sunday afternoon, David Fogel, superintendent, disclosed to the Marin County Board of Supervisors today during a discussion of the hall's current problems and needs.

Two windows went out, "sash and all," in the course of "a rather fantastic plot to get out" on the part of two 15-year-old youngsters, Fogel said.

Terming the offenders "very disturbed young ladies," Fogel said both had been at the hall more than two months.

One girl demolished a window with a book; the other kicked a window out, though she didn't have shoes on. Two women attendants quelled the outburst, Fogel said.

In keeping with a policy started last May, reimbursement for the damage done was obtained from the parents who live in the county, Fogel said, adding:

"One girl tore up her bed and slashed the mattress."

Fogel was present as the supervisors received a letter from Donald A. Jensen, county administrator, reporting on staff and other requests by Fogel and including recommendations for improved "screening" of new arrivals on weekends

Drought Cuts Storage To Half Normal; One Area Utterly Dry

The threat of water rationing was raised today as Marin entered its 73rd day of drought and one area within the Marin Municipal Water District was utterly without water.

Taps ran dry in the water district's Lapuchet system around Mountain Home above Mill Valley. The system is fed by springs. The spring have simply gone dry, said William R. Seeger, general manager of the water district. Emergency pumps were to be installed to transfer water from Mill Valley lines into the Lapuchet pipes.

Total storage in the Marin Municipal Water District's system of reservoirs is two and one-half billion gallons. Seeger said. That is half of normal.

Two and one-half billion gallons represents a normal five-month supply, said Seeger, "but it could be stretched to a year—with rationing."

Trouble is, declared the water district manager, that far from conserving water, Marinites are now using it "at the midsummer rate"—15 to 20 million gallons per day.

"Consumers must cooperate by cutting down on car washing, washing down walks, running sprinklers day and night and so forth," declared Seeger.

"If they don't, we may be forced to impose rationing."

Rainfall since July 1 in San Rafael totals 4.50 inches. This is only 1.61 inches below the seasonal average of 6.11, and is well above the total to Dec. 1 in many years.

But nearly all the 4.50 inches fell in one storm in September. And storage was already below normal because the 1958-59 rainfall season produced only 22.65 inches against an average of 36.46.

The picture was much the same in other areas of the county.

Officer Says Wife Reported Rogers Threat

Three days before Mrs. Bertie L. Rogers was shot to death last August in a San Rafael home, she told police her husband, Robert Burdette Rogers, had threatened her with a rifle.

San Rafael Officer Leon de Lisle Jr. so testified today in Rogers' murder trial in Marin Superior Court.

Rogers denied the threat and indicated with a gesture that he had just held the rifle with the muzzle pointing up, de Lisle said. The defendant declared he had evidence that his wife was being unfaithful, the officer testified.

TALKED TO COUPLE

De Lisle talked to the couple at 9 Greenwood avenue, San Rafael, the home of Mrs. Rogers mother.

Judge Jordan L. Martinelli is hearing the case without a jury. By stipulation the verdict must be either manslaughter or murder in the second degree.

De Lisle was the first witness called this morning. The mother and 17-year-old daughter of the gun slaying victim also were scheduled to testify today.

GAVE OFFICER GUN

De Lisle told the court Mrs. Rogers reported her husband had been tearing up the house, looking for a pistol, and had threatened her with the rifle.

She handed the officer an automatic pistol in a leather holster and he asked: "You're giving me this gun in fear of your life?" Mrs. Rogers declar-

MARIN SHOWS HEALTHY GAIN IN VALUATIONS

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Controller Alan Cranston reported today the total net assessed value of California is $27,440,095,981, up 5.67 per cent from last fiscal year.

The valuation was made up of $8,147,551,279 for land, $15,048,184,986 for improvements on land and $5,721,711,130 personal property for total of $28,971,447,395. A sum of $1,477,351,414 was exempt from taxation.

Santa Clara County, Cranston said, joined Los Angeles, San Francisco, Alameda, San Diego and Orange Counties in the class of counties with an assessed valuation of a billion dollars or more.

Marin County 1959-60 total was $218,393,943, an increase of 7.82 per cent over the preceding fiscal year. This increase of $15,837,085 made Marin the 18th highest of California's 58 counties in percentage increase.

Cranston's report showed couties' total bonded indebtedness is $78,146,500. County tax rates ranged from a high of $3.60 per $100 assessed in Trinity County to a low of $1.00 in Mono County.

Marin Armory Plans Win U.S. Approval

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — The California National Guard was notified yesterday of federal approval of plans for Marin County's new armory at Santa Venetia.

Brig. Gen. Carl H. Aulick, deputy adjutant general, said his department had been notified that the federal government has set aside $105,000 as its share of the project. Aulick said the National Guard will furnish a total of $150,000 the remainder being state funds. In addition, the Navy and Marine Corps will spend slightly more for construction of a joint facility for the three branches.

Aulick said Congress has authorized and the Defense Department has concurred in plans for the structure. Next step is for the state to furnish the federal government with proof that the plans meet federal criteria.

When that requirement has been met, a call for bids will be issued, Aulick said.

He estimated it may take two or three months "to go through the red tape," but said he hoped for ground breaking by next spring. The armory will be in the southeast corner of the county fairgrounds site.

Hilarita Sewer Cutoff Still Up In The Air

By DONALD G. DAVIS

Today is the day the city of Belvedere was to cut off the sewer outfall from the Hilarita housing project, but none of the many officials involved in the complicated situation could say for sure whether the cut-off actually would take place.

From City Manager Britton Rey there came a crisp "no comment."

From Bert Klhan, executive director of the Marin County Housing Authority, came this comment: "My only concern is the 120 families that live in the project, and the 400 kids who attend Reed School."

Reed School uses the same outfall system, and last week as the cut-off deadline neared, Supt. Paul R. Stouffer of the Reed Union School District said he feared the school might have to be closed.

Today he said he didn't think the school would be closed, and that "every effort will be made to keep the school open."

Klahn said a housing authority crew this morning cleaned out the propject's old septic tank in preparation for putting it back into use, although no approval has been given by the Marin County health department.

Klahn said that if Belvedere does not close the outfall line, effluent from the tank will flow through the lines. If the lines are close, the tank will build up storage and will have to be pumped out "every few days."

The school thus would still be served, he said.

Belvedere City Atty. William MacKay said he could not say "right this minute" whether sewer service to Hilarita would be cut off. He said he had scheduled a noontime conference on the matter.

Various officials, including housing authority board chairman Omar E. McNally, said, "We have heard rumors they (the City of Belvedere) plan to cut us off at 4 p.m. today." But

Jury May Get Kayo Case Tomorrow

The fate of Terence (Kayo) Hallinan, who fractured the jaw of a Fairfax youth last May, will be in the hands of the jury tomorrow.

Hallinan, 22-year-old son of Vincent Hallinan of Ross, is accused of felonious assault against James W. Thalhamer Jr., 18, of Fairfax. The incident occurred outside the Greenbrae Bowl bowling alley last May 29.

In his final argument today, Dist. Atty. William O. Weissich asked the jurors for a felony conviction—assault by force likely to produce great bodily harm.

Attorney Wallace S. Myers, defending Hallinan, tore into the testimony of Thalhamer, the victim, pointing out that Thalhamer gave conflicting accounts of what he had seen that night.

Final arguments were expected to conclude this afternoon. Judge Thomas F. Keating of Marin Superior Court indicated he would present the case to the jurors tomorrow.

Fire Guts Forest Knolls Building; Loss $37,000

Fire that gutted the wood-frame building housing Mary Nell's Beauty Salon and an adjacent antique shop in Forest Knolls yesterday caused damage estimated today at $37,000.

Seven Marin County firemen from the Woodacre station rushed to the blazing building at 11:53 a.m. with four trucks. County Fire Chief Charles R. Reilley led the attack on the fire, which was under control by 12:50 p.m.

The flames spread rapidly through the ground floor of the two-story building off Sir Francis Drake boulevard, destroying many antiques and much equipment in the beauty shop owned by Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Moulton of Forest Knolls.

Chief Reilley today estimated that $12,000 damage was done to the building alone, owned by Frank J. Manning of Forest Knolls. The owner said the old building was insured.

Moulton, at the scene of the fire last night, estimated he had suffered a loss of about $25,000, said the chief, bringing the total estimate to $37,000.

Fire damage to the structure was limited to the downstairs area, but smoke and water damaged the upstairs storage area, the chief reported.

It was not known how the fire started, Chief Reilley said.

Fallout Exercise Closes Hamilton

Red lights and screaming sirens at exactly 1 p.m. today sent all Hamilton Air Force Base personnel to cover in a mock radiological fallout drill.

A yellow alert, the signal to prepare to take cover, came at 12:40 p.m. Nicknamed DCUF, short for Defense Capability Under Fallout, the exercise closed the base to visitors, shut down the switchboard and kept the personnel in shelters.

The Larkspur Chamber of Commerce last night decided not to decorate the city's business district for the Christmas season.

Hilarita Sewer Cutoff Still Up In The Air

By DONALD G. DAVIS

Today is the day the city of Belvedere was to cut off the sewer outfall from the Hilarita housing project, but none of the many officials involved in the complicated situation could say for sure whether the cut-off actually would take place.

School Board Authorizes Offer For Freitas Land

The San Rafael Board of Education decided last evening that the major part of "No Man's Land" may be worth $5,000 an acre.

Walter Freitas, representing the eight Freitas heirs, rejected a proposal by the board that the San Rafael High School District buy only .2 of an acre of the "No Man's Land" between the Terra Linda High School site and Nova Albion way at $500.

Freitas had sought to have the district buy about one and one-half acres left "islanded" between school site and streets at the same price per acre paid for the school site—about $5,000 per acre. He also asked 3 per cent interest since 1956, when the district bought the school site.

Last evening the board went considerably more than half way. It authorized Supt. Frank L. Lucas to offer the Freitas Estate the $5,000-per-acre price for about .9 of an acre which would include the "No Man's Land" to the edge of the streets, but not the distance to the middle of an extension of Freitas Parkway. The latter was included in Freitas's proposal.

Lucas transmitted the new offer today by letter.

The board also opened five bids on an additional 10,000 cubic yards of fill dirt for the Davidson School site, and awarded the contract to Holtziner Brothers of Corte Madera, low bidder at $5,500. Other bids ranged up to $11,900.

Interim Pact For Sanitary Service Set

An interim agreement between the Novato Sanitary District and Hamilton Air Force Base covering sanitary service to the Capehart Housing Project was reached last night at a special meeting of the district board and Air Force representatives.

The permanent contract, agreed upon by both parties but not yet approved by Air Force headquarters, is being reviewed by Air Force representatives in Colorado Springs. The interim contract was set up to accommodate the 40 families expected to move into the base housing project tomorrow.

The terms of the interim agreement are identical to those of the original contract.

About 127 families are expected to be settled in the project by the first of the year.

Fire Damages Shed At San Rafael Home

Fire that broke out yesterday in a storage shed at the home of J. L. Hogin, 150 Coleman street, San Rafael, caused damage estimated at $500 by Fire Chief C. M. Johansen.

Firemen arrived on the scene shortly after 2 p.m. and fought the blaze for one hour. The fire apparently started from hot ashes placed in the shed in a cardboard box, said the chief.

Former Hub Boys' Bodies Still Missing

Search continued along 40 miles of ocean beach near Crescent City today for the bodies of two young brothers, sons of a former San Anselmo resident and Hamilton Air Force Base officer, who drowned Sunday.

The boat in which Rein Cahill, 16, and his brother Stephen, 19, were fishing capsized in heavy surf near the mouth of the Klamath River. The boat later washed ashore but the bodies have not been found, the Associated Press reported.

The youths are sons of Maj. R. J. Cahill, commander of a radar station at Requa, 22 miles south of Crescent City, and formerly stationed at Hamilton. The Cahill family lived at 40 Florence avenue, San Anselmo, until moving to Requa.

Missile Battalion To Demonstrate

A demonstration drill by a missile battalion will be a feature of a second annual Missile Officers Conference at Ft. Baker today and tomorrow.

Attending are military officers and civilian technical representatives from three Army Air Defense brigades, six groups and 17 regular Army and National Guard battalions. Maj. Gen. E. J. McGaw, 6th Region Army Air Defense commander, is host and Maj. Warren D. Sower, radar officer, is convention chairman.

Purpose is to standardize maintenance and inspections and to stress methods of improving operations.

New Electronic Service Opened By Western Union

NEW YORK (UPI) — Western Union opened today the first public facsimile communication network, linking New York, Washington, Chicago, San Francisco and Los Angeles.

The speedy electronic reproduction system, called "Wirefax," reduces letters, drawings, graphs, charts, and advertising layouts to electronic impulses for inter-city transmission. The message is recreated on paper at the receiving station and delivered to the recipient like a telegram.

Western Union Wirefax rates indicated that a 600-word message on a seven and one-half by nine inch sheet of paper could be transmitted from Washington to San Francisco in six minutes for $7.90, compared with the $36.95 it would cost to send a 600-word telegram for immediate delivery. Wirefax eliminates the possibility of errors in transmission, the firm said.

Two Sanitary Boards Seek To End Dispute

The Ross Valley and Corte Madera Sanitary District boards, long engaged in a dispute over a new contract for treatment of Corte Madera sewage, sat down together last night to explore basic differences.

No agreement was reached, but both sides expressed a desire to resume the discussions at an early date.

The four-and-one-half hour session was an adjourned meeting of the Ross Valley board, held at its office in San Anselmo. Regular meetings will be held tonight by Corte Madera directors and tomorrow night by Ross Valley directors.

Under a 10-year-old agreement, sewage from the Corte Madera district is delivered to the Ross Valley district for processing at its Greenbrae treatment plant.

MAXIMUM EXCEEDED

The pact calls for deliverery of a daily maximum of 175,000 gallons of sewage, an amount which the Corte Madera district now is exceeding by two and one-half times in dry weather and much more in wet weather.

Corte Madera directors have balked at paying an increased rate charged by the other district for treatment of sewage in excess of the contractual amount. They have claimed it was arbitrarily imposed.

Ross Valley's September and October bills charged the Corte Madera district the contractural rate of $26.10 per million for treatment of six million gallons and $200 per million for the rest. Corte Madera delivered approximately 12 million gallons in September and 13 million in October.

ANNEXATION EYED

The Ross Valley board has questioned the Corte Madera district's annexation of new territory, declaring it places an even heavier load on the Greenbrae plant.

Failure to approve a new contract has placed a heavy burden on the taxpayers of the Ross Valley district, board president Peter A. Ribar told Corte Madera directors last night.

Ribar said the two boards should continue to meet until they either sign an agreement or conclude that none can be consummated.

Ross Valley directors hope to schedule another joint session after conferring this week with Harry Jenks, district engineer, Manager Ralph C. Noah said today.

San Rafael Fireman Hit By Car

San Rafael fireman George J. Canessa, 62, suffered cuts about the head, body and limbs today when struck by a car and tossed 10 feet onto the pavement.

Driver of the car was Mrs. Mabel F. Wurtsbaugh, 80, of 201 Locust street, San Rafael, mother-in-law of former county Supervisor William Q. Wright. She was cited by San Rafael police for failing to yield the right of way to a pedestrian.

Canessa was taken to San Rafael General Hospital by United Ambulance.

Officer Richard Camper reported the mishap occurred about 9:30 a.m. at the corner of Fifth avenue and C street, in front of the firehouse. Canessa was walking across Fifth avenue in the pedestrian lane. Mrs. Wurtsbaugh was driving west on Fifth avenue.

She told Officer Camper she did not see Canessa at all until after the impact.

Woman Hit By Car

Mrs. Bobbie Cordell, 22, wife of Lt. Ralph Cordell of Building 801-A, Ft. Barry, suffered a bruised right leg yesterday afternoon when a car backed into her on Macy's parking lot in San Rafael. She was treated at San Rafael General Hospital. The driver of the car was not reported.

Russian River Water Plan To Be Discussed

A discussion of a recent engineering and legal meeting in Santa Rosa on bringing Russian River water to North Marin will be held tonight when the North Marin Water District board meets at 8 o'clock in the district offices at 834 Vallejo street, Novato.

Last month's meeting between the local water district, the Petaluma City Council and the Sonoma Flood Control and Water Conservation District board, dealt with contract negotiations for construction of a viaduct from Santa Rosa via Petaluma which would deliver an ultimate 10,000 acre-feet of water per year to North Marin.

Also on tonight's agenda is a discussion of a new agreement to extend water service to Unit 4 of the Marin Golf and Country Club Estates, said Jerome Gilbert, district manager and chief engineer.

Bids were to be opened this afternoon on a district insurance program. The insurance agreement will be discussed at a special meeting of the district board Thursday at 8 p.m. in the district offices, Gilbert said.

Boat Explosion Victims 'Good'

Victims of Sunday's San Rafael Canal boat explosion, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Fardin of 33 Bayview drive, San Rafael, were reported in good condition today at Marin General Hospital.

Mrs. Fardin, who yesterday was reported in "fair" condition with scalp cuts and a possible skull fracture, has improved, hospital attendants reported. Fardin, who operates Fardin Realty, suffered first and second degree burns on his face, arms and hands.

Mr. and Mrs. Fardin were aboard the 36-foot pleasure craft as it was being demonstrated for them by Robert E. Knudsen of San Francisco, when the explosion occurred. Knudsen and 18-year-old Joan Bettencourt of San Rafael, also on board, were not seriously injured.

Thieves Ransack Medic Offices At Kentfield

Thieves rummaged through at least six medical offices in Kentfield last night, apparently in search of money, but nothing of value was reported missing today.

One burglar almost got away with a heavy safe from the offices of Dr. John Siemens at the Ross Valley Clinic at 1030 Sir Francis Drake boulevard but was caught in the act by a janitor about 7 o'clock last night.

The janitor told Sheriff's Deputy Douglas Gledhill he came in through a side door and spotted a young man about 6-foot tall pushing the safe toward the door. The intruder said "Hi," then fled out the door into the darkness. The safe, about 18 inches high and 14 inches square, was on wheels. It had been pushed about 45 feet.

A few doors away, at the dental clinic, 1936 Sir Francis Drake boulevard, doors were jimmied and at least five dentist's offices ransacked.

Dr. William C. Sullivan said his door had been jimmied open and filing cabinet drawers pulled, but nothing appears to be missing. He had some phenobarbital in his office, but these were not touched. "They might have been after money," said the dentist.

Other victims included Dr. Edwin C. Randol, Dr. Ralph F. McMurry, Dr. Lynn M. Rudee and Dr. Arnold W. Wieser.

Filing cabinets and drawers were opened in each office, but nothing appears to be missing.

School Board Authorizes Offer For Freitas Land

The San Rafael Board of Education decided last evening that the major part of "No Man's Land" may be worth $5,000 an acre.

Walter Freitas, representing the eight Freitas heirs, rejected a proposal by the board that the San Rafael High School District buy only .2 of an acre of the "No Man's Land" between the Terra Linda High School site and Nova Albion way at $500.

Freitas had sought to have the district buy about one and one-half acres left "islanded" between school site and streets at the same price per acre paid for the school site—about $5,000 per acre. He also asked 3 per cent interest since 1956, when the district bought the school site.

The latter was included in Freitas's proposal.

Lucas transmitted the new offer today by letter.

The board also opened five bids on an additional 10,000 cubic yards of fill dirt for the Davidson School site, and awarded the contract to Holtziner Brothers of Corte Madera, low bidder at $5,500. Other bids ranged up to $11,900.

Two Sanitary Boards Seek To End Dispute

The Ross Valley and Corte Madera Sanitary District boards, long engaged in a dispute over a new contract for treatment of Corte Madera sewage, sat down together last night to explore basic differences.

Russian River Water Plan To Be Discussed

A discussion of a recent engineering and legal meeting in Santa Rosa on bringing Russian River water to North Marin will be held tonight when the North Marin Water District board meets at 8 o'clock in the district offices at 834 Vallejo street, Novato.

Last month's meeting between the local water district, the Petaluma City Council and the Sonoma Flood Control and Water Conservation District board, dealt with contract negotiations for construction of a viaduct from Santa Rosa via Petaluma which would deliver an ultimate 10,000 acre-feet of water per year to North Marin.

Also on tonight's agenda is a discussion of a new agreement to extend water service to Unit 4 of the Marin Golf and Country Club Estates, said Jerome Gilbert, district manager and chief engineer.

Bids were to be opened this afternoon on a district insurance program. The insurance agreement will be discussed at a special meeting of the district board Thursday at 8 p.m. in the district offices, Gilbert said.

Boat Explosion Victims 'Good'

Victims of Sunday's San Rafael Canal boat explosion, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Fardin of 33 Bayview drive, San Rafael, were reported in good condition today at Marin General Hospital.

Mrs. Fardin, who yesterday was reported in "fair" condition with scalp cuts and a possible skull fracture, has improved, hospital attendants reported. Fardin, who operates Fardin Realty, suffered first and second degree burns on his face, arms and hands.

Mr. and Mrs. Fardin were aboard the 36-foot pleasure craft as it was being demonstrated for them by Robert E. Knudsen of San Francisco, when the explosion occurred. Knudsen and 18-year-old Joan Bettencourt of San Rafael, also on board, were not seriously injured.

Thieves Ransack Medic Offices At Kentfield

Thieves rummaged through at least six medical offices in Kentfield last night, apparently in search of money, but nothing of value was reported missing today.

One burglar almost got away with a heavy safe from the offices of Dr. John Siemens at the Ross Valley Clinic at 1030 Sir Francis Drake boulevard but was caught in the act by a janitor about 7 o'clock last night.

The janitor told Sheriff's Deputy Douglas Gledhill he came in through a side door and spotted a young man about 6-foot tall pushing the safe toward the door. The intruder said "Hi," then fled out the door into the darkness. The safe, about 18 inches high and 14 inches square, was on wheels. It had been pushed about 45 feet.

A few doors away, at the dental clinic, 1936 Sir Francis Drake boulevard, doors were jimmied and at least five dentist's offices ransacked.

Dr. William C. Sullivan said his door had been jimmied open and filing cabinet drawers pulled, but nothing appears to be missing. He had some phenobarbital in his office, but these were not touched. "They might have been after money," said the dentist.

Other victims included Dr. Edwin C. Randol, Dr. Ralph F. McMurry, Dr. Lynn M. Rudee and Dr. Arnold W. Wieser.

Filing cabinets and drawers were opened in each office, but nothing appears to be missing.

Crippled Plane Shepherded In

A crippled C121 Constellation, 1,000 miles out over the Pacific and carrying 80 men, women and children, was escorted to safety today by an amphibian plane of the 41st Air Rescue Squadron at Hamilton Air Force Base.

The interception marked the 226th mercy mission flown this year by the squadron, which the Air Force has ordered deactivated as of next Jan. 1.

The Military Air Transport Service Constellation, carrying military personnel and their dependents to Hickham Air Force Base, Hawaii, from Travis Air Force Base, was almost at the point of no return when one of its four engines went out and the pilot turned back toward the mainland.

The transport landed safely at Travis at 9 a.m. under escort by the SA16 Albatross from Hamilton. The call for help came at 4:15 a.m.

The Albatross, one of eight stationed at Hamilton, was piloted by Capt. Homer Mitchell, 41, of Sonoma. The remainder of the crew was made up of Capt. Jay Ogberg, 29, Ignacio, co-pilot; Capt. Antarctic Peace Pact Signed

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Soviet Union joined the United States and 10 other nations today in banning war bases, nuclear explosions and missile sites forever from the Antarctic.

They took this step in signing a historic treaty pledging to devote the frozen region to the peaceful uses.

They agreed to a revolutionary inspection system, giving each of the 12 countries the right to check each other's installations, equipment, ships and planes anywhere at any time in the area.

The nations involved are the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain, France, Japan, Chile, argentina, New Zealand, Australia, Norway, South Africa and Belgium.

The 2,500-word treaty, spelled out in 14 separate articles, would neutralize the five million square miles South Pole area.

Delegates hailed the treaty, climaxing seven weeks of intensive negotiations, as another significant move to ease East-West tensions.

Besides ruling the Antarctic out of bounds as a military area, the 12 signatory nations agreed to continue peaceful scientific research projects, and to swap specialists and information.

They also promised to stand together, using "appropriate efforts consistent with the charter of the United Nations" to make certain no country violates the peaceful uses of the Antarctic.

The treaty, subject to ratification by each country's legislature, would be open for all 82 United Nations members to join.

Countries not U.N. members, such as West Germany and Communist China, would join only by unanimous vote of all 12 signing powers.

War Hero Demonstrates His Courage Again, Saves Buddy

LONG BEACH (AP)—A Medal of Honor winner has proved it doesn't take a war to make a hero.

Jackson C. Pharris joined two other men who disregarded their own safety to pull his old Navy buddy from a certain flaming death yesterday.

The rescued man, Marshall E. Wiegand, 56, was not the first to owe his life to Pharris, 48.

The day the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor, Pharris, then a warrant gunnery officer, rescued 16 men who were floating in oil or trapped in the battleship California.

He was awarded the Medal of Honor. Ironically, Wiegand was also a crewman on the torpedoed battleship.

Yesterday, Wiegand was working in a gas line trench several feet deep when great flames burst out, apparently touched off by a spark. Stunned, he threw himself to the trench floor underneath the pipe.

Pharris, a pneumatic tool operator, was working with V. O. Lockridge, 63, and B. U. Bredahl, 38, a few feet away.

"I suppose it was instinct from the war—act first and think later," said Pharris.

They ignored the 20-feet-high flames to reach down and grab Wiegand. His clothes were afire but his injuries proved not serious.

The rescuers suffered flash burns on the arms and face.

Pharris was inclined to joke about Wiegand's rescue.

"Anything to save an old shipmate," he said.

Oklahoma City Zoo Has Problem—Too Many Lions

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP)—First George, now Rasputin. Just a couple of happy-go-lucky lions who've turned into elephant-sized problems for Lincoln Park Zoo here.

George goes to jail for conduct unbecoming a lion. Zoo director Dr. Warren Thomas no sooner springs him and finds a promising owner when along comes Rasputin.

But Rasputin is a problem of different proportions.

Unlike George, he isn't gentle. He has the same enormous appetite, but he was never one—like George—to try and drive cars or live like a house cat in his master's apartment.

Rasputin isn't trusted outside his cage.

The Ardmore, Okla., Jaycee brought Rasputin and another lion to the zoo here Saturday, adding to the over-supply of lions.

"We actually have room for only three lions," Dr. Thomas said. "Now we have seven. So now we have to find an owner for Rasputin—one with a steel cage."

While Rasputin waits for a master, what of George? After his shady past, can he find happiness?

Dr. Thomas thinks he might. From scores of offers for George, the zoo director selected Lawrence Benedict of Lancaster, Pa., as a potential owner.

HARDLY SOUNDS LIKE GOOD ENOUGH EXCUSE

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A woman from Las Vegas ran through downtown streets shedding her clothes yesterday while a male companion pursued with the garments, trying to get her to put them back on.

Police took her to San Francisco General Hospital for observation. They asked her friend, who identified himself as Angelo Creta, 42, why she ran naked in the streets.

"Oh, she does it all the time. She likes it," he said. He identified her as Elizabeth McKinney, 35.

San Rafael Manager In Good Condition

San Rafael City Manager Dan E. Andersen, who entered San Rafael General Hospital Sunday night after suffering a slight heart attack, was reported still in good condition today after spending a comfortable night.

Andersen was stricken with a heart attack on Sept. 22 and had been back on the job only briefly.

More than 1,200 different languages or dialects have been identified among North American Indian tribes in past centuries.

Springs, to comfort the jolts on uneven roads, were introduced on stage-coaches in England in 1789 by John Warde.

Kelly To Talk To Candidates In Novato Race

Police Chief Frank Kelly of Sonoma, former long time San Rafael chief, will open the first of a series of "training sessions" for Novato City Council candidates tonight at 8 o'clock in the Novato High School when he speaks on law enforcement.

Kelly will deal with the problem from the standpoint of city administration. The meeting will be held in the school's speech arts room.

Similar sessions are scheduled for each Tuesday night until the Jan. 12 election, announced Robert F. Merritt, incorporation campaign committee chairman.

Speakers scheduled for future sessions include San Rafael Mayor John F. McInnis, Corte Madera Town Manager Arthur H. Brandow, Marin County Counsel Leland H. Jordan and Fairfax City Atty. Wallace S. Myers.

It was also announced that candidates Charles Coniglio, George Barnwell, Lucille Hall Cannon and Charles Johnson will speak Thursday night at the first of four candidates' nights at the Hill School.

There is room for additional speakers on the evening's agenda, Merritt said. Candidates may make arrangements to join the program by calling him at the Novato Chamber of Commerce.

Two Injured In Four-Car Pileup Near Gate Bridge

Two persons were injured in a four-car "chain reaction" series of crashes north of the Golden Gate Bridge yesterday as southbound traffic toward San Francisco was at its peak.

Richard K. Mills, 31, of 54 Bayview terrace, Mill Valley, later told the California Highway Patrol that although he saw a flash of brake lights on the car ahead driven by Henry Paul Shobar, 47, of Vale avenue, Larkspur, he wasn't able to halt in time.

Shobar's car had slowed behind a vehicle driven by Ada Belle Smith, 59, of 40 Jordan avenue, San Anselmo, but when struck it smacked ahead into the Smith car, which in turn was catapulted into a fourth car driven by Thomas P. Scott of 386 Elm avenue, Larkspur.

Highway Patrol investigation put the blame on Mills who was cited for exceeding a speed safe for the conditions—which was estimated at 20 miles an hour whereas Mills said he had been going 30 to 35.

Mills and his wife Marlene, 27, both suffered minor injuries, but said they would see their own doctor.

In another accident last night on the Golden Gate Bridge, "lane-switching" was blamed for a collision causing neck injuries to two auto occupants.

Doris Jean Caceres, 30, of San Francisco, driving south near the southern end of the bridge, told the California Highway Patrol that she was behind a car driven by Oscar J. Jahsen, 60, of 90 La Cuesta, Larkspur.

A vehicle tried to cut in ahead of Jahsen without success, then tried again, according to Miss Caceres who endeavored to get away from it all by moving into the lane to her right which she though was unoccupied.

It wasn't. Miss Caceres' car was struck behind by some vehicle unidentified. Miss Caceres switched back into her original lane and hit the Jahsen car, causing neck injuries to both Jahsen and his wife, who were to undergo medical examination later.

Gate Authority Post Goes To Marin Man

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — The new Golden Gate Authority Commission held its organizational meeting today in the state capitol and elected Thomas M. Carlson of Richmond as chairman.

Leo H. Strauss of San Rafael, Marin member, was elected vice chairman, and Sam B. Eubanks of Berkeley was chosen secretary-treasurer.

The commission set itself a two-point "mission." It will: (1) decide what should be done regarding joint operation of bridges, airports and seaports in the Bay Area, and (2) propose an organization to do it.

Meeting with the commission was its advisory council. Two of Marin's three members of the council, Fred F. Enemark of San Rafael and Lawrence Livingston Jr. of Sausalito were present. Absent was Leland S. Murphy of San Anselmo.

The council did not organize itself today, but Livingston was named on a five-man committee to draw up suggested procedures and organization.

Carlson, in a brief statement following his election as commission chairman, urged the commission not to spend more of the $250,000 allocated it by the Legislature than is necessary.

"My feeling is that this matter has been studied enough," Carlson said. "Maybe we should spend a small amount to coordinate studies already done, but our main task as I see it will be to get together with dissenting groups to try to impress upon them the wisdom of doing the thing which people who already have investigated believe to be for the benefit of us all."

HILARITA

none of the officials knew where the rumors started.

Housing authority attorney Guy A. Ciocca said only that he had heard the line would be cut off. "We're just waiting and watching," said Ciocca.

The agreement between the housing authority and Belvedere that the city would carry off the housing project sewage in city lines expires today. At a recent special meeting, the Belvedere City Council drew up another year's agreement on a tentative basis, but that, according to Belvedere officials, is not yet in effect.

The tentative agreement provides that the project could use the lines another year providing that it would dump its sewage into the bay during peak loads, such as rainy weather, and the project would not let its automatic laundry fluids run into the line. The housing authority was also to get approval of the county Health Department and the Regional Pollution Board. At first, Klahn said the authority had the "implied" approval of the pollution board, but a spokesman for that agency has vigorously denied this.

Richard J. MacLaury, president of the Reed Union School District board, said: "I'm sure this will be worked out in a sensible way. I don't feel, in my own mind, that Belvedere will cut off the line. I think they would hold another council meeting and have a hearing, and I think I could persuade them not to cut off the line. If not, then something else would have to be worked out."

Reed School recently was annexed to the Tiburon Sanitary District, but a line into that system has not yet been built. MacLaurie said he thinks the school will be hooked up to the Tiburon system by Feb. 1.

Klahn said the housing authority board would discuss the Hilarita sewerage at its next meeting at 1:30 p.m. next Monday. It was erroneously reported the meeting was to have been today.

Neither Belvedere Mayor Dr. Robert P. Watkins or vice-mayor Mrs. Wallace Scott could be reached for comment.

Juanita To Testify On Drunk Charge

Juanita Musson, owner of Juanita's Galley in Sausalito, was expected to take the stand this afternoon in her trial before a jury on a charge that she was drunk and disorderly at a Mill Valley tavern last month.

Thomas Nelson, city attorney for Mill Valley, is accusing her of violating the city drunk ordinance. Police said Juanita turned up at the Old Mill Tavern on Friday, the thirteenth of November, and created a disturbance by tearing another woman's dress and the tavern owner's shirt.

Juanita, defended by Harry Wainwright, denies the allegations.

Lynwood Park Group To Air Incorporation

Effects of Novato incorporation on Lynwood Park will be up for discussion tonight when the Lynwood Park Improvement Assn. meets at 8 o'clock at the Lynwood School, announced Mrs. Carlos Rivamonte, association secretary.

Also before the board will be the question of landscaping the center strips in the development and further plans for an association "beer bust" scheduled for Dec. 9 at the Hamm Brewery in San Francisco.

low that two floating dredges put to emergency use in Kent and Alpine Lakes, must be moved downstream again tomorrow, Seeger said. Already far below the normal intake points for distribution lines from the lakes, the dredges now are sucking mud.

Jerome P. Gilbert, engineer of North Marin Water District, said that district's big Stafford Reservoir is only a little over one-third full. The 552 million gallons now stored in Stafford would last a little over six months at average consumption rate, he said. It is about half what the district likes to have as constant supply in case of an exceedingly dry year.

North Marin consumers however, are doing a much better job of conserving water than those in the Marin Municipal District, according to Gilbert. Consumption there is now only about half the summer rate, he said.

No break is in sight in the statewide dry spell, according to today U. S. Weather Bureau forecast.

and at night through service by a new "intake officer" to be provided through a shift in earlier authorization of a new deputy probation officer.

Jensen noted "almost a 50 per cent increase" in number of juveniles at the hall for the current fiscal year as against the last.

His recommendations, he said, are made in the light of population running far ahead of forecast made when the budget was being prepared — an average currently of nearly 38 children. He cited also "growing community concern over handling of juvenile offenders—particularly as to the period immediately after arrest."

Jensen offered an "intake plan" providing for two intake officers, on a duty schedule which he said would cover times of 67 per cent of the juvenile hall admissions this year.

Most of Jensen's findings supported requests made by Fogel and the board asked Fogel to comment. He chose only his second request, to "provide skirts, blouses, slips, etc., rather than allowing girls to wear their own clothing."

On this point Jensen had commented: "This would be a policy change. Recommend deferral of consideration until next budget."

Fogel mildly dissented, saying the girls "frequently arrive with inappropriate dress" and urging "quick action" to obtain simple but sturdy garments in varying colors to be less institutional.

The board decided to hold the lengthy letter under advisement temporarily and to visit juvenile hall at 10 a.m. Dec. 9 for first-hand information.

Supplemental appropriations totaling $8,900 are involved, along with certain possible budget transfers to cope with needs such as clothing, towels and bedding.

One request is for reactivation of a laundry unit, another to add a housekeeper, others to increase the program by adding part-time recreation and craft specialists.

Family Argument Lands Pair In Jail

A Novato couple had each other slapped into jail last night after a family argument at their home, 714 Bradley avenue.

Bertha Mae Wade, 37, a cook, called the sheriff at 8:25 last night, complaining her common-law husband, Ernest Budd Martini, 42, had struck her.

When deputies Gerald Fries and Douglas Gledhill arrived, Martini told them Mrs. Wade had struck him. Both signed citizens arrest warrants against each other and were sent to jail in separate patrol cars.

Both were free this morning on $262.50 bail each. They are scheduled to meet in court tomorrow at 1:30 p.m. to face charges of assault and battery against each other.

Hospital Wing Progress Told

Carmel architect Robert Stanton reviewed his progress on the design of a new 116-bed wing for Marin General Hospital last night at an adjourned meeting of the Marin County Hospital District board.

Stanton, who described the plans as still in "a state of flux," said time and motion studies will be conducted in various departments of the hospital to determine staff and equipment needs for the addition.

The meeting, held in the hospital's staff lounge, was attended by Thomas Langdon of San Francisco, building consultant to the district board.

There was difference of opinion as to who was the owner of the gun, he added.

The officer said he asked Mrs. Rogers if her husband's accusations about her keeping company with other men were true and she told him, "I'm not admitting anything." De Lisle said later in his testimony that she smiled at the accusations.

The officer informed the couple that their troubles appeared to be a civil matter and he could do nothing at that time.

During the discussion, while Mrs. Rogers was out of the room, Rogers asked if there was a law in California which permitted a husband to shoot a man if he caught that man with his wife, de Lisle said. The officer said he told him there was no such law in the state.

Gate Authority Post Goes To Marin Man

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — The new Golden Gate Authority Commission held its organizational meeting today in the state capitol and elected Thomas M. Carlson of Richmond as chairman.

Leo H. Strauss of San Rafael, Marin member, was elected vice chairman, and Sam B. Eubanks of Berkeley was chosen secretary-treasurer.

The commission set itself a two-point "mission." It will: (1) decide what should be done regarding joint operation of bridges, airports and seaports in the Bay Area, and (2) propose an organization to do it.

Meeting with the commission was its advisory council. Two of Marin's three members of the council, Fred F. Enemark of San Rafael and Lawrence Livingston Jr. of Sausalito were present. Absent was Leland S. Murphy of San Anselmo.

The council did not organize itself today, but Livingston was named on a five-man committee to draw up suggested procedures and organization.

Carlson, in a brief statement following his election as commission chairman, urged the commission not to spend more of the $250,000 allocated it by the Legislature than is necessary.

"My feeling is that this matter has been studied enough," Carlson said. "Maybe we should spend a small amount to coordinate studies already done, but our main task as I see it will be to get together with dissenting groups to try to impress upon them the wisdom of doing the thing which people who already have investigated believe to be for the benefit of us all."

none of the officials knew where the rumors started.

Housing authority attorney Guy A. Ciocca said only that he had heard the line would be cut off. "We're just waiting and watching," said Ciocca.

The agreement between the housing authority and Belvedere that the city would carry off the housing project sewage in city lines expires today. At a recent special meeting, the Belvedere City Council drew up another year's agreement on a tentative basis, but that, according to Belvedere officials, is not yet in effect.

The tentative agreement provides that the project could use the lines another year providing that it would dump its sewage into the bay during peak loads, such as rainy weather, and the project would not let its automatic laundry fluids run into the line. The housing authority was also to get approval of the county Health Department and the Regional Pollution Board. At first, Klahn said the authority had the "implied" approval of the pollution board, but a spokesman for that agency has vigorously denied this.

Richard J. MacLaury, president of the Reed Union School District board, said: "I'm sure this will be worked out in a sensible way. I don't feel, in my own mind, that Belvedere will cut off the line. I think they would hold another council meeting and have a hearing, and I think I could persuade them not to cut off the line. If not, then something else would have to be worked out."

Reed School recently was annexed to the Tiburon Sanitary District, but a line into that system has not yet been built. MacLaurie said he thinks the school will be hooked up to the Tiburon system by Feb. 1.

Klahn said the housing authority board would discuss the Hilarita sewerage at its next meeting at 1:30 p.m. next Monday. It was erroneously reported the meeting was to have been today.

Neither Belvedere Mayor Dr. Robert P. Watkins or vice-mayor Mrs. Wallace Scott could be reached for comment.

Juanita To Testify On Drunk Charge

Juanita Musson, owner of Juanita's Galley in Sausalito, was expected to take the stand this afternoon in her trial before a jury on a charge that she was drunk and disorderly at a Mill Valley tavern last month.

Thomas Nelson, city attorney for Mill Valley, is accusing her of violating the city drunk ordinance. Police said Juanita turned up at the Old Mill Tavern on Friday, the thirteenth of November, and created a disturbance by tearing another woman's dress and the tavern owner's shirt.

Juanita, defended by Harry Wainwright, denies the allegations.

Lynwood Park Group To Air Incorporation

Effects of Novato incorporation on Lynwood Park will be up for discussion tonight when the Lynwood Park Improvement Assn. meets at 8 o'clock at the Lynwood School, announced Mrs. Carlos Rivamonte, association secretary.

Also before the board will be the question of landscaping the center strips in the development and further plans for an association "beer bust" scheduled for Dec. 9 at the Hamm Brewery in San Francisco.

low that two floating dredges put to emergency use in Kent and Alpine Lakes, must be moved downstream again tomorrow, Seeger said. Already far below the normal intake points for distribution lines from the lakes, the dredges now are sucking mud.

Jerome P. Gilbert, engineer of North Marin Water District, said that district's big Stafford Reservoir is only a little over one-third full. The 552 million gallons now stored in Stafford would last a little over six months at average consumption rate, he said. It is about half what the district likes to have as constant supply in case of an exceedingly dry year.

North Marin consumers however, are doing a much better job of conserving water than those in the Marin Municipal District, according to Gilbert. Consumption there is now only about half the summer rate, he said.

No break is in sight in the statewide dry spell, according to today U. S. Weather Bureau forecast.

and at night through service by a new "intake officer" to be provided through a shift in earlier authorization of a new deputy probation officer.

Jensen noted "almost a 50 per cent increase" in number of juveniles at the hall for the current fiscal year as against the last.

His recommendations, he said, are made in the light of population running far ahead of forecast made when the budget was being prepared — an average currently of nearly 38 children. He cited also "growing community concern over handling of juvenile offenders—particularly as to the period immediately after arrest."

Jensen offered an "intake plan" providing for two intake officers, on a duty schedule which he said would cover times of 67 per cent of the juvenile hall admissions this year.

Most of Jensen's findings supported requests made by Fogel and the board asked Fogel to comment. He chose only his second request, to "provide skirts, blouses, slips, etc., rather than allowing girls to wear their own clothing."

On this point Jensen had commented: "This would be a policy change. Recommend deferral of consideration until next budget."

Fogel mildly dissented, saying the girls "frequently arrive with inappropriate dress" and urging "quick action" to obtain simple but sturdy garments in varying colors to be less institutional.

The board decided to hold the lengthy letter under advisement temporarily and to visit juvenile hall at 10 a.m. Dec. 9 for first-hand information.

Supplemental appropriations totaling $8,900 are involved, along with certain possible budget transfers to cope with needs such as clothing, towels and bedding.

One request is for reactivation of a laundry unit, another to add a housekeeper, others to increase the program by adding part-time recreation and craft specialists.

Official Sentenced For Embezzlement

WOODLAND (UPI)—City treasurer and tax collector Ray E. Humphrey was sentenced to one to 10 years in prison yesterday for grand theft and embezzlement of an estimated $25,000 in public funds.

Judge C. C. McDonald gave Humphrey the identical sentence for each charge but specified that they run concurrently. He will be taken to the medical facility at Vacaville tomorrow.

The shortage was discovered in an audit after Humphrey disappeared. After a two-month flight through the southwest, he returned to Sacramento where he was arrested. He pleaded guilty to taking the money over a five-year period.

'THE WEST, A NEST AND YOU' — The children of Larry V. Yoell shepherds across Redwood and Corte Madera avenues in Corte Madera as a school crossing guard don't know it, but that's the title of the first of many hit songs he wrote back in the '20s. Yoell has his "nest in the West" in a Corte Madera apartment. Mrs. Yoell, who attended school at Dominican Convent, is the "you." And he's hoping the current revival of old hit tunes may mean a new nest egg for him. (Independent-Journal photo)

IN TIN PAN ALLEY

Crossing Guard Was Bigtime Songwriter

By WILLIAM L. EARLE

Larry V. Yoell is a Corte Madera school crossing guard with a song in his heart.

He can't read music, but his talent for adapting the lyrics to popular tunes has won him acclaim in Tin Pan Alley and brought him an income which, at one time, made him a near-millionaire.

The children he escorts across the intersection of Redwood and Corte Madera avenues weren't born when Yoell, now 61, penned such hits as "Please Believe Me," "When Mother Nature Sings Her Lullaby" and "The West, a Nest and You."

But Yoell hopes it won't be too long before his lyrics to these tunes are sung by the new generation of Americans and by millions of others who first heard them in the 1920s and '30s.

"Some of the old songs are starting to come back," he observes, "and they're catching on."

Yoell said Bing Crosby has expressed interest in recording "The West, a Nest and You," a top hit in the speakeasy days of 1922. If Bing comes through, Yoell could find himself in the chips again.

"It was the first song I ever marketed," he recalls. "A girl in Vancouver made it an overnight sensation. My first royalty check was for $25,840. It was a terrific break."

The tune was written by the late Billy Hill, who frequently collaborated with Yoell. A number of Hill's songs, including "Wagon Wheels" and "I'm Heading for the Last Roundup," have remained popular through the years.

In his Corte Madera apartment at 28-A Edison avenue, Yoell has a satchel bulging with records of his songs. One is an old Victor pressing of "The West, a Nest and You." It was sung by Lewis James, described on the label as "tenor with orchestra."

Yoell said the lyrics came to him almost as an inspiration:

"The West, a nest and you, dear;
"Oh, what a dream 'twould be:
"A cozy little cottage beside the western sea.
"And, who knows, someday maybe
"My dreams will all come true,
"A cradle and a baby,
"The West, a nest and you."

Of his special ability, Yoell says modestly, "I've always sincerely believed that if I can do it, anybody can."

While he has adapted lyrics to more than 100 songs, Yoell has written the words and music for only two, "I Love You" and "It's Spring in the Rockies Again," composed in 1929. Because he couldn't read music, he sang the tunes to an arranger who put the notes down on paper.

Yoell heeded the advice of friends and invested much of his income in stocks. By 1929, he estimates, he had amassed a fortune of about $900,000. Then came the crash. Within two weeks, his net worth had shrunk to $2,000.

"And that lasted me one month," he recalls.

During the depression years he held a succession of jobs in his native San Francisco, including merchandise buyer for the now defunct Pacific Stores and manager of music publishers' offices.

Later, in Marin County, he worked in the grocery and real estate businesses before becoming a liquor salesman in San Rafael.

Yoell and his wife, Treasure, a graduate of Dominican Convent, were married in New York in 1936. That year, he and Al Jacobs wrote "Please Believe Me." It remained on the Hit Parade many weeks.

The year before, also with Jacobs, Yoell wrote "I'm Just an Ordinary Human," which Ozzie Nelson and Guy Lombardo recorded.

Yoell was having a tough time making ends meet in 1938 when a telegram came to his Corte Madera home one day from Glenn Brown, a former collaborator then working as a $15-a-week truck driver in Long Beach.

"His wire said he had 'connections' and urged me to come down," Yoell recalls. "I told my wife the guy could really write songs. So I went, and we wrote 'When Mother Nature Sings Her Lullaby' and 'Scandal in the Dell.'

"We had 50 cents between us the day we started making the rounds with those songs. We finally ended up at the Decca studio, where Joe Perry, formerly of Mill Valley, was recording director. Bing Crosby was making a record. Joe said he couldn't guarantee anything, but he'd make sure Bing heard the songs.

"It was after 11 p.m. when Bing finished recording. I sang 'Mother Nature' to him and Brown accompanied me. When we were through, Bing said, 'That's a real song!'

"I told him I was going to be a father soon, for the first time. He turned to Perry and said, 'Give each of these guys 200 bucks. They need an advance.' Bing recorded the song soon after, and it was on the Hit Parade for 17 weeks. He's really a terrific guy!"

Yoell said the demise of the big bands of the 1930s and 1940s brought his songwriting career to a virtual standstill.

He hasn't worked in several years, but he still gets royalty checks from music publishers. And, from the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers, he receives quarterly checks for performance rights and for his past contributions to the ASCAP fund.

"No member of ASCAP has ever been dispossessed or had his lights or gas turned off," Yoell declared. "The society will do things to help you that even your brother wouldn't do. It has paid hospital bills for me and my family."

Yoell, who first came to Corte Madera in 1914, took the crossing guard job in September to supplement his modest income. He patrols the intersection every weekday for four and one-half hours.

The Yoells have four children: Larry Jr., 21, of San Francisco; Richard, 20, of San Rafael; Melodie, 17, a senior at Marin Catholic High School, and Pamela, 5, a kindergarten pupil at Larkspur-Corte Madera School.

Yoell thinks his old songs have a chance for revival despite the current rock 'n' roll craze.

"I don't care for rock 'n' roll myself," he says, "but it's here to stay—as long as the teenagers like it."

INCOME TAX FACTS

It's That Time Again; Plan Affairs Wisely

By PETER J. WIKEL, CPA

Taxes may seem a long way off right now, but they are not. We have to live with taxes every day of our lives and if we want to pay only our share we must keep accurate records of our finances and so shape our daily lives to produce the lowest tax result.

P. J. WIKEL

These columns are intended to help you in a general way: to give you the answers to the most often asked questions about income and deductions and to point out the tax saving possibilities that may be open to you.

If you have a specific problem you should consult the accountant of your choice as early as possible.

There may be some things that you should do now, before the end of 1959, that could make a big difference in the tax you will have to pay, or the refund that you will receive, in 1960. Future columns will tell you what these things are. Watch for them.

Sometime you may hear or read that tax savings are morally or legally wrong. That is not so.

Judge Learned Hand expressed it so well when he said, "Over and over again courts have said that there is nothing sinister in so arranging one's affairs as to keep taxes as low as possible. Everyone does so, rich or poor; and all do right, for nobody owes any public duty to pay more than the law demands: taxes are enforced exactions, no voluntary contributions. To demand more in the name of morals is mere cant."

Forest Fire Burns In Redwood Trees

SANTA CRUZ (AP)—A forest fire broke in redwood trees and brush in northern Santa Cruz County today.

Flames were burning along Highway 9, three miles from the entrance to Big Basin redwood state park.

The state Division of Forestry station at Felton called for fire-fighters.

13th Century Book Draws Record Price

LONDON (AP) — New York dealer Hans P. Kraus today paid $182,000 for a 13th century illuminated book. It was the highest price ever paid at auction of a book or manuscript, dealers said.

Kraus made his bid for a copy of the Apocalypse, printed in St. Albans, England, about 1250.

IN TIN PAN ALLEY

Crossing Guard Was Bigtime Songwriter

'THE WEST, A NEST AND YOU' — The children of Larry V. Yoell shepherds across Redwood and Corte Madera avenues in Corte Madera as a school crossing guard don't know it, but that's the title of the first of many hit songs he wrote back in the '20s. Yoell has his "nest in the West" in a Corte Madera apartment. Mrs. Yoell, who attended school at Dominican Convent, is the "you." And he's hoping the current revival of old hit tunes may mean a new nest egg for him. (Independent-Journal photo)

By WILLIAM L. EARLE

Larry V. Yoell is a Corte Madera school crossing guard with a song in his heart.

He can't read music, but his talent for adapting the lyrics to popular tunes has won him acclaim in Tin Pan Alley and brought him an income which, at one time, made him a near-millionaire.

The children he escorts across the intersection of Redwood and Corte Madera avenues weren't born when Yoell, now 61, penned such hits as "Please Believe Me," "When Mother Nature Sings Her Lullaby" and "The West, a Nest and You."

But Yoell hopes it won't be too long before his lyrics to these tunes are sung by the new generation of Americans and by millions of others who first heard them in the 1920s and '30s.

"Some of the old songs are starting to come back," he observes, "and they're catching on."

Yoell said Bing Crosby has expressed interest in recording "The West, a Nest and You," a top hit in the speakeasy days of 1922. If Bing comes through, Yoell could find himself in the chips again.

"It was the first song I ever marketed," he recalls. "A girl in Vancouver made it an overnight sensation. My first royalty check was for $25,840. It was a terrific break."

The tune was written by the late Billy Hill, who frequently collaborated with Yoell. A number of Hill's songs, including "Wagon Wheels" and "I'm Heading for the Last Roundup," have remained popular through the years.

In his Corte Madera apartment at 28-A Edison avenue, Yoell has a satchel bulging with records of his songs. One is an old Victor pressing of "The West, a Nest and You." It was sung by Lewis James, described on the label as "tenor with orchestra."

Yoell said the lyrics came to him almost as an inspiration:

"The West, a nest and you,
dear;
"Oh, what a dream 'twould
be:
"A cozy little cottage beside the western sea.
"And, who knows, someday
maybe
"My dreams will all come true,
"A cradle and a baby,
"The West, a nest and you."

Of his special ability, Yoell says modestly, "I've always sincerely believed that if I can do it, anybody can."

While he has adapted lyrics to more than 100 songs, Yoell has written the words and music for only two, "I Love You" and "It's Spring in the Rockies Again," composed in 1929. Because he couldn't read music, he sang the tunes to an arranger who put the notes down on paper.

Yoell heeded the advice of friends and invested much of his income in stocks. By 1929, he estimates, he had amassed a fortune of about $900,000. Then came the crash. Within two weeks, his net worth had shrunk to $2,000.

"And that lasted me one month," he recalls.

During the depression years he held a succession of jobs in his native San Francisco, including merchandise buyer for the now defunct Pacific Stores and manager of music publishers' offices.

Later, in Marin County, he worked in the grocery and real estate businesses before becoming a liquor salesman in San Rafael.

Yoell and his wife, Treasure, a graduate of Dominican Convent, were married in New York in 1936. That year, he and Al Jacobs wrote "Please Believe Me." It remained on the Hit Parade many weeks.

The year before, also with Jacobs, Yoell wrote "I'm Just an Ordinary Human," which Ozzie Nelson and Guy Lombardo recorded.

Yoell was having a tough time making ends meet in 1938 when a telegram came to his Corte Madera home one day from Glenn Brown, a former collaborator then working as a $15-a-week truck driver in Long Beach.

"His wire said he had 'connections' and urged me to come down," Yoell recalls. "I told my wife the guy could really write songs. So I went, and we wrote 'When Mother Nature Sings Her Lullaby' and 'Scandal in the Dell.'

"We had 50 cents between us the day we started making the rounds with those songs. We finally ended up at the Decca studio, where Joe Perry, formerly of Mill Valley, was recording director. Bing Crosby was making a record. Joe said he couldn't guarantee anything, but he'd make sure Bing heard the songs.

"It was after 11 p.m. when Bing finished recording. I sang 'Mother Nature' to him and Brown accompanied me. When we were through, Bing said, 'That's a real song!'

"I told him I was going to be a father soon, for the first time. He turned to Perry and said, 'Give each of these guys 200 bucks. They need an advance.' Bing recorded the song soon after, and it was on the Hit Parade for 17 weeks. He's really a terrific guy!"

Yoell said the demise of the big bands of the 1930s and 1940s brought his songwriting career to a virtual standstill.

He hasn't worked in several years, but he still gets royalty checks from music publishers. And, from the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers, he receives quarterly checks for performance rights and for his past contributions to the ASCAP fund.

"No member of ASCAP has ever been dispossessed or had his lights or gas turned off," Yoell declared. "The society will do things to help you that even your brother wouldn't do. It has paid hospital bills for me and my family."

Yoell, who first came to Corte Madera in 1914, took the crossing guard job in September to supplement his modest income. He patrols the intersection every weekday for four and one-half hours.

The Yoells have four children: Larry Jr., 21, of San Francisco; Richard, 20, of San Rafael; Melodie, 17, a senior at Marin Catholic High School, and Pamela, 5, a kindergarten pupil at Larkspur-Corte Madera School.

Yoell thinks his old songs have a chance for revival despite the current rock 'n' roll craze.

"I don't care for rock 'n' roll myself," he says, "but it's here to stay—as long as the teenagers like it."

INCOME TAX FACTS

It's That Time Again; Plan Affairs Wisely

By PETER J. WIKEL, CPA

Taxes may seem a long way off right now, but they are not. We have to live with taxes every day of our lives and if we want to pay only our share we must keep accurate records of our finances and so shape our daily lives to produce the lowest tax result.

P. J. WIKEL

These columns are intended to help you in a general way: to give you the answers to the most often asked questions about income and deductions and to point out the tax saving possibilities that may be open to you.

If you have a specific problem you should consult the accountant of your choice as early as possible.

There may be some things that you should do now, before the end of 1959, that could make a big difference in the tax you will have to pay, or the refund that you will receive, in 1960. Future columns will tell you what these things are. Watch for them.

Sometime you may hear or read that tax savings are morally or legally wrong. That is not so.

Judge Learned Hand expressed it so well when he said, "Over and over again courts have said that there is nothing sinister in so arranging one's affairs as to keep taxes as low as possible. Everyone does so, rich or poor; and all do right, for nobody owes any public duty to pay more than the law demands: taxes are enforced exactions, no voluntary contributions. To demand more in the name of morals is mere cant."

SANTA CRUZ (AP)—A forest fire broke in redwood trees and brush in northern Santa Cruz County today.

13th Century Book Draws Record Price

LONDON (AP) — New York dealer Hans P. Kraus today paid $182,000 for a 13th century illuminated book. It was the highest price ever paid at auction of a book or manuscript, dealers said.

Kraus made his bid for a copy of the Apocalypse, printed in St. Albans, England, about 1250.

PLANNER MAKES PITCH

Super-Government Urged For Bay Area

A pitch for a Bay Area super-government was made at a meeting of planners in San Francisco yesterday to herald the publication of a new book.

Urging such a government to tackle numerous problems which transcend city and county lines in the rapidly filling metropolitan area was Mel Scott, lecturer in city planning and head of city and regional planning extension of the University of California. He is author of "The San Francisco Bay Area: A Metropolis in Perspective," which the University of California Press placed on sale yesterday.

Scott's book, the product of six years' work under a Columbia Foundation grant, goes back to Don Gaspar de Portola's accidental discovery of San Francisco Bay while looking for Drake's Bay (Bahia de San Francisco) to show how the nine Bay Area counties have been both separated and linked throughout their modern history by the body of water they surround.

The bulky volume of 309 large pages plus notes traces the history of the area down to date—together with the many and usually futile attempts at planning made by its cities and counties—to wind up advocating planning on a regional level.

Scott reinforced his conclusions verbally at yesterday's conference of planners.

"We are 'way behind the times in solving our area-wide problems," Scott said. "We do not have years and years to dally and debate. We have at most a single decade, the coming decade, in which to make decisions that will determine the whole course of development in this area for another half century or longer."

Scott pointed out there are 850 separate political jurisdictions in the 6,500 square miles of the Bay Area. He insisted many of these should be merged.

He proposed that city and county governments be continued but be limited in authority to strictly local problems.

He urged wider participation in the newly formed Bay Area Metropolitan Council, an informal group of city and county planning officials. Scott said he regretted that one-third of the cities in the Bay Area have not yet joined the council.

Participating in yesterday's conference were M. Justin Herman, former Marin County Housing Authority director who is now executive secretary of the San Francisco Redevelopment Agency; James McCarty, San Francisco director of planning; Roy Sorenson, chairman of the Governor's Commission on Metropolitan Problems; Michael Goodman, president of the Bay Area Federation of Planning Councils, and T. J. Kent Jr., chairman of a metropolitan planning subcommittee of the Bay Area Planning Directors Committee.

Jean Louis Garnier, French architect who died in 1898, won the famous Prix de Rome when 23 years old.

San Rafael Chamber Elects Six

Six new directors to the Greater San Rafael Chamber of Commerce were elected by mailed ballot yesterday.

Named to serve two-year terms beginning next Jan. 1, were:

Richard Bettini, a partner in the law firm of Freitas, Allen, McCarthy and Bettini; Robert Gray, president of Payless Drug Co.; Burton Kirchner, vice president of the First National Bank in San Rafael; Milton Schwartz of Casa Marin Furniture Co.; Jordan L. Martinelli Jr., secretary and assistant manager of Marin County Savings and Loan Assn., and Dr. L. L. Robinson, physician.

Chamber directors will meet briefly at 10 a.m. tomorrow in the chamber office to appoint three directors at large (including current president Paul R. Leahy) to one-year terms, and to appoint a nominating committee to prepare a slate of candidates for the election of officers.

Election of officers will take place at the chamber's final meeting of the current year at noon next Tuesday at Rickey's Rancho Rafael, Ignacio, announced Richard L. Shirley, manager.

PUSSY CATS' CARETAKER WINS HIS CASE

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The world's largest bank must pay more than a thousand dollars for the care and feeding of pussy cats as the result of a case it lost in the California District Court of Appeal.

The Bank of America, acting as executor for the estate of Fred B. Fancher of Merced, lost its case yesterday to handyman Sam Greenberg.

Greenberg said that he had been hired before Fancher's death to care for Fancher's herd of stray cats, which sometimes ran to 35 animals.

After Fancher died in 1956, Greenberg asked the bank to pay him for his services from the estate. But the bank declined, saying there was no evidence that Fancher had promised to pay.

The court decided for Greenberg and awarded him $1,095.

S.F. Warned Its Symphony In Trouble

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The San Francisco Symphony opens its forty-eighth season tomorrow night amid warnings this may be its last.

It needs $225,000 more than its visible income to make ends meet, Gene K. Walker, member of the board of governors told a civic luncheon yesterday.

This would include paying off a deficit of $71,000 accumulated over 13 years he said. The symphony's annual expenses run around $750,000.

Although it raises more of its income, 67 per cent, from ticket sales than any other American symphony, Walker said the orchestra must broaden its base of support among a wider range of music lovers.

Walker reported the symphony this year has agreed to raise the salary of its musicians from $120 per week to $125. The season runs only 25 weeks, he pointed out, so nobody is getting rich.

He noted that collapse of the symphony would affect the San Francisco Opera Company, the Cosmopolitan Opera Company and the San Francisco Ballet Company, all of which use symphony musicians.

Cuba Asks Firing Squad For American On Trial

By HAROLD K. MILKS

HAVANA (AP)—A military tribunal today ended an 18-hour trial of two Americans and 37 Cubans accused of conspiring to overthrow Prime Minister Fidel Castro's revolutionary regime. The court announced it would not reach its verdict before tomorrow.

The prosecution demanded the firing squad for Frank Austin Young, 38, a commercial pilot who was born in Indianapolis, Ind., and makes his home in Miami, Fla., and for Fernando Pruno Bertot, 24, Cuban, and former student at Columbia University in New York.

Thirty-year prison sentences were sought against 12 others, including Peter John Lambton, 24, a British-born naturalized American of Nassau, Bahamas.

The government said it would accept lesser sentences or even acquittal for the other defendants. Under new legal rules recently promulgated by Castro's cabinet, the prosecution as well as the defense can appeal a verdict.

AND NOW TO GET ON WITH THE MEETING

PACIFICA (AP)—With sirens wailing, Pacifica's police force sped to the Linda Mar school.

A worried mother had reported she telephoned the principal, whom she understood to say: "I can't talk to you now. There's a holdup."

Police Chief Neil Tremaine and his men found the principal, Mrs. Grace Adams, mildly astonished.

"All I said," she told Tremaine, "was, 'I can't talk to you now because it would hold up the P-TA meeting."

Smog Control Device For Cars Planned

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A spokesman for the Automobile Manufacturers Assn. said yesterday all autos sold in California in 1961 will be equipped with a new device designed to cut down a small part of smog caused by cars.

William F. Sherman said the device will remove pollutants formed in engine crank cases and expelled by the crank case breather pipe into the atmosphere. He said both oil fumes and unburned gasoline which has "blown by" the pistons are discharged through the breather pipe.

The device will connect the crankcase breather pipe with the intake manifold so fumes can be burned within the engine and kept from the atmosphere.

It needs $225,000 more than its visible income to make ends meet, Gene K. Walker, member of the board of governors told a civic luncheon yesterday.

This would include paying off a deficit of $71,000 accumulated over 13 years he said. The symphony's annual expenses run around $750,000.

Although it raises more of its income, 67 per cent, from ticket sales than any other American symphony, Walker said the orchestra must broaden its base of support among a wider range of music lovers.

Walker reported the symphony this year has agreed to raise the salary of its musicians from $120 per week to $125. The season runs only 25 weeks, he pointed out, so nobody is getting rich.

He noted that collapse of the symphony would affect the San Francisco Opera Company, the Cosmopolitan Opera Company and the San Francisco Ballet Company, all of which use symphony musicians.

Cuba Asks Firing Squad For American On Trial

By HAROLD K. MILKS

HAVANA (AP)—A military tribunal today ended an 18-hour trial of two Americans and 37 Cubans accused of conspiring to overthrow Prime Minister Fidel Castro's revolutionary regime. The court announced it would not reach its verdict before tomorrow.

The prosecution demanded the firing squad for Frank Austin Young, 38, a commercial pilot who was born in Indianapolis, Ind., and makes his home in Miami, Fla., and for Fernando Pruno Bertot, 24, Cuban, and former student at Columbia University in New York.

Thirty-year prison sentences were sought against 12 others, including Peter John Lambton, 24, a British-born naturalized American of Nassau, Bahamas.

The government said it would accept lesser sentences or even acquittal for the other defendants. Under new legal rules recently promulgated by Castro's cabinet, the prosecution as well as the defense can appeal a verdict.

AND NOW TO GET ON WITH THE MEETING

PACIFICA (AP)—With sirens wailing, Pacifica's police force sped to the Linda Mar school.

A worried mother had reported she telephoned the principal, whom she understood to say: "I can't talk to you now. There's a holdup."

Police Chief Neil Tremaine and his men found the principal, Mrs. Grace Adams, mildly astonished.

"All I said," she told Tremaine, "was, 'I can't talk to you now because it would hold up the P-TA meeting."

Smog Control Device For Cars Planned

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A spokesman for the Automobile Manufacturers Assn. said yesterday all autos sold in California in 1961 will be equipped with a new device designed to cut down a small part of smog caused by cars.

William F. Sherman said the device will remove pollutants formed in engine crank cases and expelled by the crank case breather pipe into the atmosphere. He said both oil fumes and unburned gasoline which has "blown by" the pistons are discharged through the breather pipe.

The device will connect the crankcase breather pipe with the intake manifold so fumes can be burned within the engine and kept from the atmosphere.

Tiburon Putting Democracy To Work In Several Ways

We're intrigued by the operation of democracy in Marin County. It seems that at some time or other most phases of our great system of government are brought into play.

It is for that reason that the goings-on down Tiburon way are of great interest to not only all Marin, but all California as well.

Next week there will be a special election in the Tiburon Fire Protection District. It is a recall election attempting to unseat one member of the district commission NOT because he is a bad commissioner, but because of the way he was appointed.

Other members of the commission felt they were slighted because they were not consulted before the Marin County Board of Supervisors appointed Fred Mantegani to a vacancy. They have sparked the recall election, for which they will have to pay out of district funds.

To explain what's going on to the voters, residents of the district have now reached back into political history and have organized another unusual event. They've given it the catchy title, "Town Hall On Recall."

This town hall meeting, scheduled tomorrow evening, will present the situation as seen through the eyes of the Board of Supervisors (Supervisor Vera Schultz), the new commissioner (Mantegani himself) and a spokesman for the commission (Jon Stanton, chairman).

With Julius Selinger, chairman of the Marin County Personnel Commission, as moderator, and Junior Statesmen from Tamalpais High School as monitors, each of the three speakers will be given 10 minutes to explain the situation as he sees it. Then each will be allowed rebuttal in connection with other speakers' statements. Questions from the floor will follow and then a summation period.

It should be a thorough review of what happened and why.

This is the type of democracy in action we like to see. Whether or not we feel the recall procedure was intended for such a purpose, we feel those promoting it have every right to do so under existing law.

We also feel that the public should be given every opportunity to understand the situation, and the town hall device certainly seems well designed for that purpose.

We hope many, many Tiburon residents turn out for the town hall. We, certainly, will be watching it with interest.

Marin's Great Immortals

As we approach the season of the birth of Jesus Christ and of the rebirth of a new year, we can pause for a moment and ponder the concept of immortality which is a central idea of most great religions.

How lucky we are in Marin! We have a living example of immortality right here. It is a tree which can quite literally spring forth from its own ashes. We mean, of course, our Coast Redwoods, Sequoia sempervirens, the ever-living redwood tree.

Cut down this ancient marvel, perhaps two or three thousand years old, and it springs forth anew from its roots. Burn the heart out, as with many of the redwoods in Taylor Park, and these shells continue to flourish, produce seeds and even send up sprouts as additional protection against ultimate death.

We do not mean to attribute spiritual qualities to a tree. But for toughness, tenacity to life, and the ability to go on living after it should be dead, the redwood is in a class by itself.

Tough Yule Season Ahead; You'd Better Get Into Tip-Top Shape

NEW YORK (AP) — Christmas is more than a test of good will.

Every year it is getting to be more of a test of body and mind. You have to be sound in wind and limb — as well as stout of pocketbook — to survive the holiday season.

The guy who gets himself in good shape now is the guy most likely to still be on his feet come Jan. 1.

Here are a few home exercises guaranteed to help you through the annual ordeal of Christmas:

Indian hand wrestle — you and your wife sit down, put your elbows on the table, grip fingers, then see which can force the other's hand backward to the table. This will strengthen you both for all the blackslapping, handshaking and greeting card writing you will have to do between now and New Year's Eve.

The face save — from now on you will be smiling, smiling, smiling. Since you have been doing nothing but frowning with worry for the last 11 months, a sudden smile may split your face wide open. So, several times a day, pause in front of a mirror and practice smiling. Don't overdo it. Start with a series of small weak smiles. By the end of the week you should be able safely to manage a fair-sized grin.

Leap for life — stand in the middle of the room with your arms full of bundles. Jump as high and as far as you can in all directions — at the same time. Repeat 12 times. As a pedestrian, this maneuver may save you from Christmas motorists. On the other hand, it may not.

Hit-the-line body builder — rent the nearest high school football tackle for a few afternoons. At a given signal you both crouch down, then crash into each other at full speed. After a few days of this, you should be tough enough to go into any department store and compete with the crowds of women shoppers for Christmas bargains.

SMOOCH CONDITIONER— did you save your home-made Halloween pumpkin goblin? Lift it tenderly, close your eyes, and kiss its rough yellow cheek 100 times a day. Now you are in shape for perhaps the worst ordeal of the holidays—kissing your wife's girl friends. Also, be sure and kiss your own wife.

BANKRUPTCY AVOIDER — plant yourself in front of a mirror and shout "No!" loud and clear 250 times daily. This exercise may make your voice firm enough to keep your wife from spending you insolvent — but don't bet on it.

I object strenuously to the photograph which appeared on page two of the Tuesday, Nov. 17 edition of the Independent-Journal. Whoever decided to include this photograph showing, among other things, the head of Lorna Lax hanging by a rope, used, in my opinion, very poor judgment. A picture as lurid as this has no business in your "family" newspaper. I wonder how the children in Lorna's neighborhood and school reacted to this picture.

The picture on page one was sufficient to show the scene of the crime. The picture on page two, therefore, served only to provide a type of sensationalism which I hope you do not feel is necessary or desirable to be included in the Independent-Journal.

Tragedy Proves A County Need

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Regarding the tragedy that befell the Lax child, it seems that this is an example, among others, pinpointing a real need for facilities whose function is to inform, detect and treat, in the area of emotional illness.

A community mental health services program could help to meet this need. Consultation to professional staff and department heads of groups working with children in Marin County. An educational program dissemanating information to the public. Emergency detention facilities, allowing the patient to be near family, friends and the Dr. with whom he is familiar. A clinic in our own community.

We are now paying, with part of our tax money, for a program in which we are not participating in Marin County. The Short-Doyle Act allows us to avail ourselves of a Community mental health services program. The state will match the money we spend. Six counties and one city are now participating and five more counties have filed application for reimbursement.

Early detection and treatment of emotional illness could mean less juvenile delinquincy, less hospitalization, and fewer tragedies such as this most recent one.

The time is long overdue for treating troubled people with the dignity to which they have a right. We are not going to solve this problem by pushing it aside and hoping "it will go away." We can begin to solve it by acknowledging its existence and attacking it vigorously and with intelligence.

Letters to our Marin County Board of Supervisors expressing our eagerness and interest in such a program seem very much in order.

FEPC Report Spotlights Question Of Who Is To Run Private Business

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — A report of the first month's activities of the new Fair Employment Practices Commission once again brings up the question of who is going to run private business in California.

The commission's first case, the report says, was a "success story." It restulted from a complaint filed by a Negro applicant for a position as automobile salesman in a San Francisco Bay Area new car sales agency.

THE COMPLAINANT told the commission the company said he was qualified for the work, but would have to work as an "outside" salesman, rather than "on the floor."

The case was closed without hearing when the sales manager of the automobile concern knuckled under to the provision of the new state law and agreed to hire the Negro applicant, who meanwhile had found other employment which he told the commission was "more desirable."

THE INCIDENT, apparently was closed to the satisfaction of everyone concerned. The car sales agency did not hire the applicant, the applicant obtained what he said was a better job, and the Fair Employment Practices Division of the state Department of Industrial Relations hailed the situation as a great "success" story in the administration of fair employment practices.

The fundamental question resolved, apparently, was that California businessmen do not have a right to hire whom they choose.

It must, therefore, be concluded that the government of California, under the Brown administration, is in the position of dictating to business in this state whom it shall hire, and whom it shall not hire.

OF COURSE, this is being done with the sanction of the California Legislature, which enacted the new FEPC law during the 1959 session. Whether it is constitutional or not has not as yet been determined in this state. From all indications, there is no case before the court which would settle the constitutional question of government in business once and for all.

In enacting the legislation, the Legislature felt it was removing the bars against discrimination in hiring because of race, color, or creed. What it actually accomplished, however, was the imposition of a bar against the inherent right of an employer to hire whatever help he might choose to hire.

THUS, while attempting to remove discrimination on the one side, the Legislature set up discrimination on the other. In the opinion of many people, it deliberately switched protections guaranteed by the constitution of the state from one class of people to others.

And in addition, the Legislature set the stage for the creation of another large state bureaucracy. Already, FEPC is opening additional offices, and drafting specifications for additional employees..

The public can look for more "success" stories in the future to be issued by FEPC.

"Why go to all that trouble?" inquired Franklin. "Nobody will know it's there."

"I'll know," replied the cabinetmaker quietly.

Policeman Outraces Shoplifter Only To Be Insulted By Him

Officer Charles E. Newman of the Corte Madera police department had to do a lot of huffing and puffing the other day before a young shoplifting suspect was captured behind Littleman Market at Corte Madera Center.

The 15-year-old boy led Newman on a merry footchase across the center's huge east parking lot and the yards of many homes in quiet Madera Gardens residential district.

After the old-fashioned cops and robbers pursuit had ended, the youngster told the huffing, puffing Newman: "I guess I'll be a cop when I grow up. All you gotta be is dumb!"

Don't take it to heart, Chuck.

ONE OF THESE days Corte Madera is expected to have a couple of community directional signs at either end of town, beside Highway 101. The signs will welcome motorists to that fine town and point the way to its business district.

Not long ago, Cary Bowles, publicist for Corte Madera Shopping Center, discovered what he thought was a splendid location for one of the billboards.

A committee of the town council went to the spot and agreed it was just dandy — except for one thing. The site was outside the town limits.

"Hard as we try," said Mayor Roger F. Morse, "we find it difficult to welcome people to Corte Madera."

Well, Bowles is making another stab at it. We understand, he's carrying a metes and bounds description of the town in one hand and a surveyor's transit in the other.

HOW TIMES have changed! Today, it's hard to find a television set with a dinky little 10-inch screen. But back in 1948, when TV was in its infancy, they were starting to turn them out en masse. And were they expensive!

All-Channel TV, a Larkspur firm, has a 1948 10-inch console model on display in its showroom. Eleven years of television progress have given it the status of an antique, but the small-screen, big-box set still runs beautifully with its original picture tube.

The price in 1948: a whopping $400, with the stand thrown in.

RICHARD E. DOHERTY of Kentfield wonders if something can't be done about the parking situation for persons serving on juries at the courthouse in San Rafael.

He's got a point. The way things are now, a juror has to park six or seven blocks away from the courthouse, which hardly seems fair for someone giving up valuable time to do his civic duty.

Doherty thinks arrangements should be made to let jurors park in metered zones and have their parking tickets cleared by the court. Or, better still, have the bailiff see to it that no tickets are handed out. Parking fees, says Doherty, could be considered one of the legitimate court costs of a jury trial.

Spaak Proposes NATO Expand To Meet Red Economic Threat

Paul Henri Spaak, secretary general of NATO and one of the ablest statesmen in Europe, is making a strong case for enlarging the role of the North Atlantic Alliance to counter the Soviet challenge to bury the Western nations economically.

Spaak received a responsive hearing from the NATO parliamentarians — 150 of the political leaders of the fifteen NATO countries meeting in Washington — and my information is that he won substantial endorsement from President Eisenhower this past week.

What Spaak is saying — and, it seems to me, at the right time — is this:

THAT THE SOVIET Union, with the satellite economies regimented to help, are at the point of launching a major economic offensive to air selected underdeveloped nations and thus to make Communism more alluring.

That the United States cannot and should not be expected to meet this challenge by itself, that the economic contest is not between the Soviet Union and the U. S. but between the Soviet Union and all the industrialized powers of the free world.

That the only way to win this contest is for the stronger Western nations to do more to help the underdeveloped countries while the U. S. does not do less, and that the best means of doing it together is a "revised and expanded NATO."

THE VIEWS which Spaak is advancing parallel closely the views which have been developing within the administration. The future contest with the Soviets, as Khrushchev candidly remarked only a few days ago, is going to be "rugged."

President Eisenhower urgently believes that Western aid to the underdeveloped peoples must be increased and that our now prospering allies should take up their part of the burden. That is generally accepted.

What remains to be determined is whether the Western nations will set up separate aid programs or whether the Western governments will act together to concert their economic programs to accomplish the greatest good where it is most needed.

It is Spaak's conviction that the West can come out on top in this "rugged" contest with the Soviets only if we act unitedly.

While Spaak sees the military danger as remaining until there are agreements in substance, not just on procedures, with the Soviets, he sees the looming contest with Moscow primarily as economic, political, and ideological. He argues that just as NATO came into being to meet the military danger, it now should adapt itself to meet the economic and political danger.

IT IS FOR THIS reason that Spaak proposes a wider role geographically, politically, and economically for the alliance.

He suggests that NATO cannot meet the new challenge if it confines itself only to Western Europe since the new challenge is worldwide.

There is nothing in the Spaak proposals which would increase the NATO military commitments. There is much in the Spaak proposals which corresponds to what the Eisenhower administration has been saying it wants to achieve in the field of enlarging the aid program and distributing the burden.

A community mental health services program could help to meet this need. Consultation to professional staff and department heads of groups working with children in Marin County. An educational program dissemanating information to the public. Emergency detention facilities, allowing the patient to be near family, friends and the Dr. with whom he is familiar. A clinic in our own community.

We are now paying, with part of our tax money, for a program in which we are not participating in Marin County. The Short-Doyle Act allows us to avail ourselves of a Community mental health services program. The state will match the money we spend. Six counties and one city are now participating and five more counties have filed application for reimbursement.

Early detection and treatment of emotional illness could mean less juvenile delinquincy, less hospitalization, and fewer tragedies such as this most recent one.

The time is long overdue for treating troubled people with the dignity to which they have a right. We are not going to solve this problem by pushing it aside and hoping "it will go away." We can begin to solve it by acknowledging its existence and attacking it vigorously and with intelligence.

Letters to our Marin County Board of Supervisors expressing our eagerness and interest in such a program seem very much in order.

FEPC Report Spotlights Question Of Who Is To Run Private Business

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — A report of the first month's activities of the new Fair Employment Practices Commission once again brings up the question of who is going to run private business in California.

The commission's first case, the report says, was a "success story." It restulted from a complaint filed by a Negro applicant for a position as automobile salesman in a San Francisco Bay Area new car sales agency.

THE COMPLAINANT told the commission the company said he was qualified for the work, but would have to work as an "outside" salesman, rather than "on the floor."

The case was closed without hearing when the sales manager of the automobile concern knuckled under to the provision of the new state law and agreed to hire the Negro applicant, who meanwhile had found other employment which he told the commission was "more desirable."

THE INCIDENT, apparently was closed to the satisfaction of everyone concerned. The car sales agency did not hire the applicant, the applicant obtained what he said was a better job, and the Fair Employment Practices Division of the state Department of Industrial Relations hailed the situation as a great "success" story in the administration of fair employment practices.

The fundamental question resolved, apparently, was that California businessmen do not have a right to hire whom they choose.

It must, therefore, be concluded that the government of California, under the Brown administration, is in the position of dictating to business in this state whom it shall hire, and whom it shall not hire.

OF COURSE, this is being done with the sanction of the California Legislature, which enacted the new FEPC law during the 1959 session. Whether it is constitutional or not has not as yet been determined in this state. From all indications, there is no case before the court which would settle the constitutional question of government in business once and for all.

In enacting the legislation, the Legislature felt it was removing the bars against discrimination in hiring because of race, color, or creed. What it actually accomplished, however, was the imposition of a bar against the inherent right of an employer to hire whatever help he might choose to hire.

THUS, while attempting to remove discrimination on the one side, the Legislature set up discrimination on the other. In the opinion of many people, it deliberately switched protections guaranteed by the constitution of the state from one class of people to others.

And in addition, the Legislature set the stage for the creation of another large state bureaucracy. Already, FEPC is opening additional offices, and drafting specifications for additional employees..

The public can look for more "success" stories in the future to be issued by FEPC.

In these days, when too many people are trying only to get by — getting as much as possible for doing as little work as possible — one casts a longing eye back on the days when a worker took pride in his craftsmanship — the days when Benjamin Franklin, for example, watched a cabinetmaker taking infinite pains with the inside decorations of a drawing room table.

"Why go to all that trouble?" inquired Franklin. "Nobody will know it's there."

"I'll know," replied the cabinetmaker quietly.

Policeman Outraces Shoplifter Only To Be Insulted By Him

Officer Charles E. Newman of the Corte Madera police department had to do a lot of huffing and puffing the other day before a young shoplifting suspect was captured behind Littleman Market at Corte Madera Center.

The 15-year-old boy led Newman on a merry footchase across the center's huge east parking lot and the yards of many homes in quiet Madera Gardens residential district.

After the old-fashioned cops and robbers pursuit had ended, the youngster told the huffing, puffing Newman: "I guess I'll be a cop when I grow up. All you gotta be is dumb!"

Don't take it to heart, Chuck.

ONE OF THESE days Corte Madera is expected to have a couple of community directional signs at either end of town, beside Highway 101. The signs will welcome motorists to that fine town and point the way to its business district.

Not long ago, Cary Bowles, publicist for Corte Madera Shopping Center, discovered what he thought was a splendid location for one of the billboards.

A committee of the town council went to the spot and agreed it was just dandy — except for one thing. The site was outside the town limits.

"Hard as we try," said Mayor Roger F. Morse, "we find it difficult to welcome people to Corte Madera."

Well, Bowles is making another stab at it. We understand, he's carrying a metes and bounds description of the town in one hand and a surveyor's transit in the other.

HOW TIMES have changed! Today, it's hard to find a television set with a dinky little 10-inch screen. But back in 1948, when TV was in its infancy, they were starting to turn them out en masse. And were they expensive!

All-Channel TV, a Larkspur firm, has a 1948 10-inch console model on display in its showroom. Eleven years of television progress have given it the status of an antique, but the small-screen, big-box set still runs beautifully with its original picture tube.

The price in 1948: a whopping $400, with the stand thrown in.

RICHARD E. DOHERTY of Kentfield wonders if something can't be done about the parking situation for persons serving on juries at the courthouse in San Rafael.

He's got a point. The way things are now, a juror has to park six or seven blocks away from the courthouse, which hardly seems fair for someone giving up valuable time to do his civic duty.

Doherty thinks arrangements should be made to let jurors park in metered zones and have their parking tickets cleared by the court. Or, better still, have the bailiff see to it that no tickets are handed out. Parking fees, says Doherty, could be considered one of the legitimate court costs of a jury trial.

Spaak Proposes NATO Expand To Meet Red Economic Threat

Paul Henri Spaak, secretary general of NATO and one of the ablest statesmen in Europe, is making a strong case for enlarging the role of the North Atlantic Alliance to counter the Soviet challenge to bury the Western nations economically.

Spaak received a responsive hearing from the NATO parliamentarians — 150 of the political leaders of the fifteen NATO countries meeting in Washington — and my information is that he won substantial endorsement from President Eisenhower this past week.

What Spaak is saying — and, it seems to me, at the right time — is this:

THAT THE SOVIET Union, with the satellite economies regimented to help, are at the point of launching a major economic offensive to air selected underdeveloped nations and thus to make Communism more alluring.

That the United States cannot and should not be expected to meet this challenge by itself, that the economic contest is not between the Soviet Union and the U. S. but between the Soviet Union and all the industrialized powers of the free world.

That the only way to win this contest is for the stronger Western nations to do more to help the underdeveloped countries while the U. S. does not do less, and that the best means of doing it together is a "revised and expanded NATO."

THE VIEWS which Spaak is advancing parallel closely the views which have been developing within the administration. The future contest with the Soviets, as Khrushchev candidly remarked only a few days ago, is going to be "rugged."

President Eisenhower urgently believes that Western aid to the underdeveloped peoples must be increased and that our now prospering allies should take up their part of the burden. That is generally accepted.

What remains to be determined is whether the Western nations will set up separate aid programs or whether the Western governments will act together to concert their economic programs to accomplish the greatest good where it is most needed.

It is Spaak's conviction that the West can come out on top in this "rugged" contest with the Soviets only if we act unitedly.

While Spaak sees the military danger as remaining until there are agreements in substance, not just on procedures, with the Soviets, he sees the looming contest with Moscow primarily as economic, political, and ideological. He argues that just as NATO came into being to meet the military danger, it now should adapt itself to meet the economic and political danger.

IT IS FOR THIS reason that Spaak proposes a wider role geographically, politically, and economically for the alliance.

He suggests that NATO cannot meet the new challenge if it confines itself only to Western Europe since the new challenge is worldwide.

There is nothing in the Spaak proposals which would increase the NATO military commitments. There is much in the Spaak proposals which corresponds to what the Eisenhower administration has been saying it wants to achieve in the field of enlarging the aid program and distributing the burden.

Park Meter Plan Starts, Wins Favor

"Public acceptance of Sunday parking meters has been splendid," Sausalito City Mgr. Donald A. Duerr said today in reference to the city's new law that puts the meters into operation every day of the year.

The law went into effect Nov. 15, but police issued merely warnings the first two Sundays and Thanksgiving Day. Starting last Sunday, violators were given tickets for overtime parking.

"But there was such good cooperation," Duerr said, "that the police issued only 10 tickets."

Police told Duerr that persons came up to them on the street and said they were amazed to find places to park." That means the turnover was good, Duerr said.

The new law is an attempt by the city to keep parking spaces available during heavy weekend tourist traffic.

As a matter of policy no tickets will be issued during church hours, Duerr said.

Flying a distance equal to one-and-three-fifths times around the world, although never actually leaving the continental United States, the six-engine plane was refueled in flight from a KC135 jet tanker.

The plane, commanded by Capt. Shelton J. Anthony Jr., broke the previous jet endurance flight, also by a B47, which covered 21,000 miles in 47 hours, 35 minutes in November, 1955.

The flight was aimed at testing an aircraft seat which tilts, has a pulsating cushion and pneumatic backrest.

Atom Striking Force Urged For Europe

PARIS (UPI)—Powerful voices in Europe called today for the creation of a European nuclear striking force to work in close association with the U.S. Strategic Air Command in defense of the West.

The proposal was submitted to the seven-nation Western European Union Assembly by its defense and armaments commission. It was the center of debate in today's second day of the assembly.

FORCE NEEDED

The project, outlined on behalf of the committee by British Laborite Fred Mulley, said the new force was necessary to ensure a concerted response by the nations of Europe to any Soviet attack aimed at Europe itself.

The committee report said the plan was based on the principle that "the American strategic nuclear guarantee has lost its former value" and that the United States could not be expected to risk nuclear reprisals against itself by coming to the aid of Europe in the event of a localized attack on the continent.

MAIN PART

The main part of the committee's proposition was "the creation of a European strategic nuclear force aimed at preventing strategic aggressions against Western Europe and associated with the American Strategic Air Command."

Committee spokesman Mulley pointed out that Britain was the only European country which now could provide the basic materials for the European pool.

He said that because of this situation the project would make it necessary to revise existing agreements between the United States and Britain which prevent an exchange of nuclear information.

U.S., Panama Withdraw Troops At Canal Zone

PANAMA CITY (UPI) — The United States and Panama have withdrawn troops from the Canal Zone border, and it appeared that anti-American feeling here has simmered down at least for the time being.

Routine police patrols took over yesterday from the troops who had lined the border since Saturday, when rioters tried to invade the U.S.-administered zone.

Panama City and its suburbs were still off limits to Americans from the zone as a precautionary measure, but there was no restriction on U.S. visits to Colon and other Panamanian communities.

Panamanian troops broke up the Saturday night mobs. U.S. military units deployed to backstop the Panamanians did not go into action. Although several American soldiers were hit by stones thrown by the rioters.

About 150 rioters, most of them were unruly teen-agers, were arrested during the outbreak, but most of them were believed to have been released since.

The Saturday night disorders were the second instance of anti-American violence here in less than a month. A previous mob attack occurred Nov. 3, the 56th anniversary of the revolution that freed Panama from Colombia.

U.S. authorities here praised Panamanian troops for their firm action against Saturday's rioters. There had been complaints that Panamanian authorities were deliberately negligent during the earlier outbreak.

Santa Rosa Man Sued By Marinite In Paternity Case

A young Sausalito woman is suing a wealthy public relations executive from Santa Rosa to get child support for a baby daughter whom she claims he fathered.

Mary V. Hill, reportedly in her late 20s, of 485 Bridgeway, Sausalito, filed the suit in Marin Superior Court today through her attorney, Jack L. Burman of San Francisco. She names Lewis Victor May of Santa Rosa as father. He is identified as national sales director and part owner of the National Assn. of Public Relations in Santa Rosa.

Miss Hill asserts that he draws more than $2,000 per month. She is asking for $300 per month support for her daughter, Patricia Louise Hill, born last March 21.

Miss Hill alleges that he has orally acknowledged paternity and has been giving partial support voluntarily. She says she met him while they were both in Ohio.

K Blames Hungary Revolt On Stalinists

LONDON (AP) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev today blamed "serious mistakes" of the former Stalinist rulers of Hungary for the 1956 Hungarian revolt.

But Khrushchev said in a speech to the congress of the Hungarian Commuist Party in Budapest that "imperialist hopes" for the collapse of communism in Hungary have failed.

The speech was broadcast by Moscow radio.

"If the counter-revolution did succeed in causing disturbances in the country," Khrushchev said, "this was to a considerable extent due to the fact that the former leadership of the Hungarian Workers' Communist Party, and especially Rakosi, had committed serious mistakes which undermined the party's directing role and weakened the dictatorship of the proletariat."

Khrushchev's reference was to former Hungarian Communist leader Matyos Rakosi.

The Soviet premier said the proposed East-West summit conference must be approached "in a reasonable way, taking account of the wishes of the other parties."

PRE-SUMMIT MEET

In this connection, Khrushchev continued, French President Charles de Gaulle's desire to meet with him prior to the summit meeting was not unreasonable and "perhaps this will make for better understanding at the summit."

The Soviet leader denied "foreign press fabrications" that the Soviet Union has abandoned the idea of an early summit meeting.

Khrushchev's visit to de Gaulle is scheduled for the last two weeks in March, which postpones the East-West summit at least until late April.

ACUTE QUESTION

Khrushchev said the most important and most acute question of the time is that of the relaxation of a stable and durable peace.

A certain relaxation of international tension has been brought about, he continued, by the Soviet proposal for total disarmament, Khrushchev's visit to the United States and his meetings with President Eisenhower.

Khrushchev warned that the Soviet desire for peace is not a sign of weakness. He called once more for an end to the Western occupation of West Berlin and a German peace treaty.

Bomber Sets Record For Endurance

DAYTON, Ohio (UPI)—An Air Force B47 bomber, testing a new aircraft seat and a high-pressure in-flight refueling system set a jet plane endurance record yesterday with a continuous flight of 80 hours, 36 minutes for a distance of 39,200 miles.

Flying a distance equal to one-and-three-fifths times around the world, although never actually leaving the continental United States, the six-engine plane was refueled in flight from a KC135 jet tanker.

The plane, commanded by Capt. Shelton J. Anthony Jr., broke the previous jet endurance flight, also by a B47, which covered 21,000 miles in 47 hours, 35 minutes in November, 1955.

The flight was aimed at testing an aircraft seat which tilts, has a pulsating cushion and pneumatic backrest.

Licenses Of 1,052 Drivers Suspended

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Motor Vehicles Department reported yesterday that it suspended the licenses of 1,052 convicted drunk drivers last month under its "get tough" policy.

That brought to 4,024 the number of California drivers hit by the policy—instituted July 4—of suspending for six months the licenses of most convicted drunk drivers.

In September, 1,346 lost their licenses; 1,155 in August; and 471 during the first month of the program's operation.

Atom Striking Force Urged For Europe

PARIS (UPI)—Powerful voices in Europe called today for the creation of a European nuclear striking force to work in close association with the U.S. Strategic Air Command in defense of the West.

The proposal was submitted to the seven-nation Western European Union Assembly by its defense and armaments commission. It was the center of debate in today's second day of the assembly.

FORCE NEEDED

The project, outlined on behalf of the committee by British Laborite Fred Mulley, said the new force was necessary to ensure a concerted response by the nations of Europe to any Soviet attack aimed at Europe itself.

The committee report said the plan was based on the principle that "the American strategic nuclear guarantee has lost its former value" and that the United States could not be expected to risk nuclear reprisals against itself by coming to the aid of Europe in the event of a localized attack on the continent.

MAIN PART

The main part of the committee's proposition was "the creation of a European strategic nuclear force aimed at preventing strategic aggressions against Western Europe and associated with the American Strategic Air Command."

Committee spokesman Mulley pointed out that Britain was the only European country which now could provide the basic materials for the European pool.

He said that because of this situation the project would make it necessary to revise existing agreements between the United States and Britain which prevent an exchange of nuclear information.

IT'S A VITAL DOCUMENT FOR A POLICE CHIEF

MALVERN, Ala. (AP)—Police Chief William H. Hollis Jr. of this tiny southeast Alabama community may lose his job because his driver's license was revoked.

Lt. T. L. Payne of the Alabama state patrol disclosed in Montgomery the license had been taken away because Hollis obtained it fraudulently in 1956.

U.S., Panama Withdraw Troops At Canal Zone

PANAMA CITY (UPI) — The United States and Panama have withdrawn troops from the Canal Zone border, and it appeared that anti-American feeling here has simmered down at least for the time being.

Routine police patrols took over yesterday from the troops who had lined the border since Saturday, when rioters tried to invade the U.S.-administered zone.

Panama City and its suburbs were still off limits to Americans from the zone as a precautionary measure, but there was no restriction on U.S. visits to Colon and other Panamanian communities.

Panamanian troops broke up the Saturday night mobs. U. S. military units deployed to backstop the Panamanians did not go into action. Although several American soldiers were hit by stones thrown by the rioters.

About 150 rioters, most of them were unruly teen-agers, were arrested during the outbreak, but most of them were believed to have been released since.

The Saturday night disorders were the second instance of anti-American violence here in less than a month. A previous mob attack occurred Nov. 3, the 56th anniversary of the revolution that freed Panama from Colombia.

U. S. authorities here praised Panamanian troops for their firm action against Saturday's rioters. There had been complaints that Panamanian authorities were deliberately negligent during the earlier outbreak.

Santa Rosa Man Sued By Marinite In Paternity Case

A young Sausalito woman is suing a wealthy public relations executive from Santa Rosa to get child support for a baby daughter whom she claims he fathered.

Mary V. Hill, reportedly in her late 20s, of 485 Bridgeway, Sausalito, filed the suit in Marin Superior Court today through her attorney, Jack L. Burman of San Francisco. She names Lewis Victor May of Santa Rosa as father. He is identified as national sales director and part owner of the National Assn. of Public Relations in Santa Rosa.

Miss Hill asserts that he draws more than $2,000 per month. She is asking for $300 per month support for her daughter, Patricia Louise Hill, born last March 21.

Miss Hill alleges that he has orally acknowledged paternity and has been giving partial support voluntarily. She says she met him while they were both in Ohio.

K Blames Hungary Revolt On Stalinists

LONDON (AP) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev today blamed "serious mistakes" of the former Stalinist rulers of Hungary for the 1956 Hungarian revolt.

But Khrushchev said in a speech to the congress of the Hungarian Commuist Party in Budapest that "imperialist hopes" for the collapse of communism in Hungary have failed.

The speech was broadcast by Moscow radio.

"If the counter-revolution did succeed in causing disturbances in the country," Khrushchev said, "this was to a considerable extent due to the fact that the former leadership of the Hungarian Workers' Communist Party, and especially Rakosi, had committed serious mistakes which undermined the party's directing role and weakened the dictatorship of the proletariat."

Khrushchev's reference was to former Hungarian Communist leader Matyos Rakosi.

The Soviet premier said the proposed East-West summit conference must be approached "in a reasonable way, taking account of the wishes of the other parties."

PRE-SUMMIT MEET

In this connection, Khrushchev continued, French President Charles de Gaulle's desire to meet with him prior to the summit meeting was not unreasonable and "perhaps this will make for better understanding at the summit."

The Soviet leader denied "foreign press fabrications" that the Soviet Union has abandoned the idea of an early summit meeting.

Khrushchev's visit to de Gaulle is scheduled for the last two weeks in March, which postpones the East-West summit at least until late April.

ACUTE QUESTION

Khrushchev said the most important and most acute question of the time is that of the relaxation of a stable and durable peace.

A certain relaxation of international tension has been brought about, he continued, by the Soviet proposal for total disarmament, Khrushchev's visit to the United States and his meetings with President Eisenhower.

Khrushchev warned that the Soviet desire for peace is not a sign of weakness. He called once more for an end to the Western occupation of West Berlin and a German peace treaty.

Giants Swap Brandt, G. Jones For 2 Oriole Hurlers

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—The San Francisco Giants have acquired Billy O'Dell and Billy Loes from Baltimore in an attempt to plug an undermanned pitching staff that cost them the 1959 National League pennant.

In return for the left-handed starter O'Dell and Loes, an erratic reliever, the Giants had to give up Jackie Brandt, one of their most talented young outfielders, Gordon Jones, a mediocre relief pitcher, and a third player yet to be named. The player, it was learned, is Roger McCardell, a rookie catcher who batted .260 at Phoenix last season.

FIRST BIG DEAL

It was the first major deal in the unprecedented interleague trading period which began Nov. 21. But it may have paved the way for a major swap between Washington and the world champion Los Angeles Dodgers, during the minor league convention here.

The Dodgers and Giants had been competing for Pete Ramos, the Senators' star righthander. San Francisco had offered either Brandt or Felipe Alou, another outfielder, for the 24-year-old Cuban, who had a 13-19 record with the last-place Nats last season.

Los Angeles countered with an offer of four players for Ramos and Roy Sievers, Washington's all-time home run king.

TRADE BREWING

The Dodgers are willing to part with lefthanded Danny McDevitt, shortstop Don Zimmer, outfielder Sandy Amoros and pitcher John Golden, a farm hand. Washington has agreed to the trade, provided outfielder Don Demeter is substituted for Amoros.

O'Dell, 26, gives the Giants a third starting southpaw to go with Johnny Antonelli and Mike McCormick. He was signed out of Clemson College in 1954 for a $10,000 bonus. O'Dell had his best year in 1958 when he won 14 and pitched three hitless innings in the All-Star game.

A back injury hampered his work last season but while he finished with an ordinary 10-12 record with a sixth-place club, he had a fine 2.94 earned run average.

Loes, who will be 30 Dec. 13, is a former Brooklyn Dodger. The eccentric right-hander was traded to Washington early last season, but the Senators turned him back when he told them he had a sore arm. He appeared in 37 games with the Orioles, however, and had a 4-7 record.

Brandt, 25, a fine defensive outfielder and right-handed batter, was regarded as one of the real comers in the National League. Last season, his first full year after military service, he batted .270 in 137 games, hit 12 home runs and drove in 57 runs.

Baltimore Manager Paul Richards said Brandt, who played mostly left field in San Francisco, will be the Orioles' regular center fielder, with Willie Tasby moving to right and Gene Woodling playing left. Bob Nieman, who shared the left field assignment with Woodling last season, has been traded to the St. Louis Cardinals for catcher-outfielder Gene Green. The deal will be announced tomorrow.

NO 'IFS'

"We've come up with a guy we think can play center field every day," said Richards. "There are no contingencies in the deal. Sore arm or sore anything, they (the Giants) get Loes."

"This is the deal that could bring us a pennant," said Bill Rigney, the Giants' jubilant manager. "Pitching is what cost us the flag last year, we just ran out of it.

"I hated to give up Brandt. He's a whole ball player. But we simply had to do something about our pitching."

Boston and the Chicago Cubs and Kansas City and Cincinnati had made minor deals earlier. The Red Sox sent Dick Gernert to the Cubs for Dave Hillman and Jim Marshall, and the Athletics traded Frank House to the Reds for Tom Acker.

Coast College Cagers Open Season Tonight

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Modesty was rampant today among local basketball coaches who head into tonight's lid-lifters with a strictly close-to-the-vest attitude.

Even Van Sweet of College of the Pacific, who used to predict great things for his team, has clammed up about this season's prospects.

"We're big but size doesn't mean everything," Sweet declared at yesterday's opening session of the Northern California Basketball Writers and Sportscasters kaffe klatsch.

The only predicting was done by the scribes, who tabbed California as the team which will win the Big Five title and Santa Clara as the West Coast Athletic Conference king.

Coach Bob Feerick of the Broncos, anticipating the outcome, said before it was announced, "I don't think we're as good as rated; we've got problems."

Pete Newell, boss of the NCAA champion Bears, stuck to going over his lineup rather than doing any crystal gazing. And that just about set the pace for the rest of the coaches.

"We still have center Darrel Imhoff and forward Bill McClintock back from last season, thank gosh," Newell said. "Graduating stripped us of our fine guards but the situation may not be as drastic as it apepars. Bob Wendell, a good dribbler, should help us there."

Feerick, although disclaiming the outcome of the poll, said "if we have a poor season I'll be disappointed. We don't have the beef but we have the experience. Frank Sobrero (17 points per game average last year) is playing just as well as ever."

Here's a wrap-up on what the other coaches had to say:

Jim Weaver of St. Mary's which won the West Coast Athletic Conference title last season — "This should be a great season for Tom Meschery (6-6) who never did bounce back from illness last winter. He'll be a forward this time instead of center and Al Claiborne (6-9) will be our regular center. On paper we don't figure to repeat. But if our sophs come through—we could be a tough outfit."

Ross Giudice, USF—"I hope you coaches will go easy on our club. This business of taking over for Phil Woolpert makes me feel like a corporal who goes into a battle and finds all his superior officers missing. We're awfully short on experience."

Sweet, COP — "We'll be as tough as anyone on the boards with Leroy Wright, the nation's best rebounder last season, and Larkin Bryant. But Wright, who underwent knee surgery for the second time, will have to improve on his scoring to make up for the loss of guard Dave Klurman."

Walt McPherson, San Jose State — "Our starting lineup consists of four sophs and one senior. I'm not discouraged although there will be games when we'll make some ridiculous mistakes. We'll also have some warm nights but no hot ones."

Howie Dallmar, Stanford—"We're looking to sophomore John Windsor (6-8) to come through for us at center.

Kuharich To Take Over As Ram Coach?

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Examiner said today Notre Dame Coach Joe Kuharich is slated to succeed Sid Gillman as head man of the Los Angeles Rams.

It also reported Bernie Crimmins, now backfield coach at Purdue, will succeed Kuharich, who posted a 5-5 record this year in his first season as Notre Dame mentor. Crimmins was an assistant to Terry Brennan at Notre Dame before Kuharich was signed last spring.

In a copyrighted story, the Examiner said the 42-year-old Kuharich has told friends he is unhappy at Notre Dame and prefers to return to professional coaching.

The newspaper quoted a source close to the Notre Dame football situation.

Kuharich previously coached the Washington Redskins and Chicago Cardinals of the National Football League and the University of San Francisco Dons.

Ram fullback Ollie Matson played for Kuharich at both San Francisco and Chicago.

The Examiner said Kuharich is highly regarded by Ram owners because he is a tough taskmaster.

Gillman strongly indicated he was through as coach of the Rams when he left the NFL draft meeting at Philadelphia yesterday after only a few rounds and returned to Los Angeles.

He could not be reached for comment on the Examiner report.

Alabama Accepts Liberty Bowl Bid

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Alabama today accepted an invitation to meet Penn State in the Liberty Bowl football game at the Philadelphia Stadium Dec. 19.

Announcement of Alabama's acceptance was made at a news conference by Ambrose Dudley, co-promoter of the game.

Dudley said, "We feel sure that the Alabama-Penn State game will be an outstanding inaugural for football fans of the East who long have desired a major bowl in their home area."

Cannon, Izo See Advantages In Loop's Stability

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — If the reaction of Billy Cannon and George Izo is any indication of things to come, the National Football League hasn't much to worry about in any player war with the new American Football League.

Cannon, the star of Louisiana State's Sugar Bowl-bound football team, and Izo, quarterback of the fast-finishing Notre Dame squad, both were drafted by the NFL and agreed to play in the 40-year-old pro league.

BATTLE CRY

Cannon mouthed the war cry of the established league when he appeared at the NFL draft yesterday and said:

"I favor the NFL because it has the better players and more security."

LSU's triple threat halfback said he would sign with the Los Angeles Rams, who made him the NFL's No. 1 draft choice, immediately after LSU's Jan. 1 Sugar Bowl date with Mississippi. Izo, who has no bowl date, already has signed a contract with the Chicago Cardinals. He was the second pick in the NFL draft.

SELLING POINTS

The NFL has made no bones that it plans to sell college players on its stability, security, and fringe benefits as well as with cold cash.

In all, the 12 NFL teams—selecting in order from last to first place—drafted 240 players from 124 colleges. Purdue of the Big Ten led with 10 players selected. Seven were taken from Mississippi's powerful team, six from Georgia's Orange Bowl squad and five each from LSU, Notre Dame, Cincinnati, Wisconsin, Texas Christian, Southern California and Iowa.

BIG 10 LEADS

Among the nation's many football conferences, the Big Ten topped the NFL draft with 33, followed by the Southeast Conference with 27, Atlantic Coast Conference 18, Pacific Coast 16 and the Southwest with 15. Four were selected from Syracuse, the nation's No. 1 team.

U. S. Net Duo Wins

MANILA (AP) — Top-seeded Barry MacKay of Dayton, Ohio, and Myron Franks of Los Angeles today powered their way to a four-set victory, 6-3, 6-2, 4-6, 6-3, over Filipinos Guillermo Herandez and Alfredo Cruz in the doubles quarter-finals of the Philippine National Tennis Tournament.

49ERS-COLTS TO BE ON TV — IN RENO

RENO, Nev. (UPI) — Many San Francisco 49er football fans will journey to Reno Saturday to see the big game between the 49ers and the Baltimore Colts at Kezar Stadium.

The game is a sellout, but by special arrangement it will be telecast in Reno which is usually blacked-out for games at San Francisco. At least 12 chartered buses had been filled today by fans planning to come here for the telecast.

AFL Head Not Expecting Pro Grid Pay War

CHICAGO (AP) — Joe Foss, World War II Marine hero and newly named commissioner of the new American Football League, does not believe there will be a salary war with the Natioinal Football League.

Foss, 44, one-time flying ace who shot down 26 Japanese planes, said he would be able to tell a lot more about a salary war as time goes on.

"However," the former governor of South Dakota added, "I can see that in some instances there will be heavy bidding for players."

Foss yesterday signed a three-year contract believed to be at about $30,000 a year. The appointment was announced at a press conference by Lamar Hunt of Dallas, president of the new league.

"We interviewed 25 men for the job, narrowed the field to eight and chose Foss unanimously," said Hunt.

Foss said his headquarters will be in Dallas. He added:

Optimism Marks Redwood's Approach To Hoop Season

By GLENN BECKER

A cautious air of optimism pervades the Larkspur camp of Redwood High these days, as the Giants prepare for their second basketball season, and first in the Marin County Athletic League.

Coach Dick Hart's cagers open their campaign Friday, hosting Balboa with an all-letterman first five. It includes Rick Reide and Ernie Bray at the guard spots, Jeff Skinner and Rich Brear at forward, and Eric Lindner at center.

Lindner, a big 6-3, 195-pounder who was an all-league football selection at center, has been "looking much better, especially his shooting," according to Hart. Eric is also a rugged rebounder.

Tallest man on the starting five will be forward Rich Brear, a 6-4 junior who showed a lot of promise last year. His running mate at forward will be 6-1 Jeff Skinner, who drives up the key well and who has been striving to improve his erratic shooting. Skinner was a starting guard last year.

Redwood is very high on its backcourt pair of Riede and Bray. Both are good shooters who at times can carry the team with their hot streaks. Riede, a starter in 1958-59, has more experience than Bray.

The Giants hope they will find some of the good rebounding so necessary to a team's success in Mike Kavanaugh, a 6-4 transfer from Tacoma, Washington. Kavanaugh is expected to back up Lindner at center. Also slated for quite a bit of playing time is Roger Siemens, who had JV experience in '58-'59.

Most of the other Redwoodeers have come up from last year's "B" and sophomore teams. Graduating from the "B" squad are guards Wayne Berry and Dave Ruta, and forward Rob Brewer, while forwards Don Bowen, Hep Wilkins, and Mike Hoffman, another all-league football choice at end, played on the soph team. Berry, Hart's third guard, is a good dribbler and shooter.

A year ago in their first season, the Giants fashioned a 10-15 mark, commendable for a group of boys who hadn't played together before. This year Hart expects to have "over-all a stronger team" with a "pretty good bench."

Eyeing the rest of the league, he tabs San Rafael, last year's champion of the old North Bay League Section I, as the favorite to haul down another flag. He sees Tamalpais and Marin Catholic, both with new coaches, pressing the Bulldogs closely.

UCLA Only Hurdle In Orange Path To Title

By Associated Press

Only UCLA's giant-killers stand between Syracuse's precisionists and the national football championship.

Their clash Saturday in Los Angeles before a national television audience likely will decide whether the unbeaten and untied Orangemen retain their No. 1 ranking in The Associated Press poll.

Syracuse, bound for a New Year's Day Cotton Bowl engagement with Texas, held onto first place in the next-to-last balloting today, but the margin over runner-up Mississippi was trimmed to 142 points.

Winners of nine straight this season, the Orange received 95 of the 164 first-place votes cast by sports writers and broadcasters for 1,495 points. Mississippi was selected as the top team by 49 voters and amassed 1,350 points.

Every one of the top 10 teams is bowl-bound. Besides the Syracuse-Texas matchup, LSU and Mississippi will meet in the Sugar Bowl, Wisconsin and Washington clash in the Rose Bowl, and TCU and Clemson battle it out in the Bluebonnet.

Georgia tackles 20th-ranked Missouri in the Orange Bowl and Arkansas takes on unranked Georgia Tech in the Gator classic.

Coach Bob Feerick of the Broncos, anticipating the outcome, said before it was announced, "I don't think we're as good as rated; we've got problems."

Pete Newell, boss of the NCAA champion Bears, stuck to going over his lineup rather than doing any crystal gazing. And that just about set the pace for the rest of the coaches.

"We still have center Darrel Imhoff and forward Bill McClintock back from last season, thank gosh," Newell said. "Graduating stripped us of our fine guards but the situation may not be as drastic as it apepars. Bob Wendell, a good dribbler, should help us there."

Feerick, although disclaiming the outcome of the poll, said "if we have a poor season I'll be disappointed. We don't have the beef but we have the experience. Frank Sobrero (17 points per game average last year) is playing just as well as ever."

Here's a wrap-up on what the other coaches had to say:

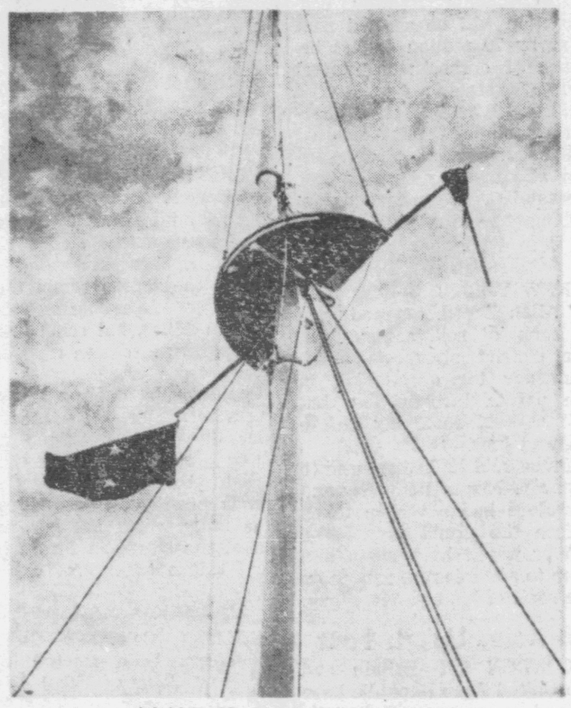
Jim Weaver of St. Mary's which won the West Coast Athletic Conference title last season — "This should be a great season for Tom Meschery (6-6) who never did bounce back from illness last winter. He'll be a forward this time instead of center and Al Claiborne (6-9) will be our regular center. On paper we don't figure to repeat. But if our sophs come through—we could be a tough outfit."

Ross Giudice, USF—"I hope you coaches will go easy on our club. This business of taking over for Phil Woolpert makes me feel like a corporal who goes into a battle and finds all his superior officers missing. We're awfully short on experience."

Sweet, COP — "We'll be as tough as anyone on the boards with Leroy Wright, the nation's best rebounder last season, and Larkin Bryant. But Wright, who underwent knee surgery for the second time, will have to improve on his scoring to make up for the loss of guard Dave Klurman."

Walt McPherson, San Jose State — "Our starting lineup consists of four sophs and one senior. I'm not discouraged although there will be games when we'll make some ridiculous mistakes. We'll also have some warm nights but no hot ones."

Howie Dallmar, Stanford—"We're looking to sophomore John Windsor (6-8) to come through for us at center.



NAVY'S CLEAN SWEEP

A broom hangs from Naval Academy yardarm opposite personal flag of Rear Adm. Charles L. Melson, superintendent, to denote clean sweep over Army in fall sports. He ordered it raised following Saturday's 43-12 football victory which completed first Navy sweep of fall sports since 1943. Middies had previously won soccer, cross country and 150-pound football engagements with arch-rivals. Tradition of hoisting broom for a naval victory started with Dutch admiral in 17th Century. Kuharich To Take Over As Ram Coach?

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Examiner said today Notre Dame Coach Joe Kuharich is slated to succeed Sid Gillman as head man of the Los Angeles Rams.

It also reported Bernie Crimmins, now backfield coach at Purdue, will succeed Kuharich, who posted a 5-5 record this year in his first season as Notre Dame mentor. Crimmins was an assistant to Terry Brennan at Notre Dame before Kuharich was signed last spring.

In a copyrighted story, the Examiner said the 42-year-old Kuharich has told friends he is unhappy at Notre Dame and prefers to return to professional coaching.

The newspaper quoted a source close to the Notre Dame football situation.

Kuharich previously coached the Washington Redskins and Chicago Cardinals of the National Football League and the University of San Francisco Dons.

Ram fullback Ollie Matson played for Kuharich at both San Francisco and Chicago.

The Examiner said Kuharich is highly regarded by Ram owners because he is a tough taskmaster.

Gillman strongly indicated he was through as coach of the Rams when he left the NFL draft meeting at Philadelphia yesterday after only a few rounds and returned to Los Angeles.

He could not be reached for comment on the Examiner report.

Alabama Accepts Liberty Bowl Bid

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Alabama today accepted an invitation to meet Penn State in the Liberty Bowl football game at the Philadelphia Stadium Dec. 19.

Announcement of Alabama's acceptance was made at a news conference by Ambrose Dudley, co-promoter of the game.

Dudley said, "We feel sure that the Alabama-Penn State game will be an outstanding inaugural for football fans of the East who long have desired a major bowl in their home area."

Cannon, Izo See Advantages In Loop's Stability

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — If the reaction of Billy Cannon and George Izo is any indication of things to come, the National Football League hasn't much to worry about in any player war with the new American Football League.

Cannon, the star of Louisiana State's Sugar Bowl-bound football team, and Izo, quarterback of the fast-finishing Notre Dame squad, both were drafted by the NFL and agreed to play in the 40-year-old pro league.

BATTLE CRY

Cannon mouthed the war cry of the established league when he appeared at the NFL draft yesterday and said:

"I favor the NFL because it has the better players and more security."

LSU's triple threat halfback said he would sign with the Los Angeles Rams, who made him the NFL's No. 1 draft choice, immediately after LSU's Jan. 1 Sugar Bowl date with Mississippi. Izo, who has no bowl date, already has signed a contract with the Chicago Cardinals. He was the second pick in the NFL draft.

SELLING POINTS

The NFL has made no bones that it plans to sell college players on its stability, security, and fringe benefits as well as with cold cash.

In all, the 12 NFL teams—selecting in order from last to first place—drafted 240 players from 124 colleges. Purdue of the Big Ten led with 10 players selected. Seven were taken from Mississippi's powerful team, six from Georgia's Orange Bowl squad and five each from LSU, Notre Dame, Cincinnati, Wisconsin, Texas Christian, Southern California and Iowa.

BIG 10 LEADS

Among the nation's many football conferences, the Big Ten topped the NFL draft with 33, followed by the Southeast Conference with 27, Atlantic Coast Conference 18, Pacific Coast 16 and the Southwest with 15. Four were selected from Syracuse, the nation's No. 1 team.

U. S. Net Duo Wins

MANILA (AP) — Top-seeded Barry MacKay of Dayton, Ohio, and Myron Franks of Los Angeles today powered their way to a four-set victory, 6-3, 6-2, 4-6, 6-3, over Filipinos Guillermo Herandez and Alfredo Cruz in the doubles quarter-finals of the Philippine National Tennis Tournament.

49ERS-COLTS TO BE ON TV — IN RENO

RENO, Nev. (UPI) — Many San Francisco 49er football fans will journey to Reno Saturday to see the big game between the 49ers and the Baltimore Colts at Kezar Stadium.

The game is a sellout, but by special arrangement it will be telecast in Reno which is usually blacked-out for games at San Francisco. At least 12 chartered buses had been filled today by fans planning to come here for the telecast.

AFL Head Not Expecting Pro Grid Pay War

CHICAGO (AP) — Joe Foss, World War II Marine hero and newly named commissioner of the new American Football League, does not believe there will be a salary war with the Natioinal Football League.

Foss, 44, one-time flying ace who shot down 26 Japanese planes, said he would be able to tell a lot more about a salary war as time goes on.

"However," the former governor of South Dakota added, "I can see that in some instances there will be heavy bidding for players."

Foss yesterday signed a three-year contract believed to be at about $30,000 a year. The appointment was announced at a press conference by Lamar Hunt of Dallas, president of the new league.

"We interviewed 25 men for the job, narrowed the field to eight and chose Foss unanimously," said Hunt.

Foss said his headquarters will be in Dallas. He added:

Optimism Marks Redwood's Approach To Hoop Season

By GLENN BECKER

A cautious air of optimism pervades the Larkspur camp of Redwood High these days, as the Giants prepare for their second basketball season, and first in the Marin County Athletic League.

Coach Dick Hart's cagers open their campaign Friday, hosting Balboa with an all-letterman first five. It includes Rick Reide and Ernie Bray at the guard spots, Jeff Skinner and Rich Brear at forward, and Eric Lindner at center.

Lindner, a big 6-3, 195-pounder who was an all-league football selection at center, has been "looking much better, especially his shooting," according to Hart. Eric is also a rugged rebounder.

Tallest man on the starting five will be forward Rich Brear, a 6-4 junior who showed a lot of promise last year. His running mate at forward will be 6-1 Jeff Skinner, who drives up the key well and who has been striving to improve his erratic shooting. Skinner was a starting guard last year.

Redwood is very high on its backcourt pair of Riede and Bray. Both are good shooters who at times can carry the team with their hot streaks. Riede, a starter in 1958-59, has more experience than Bray.

The Giants hope they will find some of the good rebounding so necessary to a team's success in Mike Kavanaugh, a 6-4 transfer from Tacoma, Washington. Kavanaugh is expected to back up Lindner at center. Also slated for quite a bit of playing time is Roger Siemens, who had JV experience in '58-'59.

Most of the other Redwooders have come up from last year's "B" and sophomore teams. Graduating from the "B" squad are guards Wayne Berry and Dave Ruta, and forward Rob Brewer, while forwards Don Bowen, Hep Wilkins, and Mike Hoffman, another all-league football choice at end, played on the soph team. Berry, Hart's third guard, is a good dribbler and shooter.

A year ago in their first season, the Giants fashioned a 10-15 mark, commendable for a group of boys who hadn't played together before. This year Hart expects to have "over-all a stronger team" with a "pretty good bench."

Eyeing the rest of the league, he tabs San Rafael, last year's champion of the old North Bay League Section I, as the favorite to haul down another flag. He sees Tamalpais and Marin Catholic, both with new coaches, pressing the Bulldogs closely.

UCLA Only Hurdle In Orange Path To Title

By Associated Press

Only UCLA's giant-killers stand between Syracuse's precisionists and the national football championship.

Their clash Saturday in Los Angeles before a national television audience likely will decide whether the unbeaten and untied Orangemen retain their No. 1 ranking in The Associated Press poll.

Syracuse, bound for a New Year's Day Cotton Bowl engagement with Texas, held onto first place in the next-to-last balloting today, but the margin over runner-up Mississippi was trimmed to 142 points.

Winners of nine straight this season, the Orange received 95 of the 164 first-place votes cast by sports writers and broadcasters for 1,495 points. Mississippi was selected as the top team by 49 voters and amassed 1,350 points.

Every one of the top 10 teams is bowl-bound. Besides the Syracuse-Texas matchup, LSU and Mississippi will meet in the Sugar Bowl, Wisconsin and Washington clash in the Rose Bowl, and TCU and Clemson battle it out in the Bluebonnet.

Georgia tackles 20th-ranked Missouri in the Orange Bowl and Arkansas takes on unranked Georgia Tech in the Gator classic.

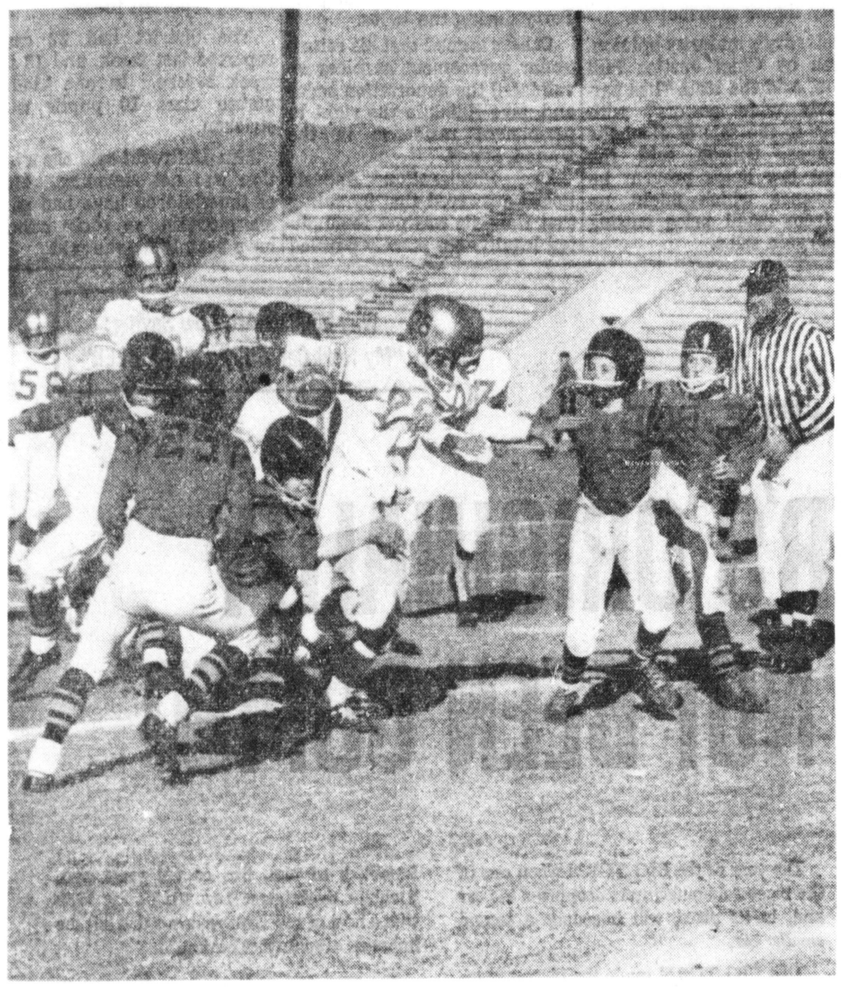
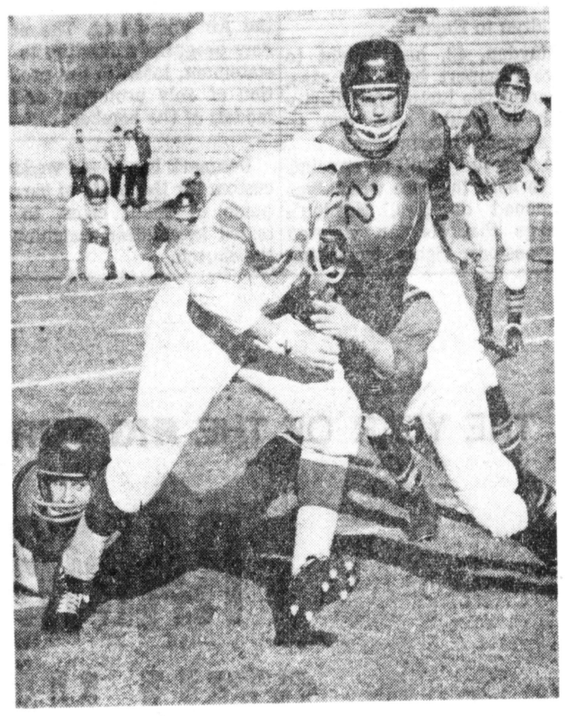
PHOTOS OF REDWOOD'S BOWL CHAMPIONS

Redwood Junior Giants of the Larkspur-Corte Madera area romped to a 37-14 triumph over Vista Village Merchants of Boise, Ida. last Thursday in Boise's annual Papoose Bowl for Pop Warner Conference champions. Here Redwood halfback Dave Auerbach (25) circles right end for a long gain in first period. Leading the way and ready to throw a key block, as he so often does, is Al Weckel (22). Auerbach scored three touchdowns and Weckel two during the rout.



GIANT GALLOPS—Redwood's Bill Adams (26) is pictured crashing through a host of Boise tacklers during a 10-yard gain in third period of Papoose Bowl contest, witnessed by some 3,000 spectators.



ALL AROUND STAR—Al Weckel puts head down and rips over tacklers during an outstanding all-around performance. Besides scoring two touchdowns and kicking an extra point, Weckel made several outstanding runs and was the best blocker on the field, according to Coach John Pagliaro. The Junior Giants arrived home from Boise Saturday. They won eight straight games during the season.

Colts Won't Collapse, Says Ewbank

BALTIMORE (AP) — Coach Weeb Ewbank shrugs off talk about a possible West Coast collapse by his Baltimore Colts.

"They're all tough, no matter where you play them," he said Sunday after the Colts' 35-21 victory over the Los Angeles Rams. "But it makes no difference to us."

The stubby Baltimore coach thus attempted to dispell any notion that his defending National Football League champions are about to repeat their annual swoon on the Pacific shores.

They have never won a game in San Francisco, where they will meet the 49ers Saturday in a showdown rematch. And they have won only one out of seven in Los Angeles, where they take on the Rams again one week later in the regular season finale.

'49ERS GREAT'

Ewbank expressed little surprise that the 49ers bounced back from a 45-14 pounding by the Colts to beat the Cleveland Browns 21-20 and remain tied with Baltimore for the western conference lead. Both are 7-3 with two games to go.

"The 49ers are a great team, and we know we have a football game ahead of us Saturday," he said.

"But I think our team is coming up now after being in the doldrums in the middle of the season. It looks like we're going to be alright."

Boston's Horvath Leads Ice Scoring

MONTREAL (AP)—Bronco Horvath of the Boston Bruins fired three goals and one assist last week to hold a commanding lead in the National Hockey League's individual scoring competition.

Horvath's output gave him 20 goals and 14 assists for 34 points. Andy Bathgate of the New York Rangers and Gordie Howe of the Detroit Red Wings are deadlocked for second place with 27 points each. Bathgate collected three goals and two assists last week while Howe bagged one goal and two assists.

Jean Beliveau of Montreal and Vic Stasiuk of Boston are tied for fourth at 24 points. Beliveau has scored in his last seven games.

Jacques Plante, Montreal, paced the goalies with an average yield of only 1.78 goals a game. He has given up 41 goals in 23 games.

Emotional Lift From Tittle Was All 49ers Needed Against Browns

HANLEY

Just before the 49ers took the field against the Browns in Cleveland, Coach Red Hickey read an airmail special delivery letter addressed to them by their injured quarterback, Y. A. Tittle.

Pro football players are not supposed to be susceptible to emotional fight talks. But when Hickey finished reading the letter from Colonel Slick, there were few players without moist eyes.

"It is impossible for me to explain how all of you guys are supported back here," Tittle wrote from his bed in Mary's Help Hospital in San Francisco.

"The Cleveland game is all anyone can talk about, and I've received phone calls wishing the team luck from cab drivers to city officials.

"I certainly hope that you Bose (Bosley), Ted (Connolly), Frank (Morze), Geek (St. Clair) and all of you offensive guys really get behind John (Brodie) and get that offensive machine rolling.

"I KNOW that Mad Dog (Henke) and Champ's (Nomellini) boys will be hell because they haven't let us down yet.

"One of the Fathers here at Mary's Help stopped by my room Thanksgiving Day and asked if I would share a prayer with him for all of the 49er players. He didn't ask for us to beat Cleveland but to play up to our best. I know, and so do you, that at your best you will beat anyone."

Neither Hickey nor any 49er player, after the 21-20 win finally was sealed in the deep freeze of Baltimore Municipal Stadium, offered any corny comment that "we won it for Slick." But there is no doubt Tittle's missive, and Hickey's dramatic timing in reading it to the team, started the 49er adrenalin working.

Tittle is held in warm affection by all of his teammates who made a prolonged long distance call to him Thanksgiving. During this telephone call, Tittle was unable to control his emotions and broke down.

HICKEY smiled with quiet confidence and pride at the way the 49ers rebounded from their crushing loss 45-14 in Baltimore to their first victory in Cleveland since 1946.

"It was a real win," said Hickey. "A coach always is afraid a team might lose its confidence after getting the living daylights kicked out of it as happened to us in Baltimore.

"This is a fighting club that wasn't supposed to have a chance before the season started. Early in the year we would have been very happy to know that we'd be coming home tied at 7-3 with the fellows (Colts) we have to beat for the title."

INCIDENTALLY, Peter Giannini, 49er ticket manager, said all reserved tickets for the final two games with Baltimore and Green Bay have been sold out now for several weeks.

"At noon on the day of each game," said Giannini, "4,800 unreserved seats will be put on sale—four to a customer."

Carbo Draws 2-Year Term

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Underworld figure Frankie Carbo—sentenced to two years in jail yesterday in New York—was due to arrive here today for arraignment tomorrow on a federal charge of trying to muscle in on the earnings of world welterweight champion Don Jordan.

Trial of Carbo and four other men accused of trying to share Jordan's boxing earnings was postponed yesterday until March 29 to give both the state and defense time to prepare their cases.

Carbo, 53, often called the underworld czar of professional boxing, was sentenced in New York on his plea of guilty to an undercover role in professional boxing.

Great Baylor Coming To S.F. Tilt Dec. 10

The first time Elgin Baylor, Minneapolis, remarkable sophomore sensation came to San Francisco to show his wares as the heralded high scoring collegian, local cage experts dubbed him immediately as an unknown quantity and waited to be shown.

But when the National Basketball Association's 1958-59 Rookie of the Year comes to S.F. on Dec. 10 with the Lakers for a regular season game against the Syracuse Nationals at the Cow Palace, it will be a different story.

In three short years Baylor has run the gamut from All-Northwest to All-American to All-Professional in such an easy manner that some people still can't believe it. Smooth-striding Baylor recently broke Joe Fulk's 63-point scoring record which has held for over a decade with a fantastic 64-point outburst against the world champions from Boston.

According to freshman coach Johnny Castellani, who has followed Baylor to Minneapolis from Seattle, Baylor has one major fault as a pro, i.e. "he doesn't shoot enough." Castellani, who built the winning Seattle teams that featured Baylor as the best college star of all time, calls Baylor the greatest second year man in NBA history.

Because of Baylor's phenomenal record last year, the Lakers rebounded from a last place finish to a berth in the final play-offs against Boston. His 34 points against St. Louis in the semi-finals of the NBA was voted as the year's best one-game performance.

Tickets are priced at $3 for box seats, $3 and $2.50 for reserved section, $1.75 for general admission and $1 for children under 12. They are on sale at Taveggia and Brusati Sports Shop in San Rafael.

Basketball Writers Elect S. F. Man

Bob Blum of radio station KEEN, San Jose, was named vice president and Gene Perry, Santa Clara publicist, secretary.

Mimi Arnold Wins

MELBOURNE (AP) — Mimi Arnold of Redwood City and her Australian partner, Betty Holstein, advanced to the semifinals of the Victorian Doubles Tennis Championships today by defeating Lorraine Coghlan and Margaret Smith of Australia 6-1, 6-1.

Title Bouts Top Week's TV Schedule

NEW YORK (UPI)—Two world title fights, for the lightweight and middleweight crowns, top this week's unusually attractive boxing schedule.

Thirty-three-year-old Joe Brown of New Orleans is favored at 12-5 to keep his lightweight (135-pound) title in a 15-rounder against England's southpaw Dave Charnley, British Empire champion, at the Houston (Texas) coliseum, tomorrow night.

Gene Fullmer of Jordan, Utah, is a lesser favorite at 8-5 to protect his NBA version of the world middleweight (160-pound) championship against Spider Webb of Chicago in a 15-rounder at Logan, Utah, Friday night. It's a return bout. Gene outpointed the Spider, Sept. 11, 1958.

Both title fights will be televised nationally.

Joey Giambra In Win By Decision

LONG BEACH (AP)—Joey Giambra, formerly of Buffalo, N.Y., won a unanimous decision over Orlando DiPietro of Los Angeles in the top half of a double 10-round main event at Municipal Auditorium last night.

Giambra, who now fights out of Los Angeles, weighed 159½. DiPietro, 162½, made a scrap of it all the way.

Referee Tommy Hart had Giambra 99-90 and Judges Jack McDonald and George Latka voted for him 99-88 and 99-89 respectively.

In the co-feature, Jesse Jones, 145½, Los Angeles, took a split decision from Peter Schmidt, 146½, New York.

OUTSTANDING PROSPECTS

Marin To Open Schedule Tonight

Sounds and echoes of great teams of the past reverberated through the College of Marin gymnasium during the past week's as Coach Cal Riemcke ran his Tars through grueling practice sessions in preparation for tonight's 1959-60 basketball season opener at Diablo Vallejo Junior College.

Shades of former national, state and league championship teams can be detected on the faces of this year's Marin squad as spirited competition for starting berths has highlighted practice. Riemcke again is looking toward a good season as his squad shows an abundance of speed, height and depth and a fine blend of veteran performers and promising newcomers.

The starting forward posts are up for grabs as four veterans are fighting for the nod. Larry Trick, a 6-6 jump-shot artist; Ken Anderson, a deadly threat from all spots on the court; Ken Gelatti, a first stringer returning from the 1956-57 squad; and Kerby Cannon, a lanky performer with a wide variety of shots, give Riemcke depth, backboard strenth and excellent scoring potential in the front line.

REESE BACK

The center spot has strong candidates in Jerry Reese, honorable mention on last year's All-Golden Valley Conference squad, Daryl Sattui, a greatly improved 6-7 giant from Drake High, and Luther Wallace, an extremely agile star with tremendous rebounding potential.

Eight men are fighting for the starting guard spots and three came from last year's championship San Rafael High School team: Dale Aman, John Blomquist and Mike Curry. Other guard candidates are Ray Nickleberry, Tom O'Neill, Joe Chaparro, Robbie Harvey and Amos Maples.

Nickleberry, 6-8, won the state high jump championship last spring. O'Neill is a transfer from California Western University.

Marin has a rugged 26-game schedule, but Riemcke believes this will be another in a long line of great Marin teams that have a national, state and several league championships to their credit.

"I certainly hope that you Bose (Bosley), Ted (Connolly), Frank (Morze), Geek (St. Clair) and all of you offensive guys really get behind John (Brodie) and get that offensive machine rolling.

"I KNOW that Mad Dog (Henke) and Champ's (Nomellini) boys will be hell because they haven't let us down yet.

"One of the Fathers here at Mary's Help stopped by my room Thanksgiving Day and asked if I would share a prayer with him for all of the 49er players. He didn't ask for us to beat Cleveland but to play up to our best. I know, and so do you, that at your best you will beat anyone."

Neither Hickey nor any 49er player, after the 21-20 win finally was sealed in the deep freeze of Baltimore Municipal Stadium, offered any corny comment that "we won it for Slick." But there is no doubt Tittle's missive, and Hickey's dramatic timing in reading it to the team, started the 49er adrenalin working.

Tittle is held in warm affection by all of his teammates who made a prolonged long distance call to him Thanksgiving. During this telephone call, Tittle was unable to control his emotions and broke down.

HICKEY smiled with quiet confidence and pride at the way the 49ers rebounded from their crushing loss 45-14 in Baltimore to their first victory in Cleveland since 1946.

"It was a real win," said Hickey. "A coach always is afraid a team might lose its confidence after getting the living daylights kicked out of it as happened to us in Baltimore.

"This is a fighting club that wasn't supposed to have a chance before the season started. Early in the year we would have been very happy to know that we'd be coming home tied at 7-3 with the fellows (Colts) we have to beat for the title."

INCIDENTALLY, Peter Giannini, 49er ticket manager, said all reserved tickets for the final two games with Baltimore and Green Bay have been sold out now for several weeks.

"At noon on the day of each game," said Giannini, "4,800 unreserved seats will be put on sale—four to a customer."

Carbo Draws 2-Year Term

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Underworld figure Frankie Carbo—sentenced to two years in jail yesterday in New York—was due to arrive here today for arraignment tomorrow on a federal charge of trying to muscle in on the earnings of world welterweight champion Don Jordan.

Trial of Carbo and four other men accused of trying to share Jordan's boxing earnings was postponed yesterday until March 29 to give both the state and defense time to prepare their cases.

Carbo, 53, often called the underworld czar of professional boxing, was sentenced in New York on his plea of guilty to an undercover role in professional boxing.

OUTSTANDING PROSPECTS

Marin To Open Schedule Tonight

Sounds and echoes of great teams of the past reverberated through the College of Marin gymnasium during the past week's as Coach Cal Riemcke ran his Tars through grueling practice sessions in preparation for tonight's 1959-60 basketball season opener at Diablo Vallejo Junior College.

Shades of former national, state and league championship teams can be detected on the faces of this year's Marin squad as spirited competition for starting berths has highlighted practice. Riemcke again is looking toward a good season as his squad shows an abundance of speed, height and depth and a fine blend of veteran performers and promising newcomers.

The starting forward posts are up for grabs as four veterans are fighting for the nod. Larry Trick, a 6-6 jump-shot artist; Ken Anderson, a deadly threat from all spots on the court; Ken Gelatti, a first stringer returning from the 1956-57 squad; and Kerby Cannon, a lanky performer with a wide variety of shots, give Riemcke depth, backboard strenth and excellent scoring potential in the front line.

REESE BACK

The center spot has strong candidates in Jerry Reese, honorable mention on last year's All-Golden Valley Conference squad, Daryl Sattui, a greatly improved 6-7 giant from Drake High, and Luther Wallace, an extremely agile star with tremendous rebounding potential.

Eight men are fighting for the starting guard spots and three came from last year's championship San Rafael High School team: Dale Aman, John Blomquist and Mike Curry. Other guard candidates are Ray Nickleberry, Tom O'Neill, Joe Chaparro, Robbie Harvey and Amos Maples.

Nickleberry, 6-8, won the state high jump championship last spring. O'Neill is a transfer from California Western University.

Marin has a rugged 26-game schedule, but Riemcke believes this will be another in a long line of great Marin teams that have a national, state and several league championships to their credit.

Great Baylor Coming To S.F. Tilt Dec. 10

The first time Elgin Baylor, Minneapolis, remarkable sophomore sensation came to San Francisco to show his wares as the heralded high scoring collegian, local cage experts dubbed him immediately as an unknown quantity and waited to be shown.

But when the National Basketball Association's 1958-59 Rookie of the Year comes to S.F. on Dec. 10 with the Lakers for a regular season game against the Syracuse Nationals at the Cow Palace, it will be a different story.

In three short years Baylor has run the gamut from All-Northwest to All-American to All-Professional in such an easy manner that some people still can't believe it. Smooth-striding Baylor recently broke Joe Fulk's 63-point scoring record which has held for over a decade with a fantastic 64-point outburst against the world champions from Boston.

According to freshman coach Johnny Castellani, who has followed Baylor to Minneapolis from Seattle, Baylor has one major fault as a pro, i.e. "he doesn't shoot enough." Castellani, who built the winning Seattle teams that featured Baylor as the best college star of all time, calls Baylor the greatest second year man in NBA history.

Because of Baylor's phenomenal record last year, the Lakers rebounded from a last place finish to a berth in the final play-offs against Boston. His 34 points against St. Louis in the semi-finals of the NBA was voted as the year's best one-game performance.

Tickets are priced at $3 for box seats, $3 and $2.50 for reserved section, $1.75 for general admission and $1 for children under 12. They are on sale at Taveggia and Brusati Sports Shop in San Rafael.

Title Bouts Top Week's TV Schedule

NEW YORK (UPI)—Two world title fights, for the lightweight and middleweight crowns, top this week's unusually attractive boxing schedule.

Thirty-three-year-old Joe Brown of New Orleans is favored at 12-5 to keep his lightweight (135-pound) title in a 15-rounder against England's southpaw Dave Charnley, British Empire champion, at the Houston (Texas) coliseum, tomorrow night.

Gene Fullmer of Jordan, Utah, is a lesser favorite at 8-5 to protect his NBA version of the world middleweight (160-pound) championship against Spider Webb of Chicago in a 15-rounder at Logan, Utah, Friday night. It's a return bout. Gene outpointed the Spider, Sept. 11, 1958.

Both title fights will be televised nationally.

Joey Giambra In Win By Decision

LONG BEACH (AP)—Joey Giambra, formerly of Buffalo, N.Y., won a unanimous decision over Orlando DiPietro of Los Angeles in the top half of a double 10-round main event at Municipal Auditorium last night.

Giambra, who now fights out of Los Angeles, weighed 159½. DiPietro, 162½, made a scrap of it all the way.

Referee Tommy Hart had Giambra 99-90 and Judges Jack McDonald and George Latka voted for him 99-88 and 99-89 respectively.

In the co-feature, Jesse Jones, 145½, Los Angeles, took a split decision from Peter Schmidt, 146½, New York.

Publisher Repeats Sputnik Warning

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The United States has made such meager efforts to catch up with Russia since the launching of Sputnik I two years ago that this country may well be doomed, Palmer Hoyt, editor and publisher of the Denver Post, said today.

Speaking to the California Assn. of School Administrators on "Reappraising the Goals of Education," Hoyt recalled that he had addressed a group of educators on a similar theme Nov. 14, 1957, just six weeks after the launching of the first Russian satellite.

"So little has happened in America since that time that I could repeat that speech today virtually unchanged," said Hoyt.

"My theme then, as it must remain yet, was that we were in a bad fix; that we were doing precious little about it; and that we had better get busy doing a great deal about it or we are lost."

Hoyt called the date of the Sputnik launching, Oct. 4, 1957, "one of the most important in American history."

'SECOND RATE NATION'

"On that date we became a second rate nation," he said. "We have successfully maintained that status since."

Hoyt noted that there was a great outcry in America after the Sputnik launching for an all-out effort in education, particularly for the education of scientists.

But he said the reaction of the nation's leaders to the event, their failure to understand fully its consquences, showed that we needed to improve our production of more than just scientists.

OTHERS NEEDED

"We not only need to educate scientists," said Hoyt, "but also all-around men and women who understand enough about science and the humanities as well to provide the leadership and judgment that may prove more important to a nation in peril than either bombs or satellites."

Hoyt criticized the lack of Washington leadership, blaming this on the failure to meet the educational challenge adequately.

State Schools Advised To 'Sell' Public

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Roy E. Simpson, California's superintendent of public instruction, wants school officials to adopt a four-point public relations program to answer their critics.

Simpson suggested the program last night to the 1959 conference of California city, county and district superintendents of schools.

He said that he did not like the phrase "public relations," but that nevertheless, "schools have a public relations problem."

He said we must show that:

1. Our students are mastering the fundamentals and other important areas of learning.
2. Our students are trained to be good citizens, sound in mind and body.
3. Special student talents are being discovered and given adequate opportunity to develop.
4. The entire public school enterprise is a sound educational investment and is being administered efficiently.

ACTOR LOSES ROUND

Hayden Custody Case Judge Disqualifies Self

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The former wife of actor Sterling Hayden won the first round in the current custody battle for their four children when the judge who previously declared her an unfit mother disqualified himself.

Superior Court Judge Emil Gumpert disqualified himself yesterday from rehearing the case Jan. 25 after Mrs. Betty Ann DeNoon Hayden objected he was prejudiced against her.

"Although no factual or legal basis for disqualification appear, in view of the defendant's (Mrs. Hayden's) bitter, uncontrolled and wholly unfounded charges of bias and prejudice, I have determined to permit this phase of this unhappy litigation be heard by a judge other than myself," said Gumpert.

Last January Gumpert called Mrs. Hayden an unfit mother and awarded custody of the children to Hayden.

Hayden, 42, had sought to have Gumpert hear the case, pleading the jurist's familiarity with it would save two to three weeks hearing time.

A new judge will be appointed to hear the case which was reopened on Mrs. Hayden's charge that Hayden violated his custody rights by taking the children—Christian, 11; Thor, 10; Gretchen, 9, and Matthew, 7—on an 11-month voyage from Sausalito to Tahiti in his schooner in defiance of a court order.

Gumpert said he still would rule on the contempt charge against Hayden but did not set a date for the ruling.

Bomber's First Flight Delayed

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Air Force announced today that the supersonic B-70 heavy bomber's first flight will be delayed by one year and that major subcontracts for the plane's development will be canceled.

The action was described as an economy move.

The first flight of the 2,000-mile-an-hour bomber is now expected in 1963 instead of 1962, the Air Force said. The economy program, according to the statement, looks to the production of only prototype or test models of the bomber.

Court Upholds Fair Trade Liquor Pricing

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The California Supreme Court ruled yesterday that the state could enforce fair trade pricing of retail liquor prices, rejecting a 1953 superior court ruling that the system was unconstitutional.

The 4-3 decision upheld the current practice by which liquor producers file fair trade prices with the state Alcoholic Beverages Control Department. The department can suspend the license of a retailer who sells distilled spirits at cut rates.

Superior Court Judge Albert C. Wollenberg, now a U.S. district judge, ruled in 1953 that the present system was unconstitutional because the Legislature had unlawfully delegated what price fixing power it had to private individuals, namely liquor distributors.

Yesterday's majority opinion, written by Chief Justice Phil Gibson, said the state "has particularly wide powers" with respect to the sale of alcoholic beverages. Gibson said the present law helps prevent intemperance which might result from retail price cutting and bargain sales.

Heikkila Deportation Order Upheld By U.S.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—William Heikkila's attorneys says the Finnish-born draftsman canot be deported yet despite a ruling by the Board of Immigration Appeals in Washington, D. C.

The board upheld yesterday a deportation order against the San Franciscan who was whisked out of the country in 1958 and then returned.

Attorney Lloyd McMurry said the order still cannot be carried out because of a restraining order by the late Federal Court Judge Edward P. Murphy.

Heikkila, 58, was arrested on a San Francisco street in 1958 and flown incommunicado to Finland while court action against the deportation order was pending.

The U. S. Government, which flew him home when that action was widely publicized, contends his deportation was justified because he admits membership in the Communist Party during the 1930s.

Others argued that his return under government auspices invalidated the deportation order and gave Heikkila the right to permanent residence in the United States.

The Immigration Appeals Board answered that by ruling that Heikkila was not re-admitted legally, but merely paroled for a visit pending outcome of pending legal hearings.

The whole question had been carried to the U. S. 9th Circuit Court of Appeals here, last month indicated that Heikkila's future depends on whether his membership in the Communist Party was "meaningful" from a subversive standpoint.

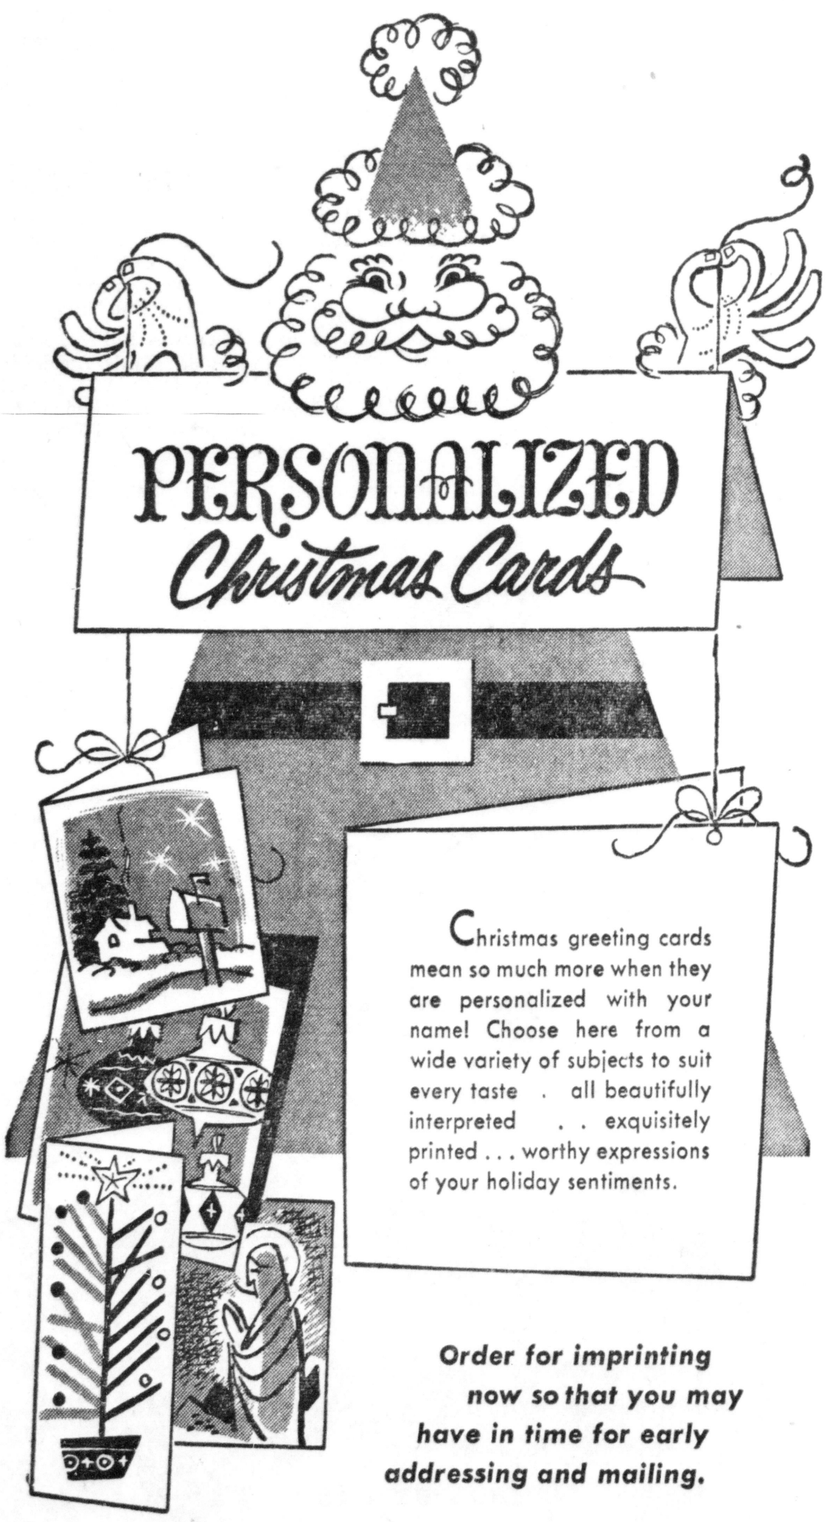
The court also indicated that this question will not be decided until the U. S. Supreme Court clarifies the definition of "meaningful membership" in a similar case. No decision is expected on that until next spring, McMurray said.

Measles Rampant Among Reed Pupils

The measles virus still is hitting children in the Reed School District, and the situation hasn't eased yet, Mrs. Katherine DeBrecht, school nurse, reported today.

The district had 22 cases reported last week, and 18 the week before. In one kindergarten class 10 pupils were stricken.

Mrs. DeBrecht said the situation was not alarming. Most of the children have had gamma globulin, so their attacks have been light, she said.



Order for imprinting now so that you may have in time for early addressing and mailing.

Why Millions Are Now Saying:
"My Next Car Will Be a RAMBLER"

THE YEAR OF THE BIG TURN IS HERE, BUT...

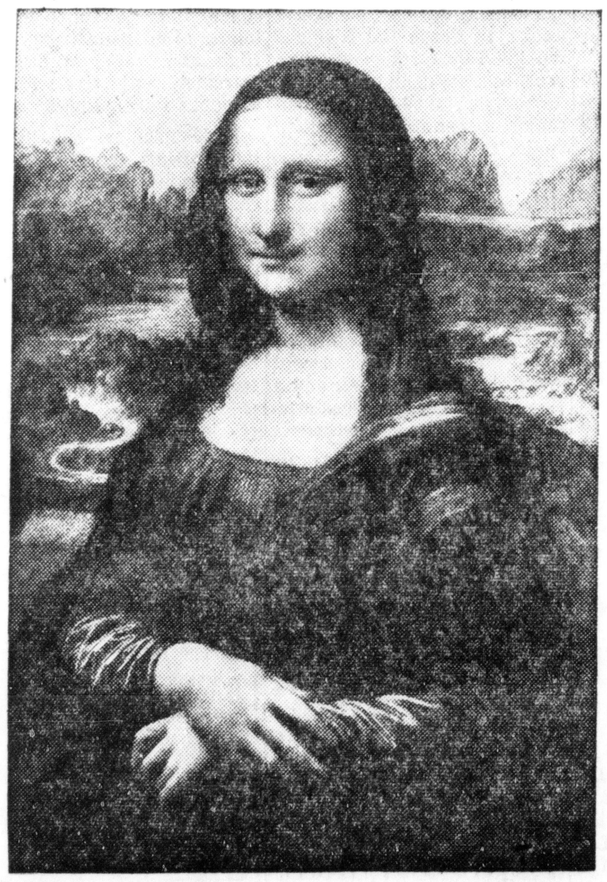
RAMBLER'S ORIGINALITY STILL HAS NOT BEEN COPIED

THIS is the year that will go down in automotive history as the great turning point—the BIG TURN. For never before has the entire industry been forced to turn in its tracks by the success of a new and different concept—the Rambler compact car concept.

It's the year of the BIG TURN in which every major manufacturer has had to produce an imitation of the compact Rambler.

The year of the BIG TURN in which the majority of car makes have turned away from old-fashioned, bolted construction. They have copied Rambler's modern, aircraft-type Single Unit Construction.



The year of the BIG TURN when one of the biggest manufacturers dropped a big car and, in its place, will introduce a second smaller car.

This BIG TURN made the biggest automobile news in decades. What would it mean to big car sales? What would it mean to Rambler? Magazines, newspapers, independent research organizations rushed thousands of interviewers to dealer salesrooms and auto shows to question prospective car buyers.

These researchers found that instead of weakening Rambler's popularity, the newcomers had strengthened it. At auto shows where people could see all makes side by side, the vote for Rambler was overwhelming. At one auto show, a survey showed Rambler first in buying preference among all cars of all sizes. At another, Rambler was second only to America's largest selling automobile. Everywhere, millions are now saying: "My next car will be a Rambler."

Why has the introduction of the imitators skyrocketed demand for Ramblers?

Because car buyers have found that the worth of the original has not been equaled by the copies, just as the great originals in art and literature have never been equaled by the copies and imitations.

Because, while the others were copying Ramblers of two, five or ten years ago, Rambler made giant new strides for 1960 with a host of new improvements that left the imitators even further behind.

Because Rambler has the passenger room for six big men, the entrance and exit room the others lack.

Because Rambler's resale value is officially highest of any low-priced car.

Because Rambler was built to fill a genuine need for a fine quality, sensibly sized, economical automobile, whereas the imitators were rushed out to meet competition.

Because, although they approximately copied Rambler's size, the others could not copy Rambler's basic excellence.

Because Rambler offers not just one or two models, but the world's widest choice of compact cars, including 16 station wagons.

Because only Rambler gives you the Best of Both: big car room and comfort plus small car economy and handling ease.

Visit your Rambler dealer and see the car that "called the BIG TURN" and made the whole industry head in a new direction. Before you buy any car, large or small, see the proof that Rambler's originality still has not been successfully copied—that only a Rambler can equal a Rambler.

How Rambler's Basic Excellence Brings You Balanced Qualities of Usefulness

The 1960 Rambler has been built to meet the public's specific needs in a motor car—to give the ideal balance of qualities that are most useful to the user:

- Highest quality ideally balanced with lowest prices.
- Fine performance ideally balanced with top economy, proved by 10 years and 25 billion owner-driven miles.
- Big car comfort ideally balanced with small car handling ease.
- Greater strength ideally balanced with less weight.
- Smart modern styling ideally balanced with spacious, easy-to-enter interiors.
- Plus exclusive "Deep-Dip" Rustproofing of the entire body up to the roof, not just "shallow-dip"—or no dip at all . . . world's widest choice of compact models . . . smoother "Deep Coil" Ride . . . finest heating, ventilating and air conditioning . . . reclining seats . . . adjustable headrests and many other exclusive luxury features.

That is why the run-away compact car success of 1960 is RAMBLER—the originator and world's largest builder of compact cars.

At another, Rambler was second only to America's largest selling automobile. Everywhere, millions are now saying: "My next car will be a Rambler."

Why has the introduction of the imitators skyrocketed demand for Ramblers?

Because car buyers have found that the worth of the original has not been equaled by the copies, just as the great originals in art and literature have never been equaled by the copies and imitations.

Because, while the others were copying Ramblers of two, five or ten years ago, Rambler made giant new strides for 1960 with a host of new improvements that left the imitators even further behind.

Because Rambler has the passenger room for six big men, the entrance and exit room the others lack.

Because Rambler's resale value is officially highest of any low-priced car.

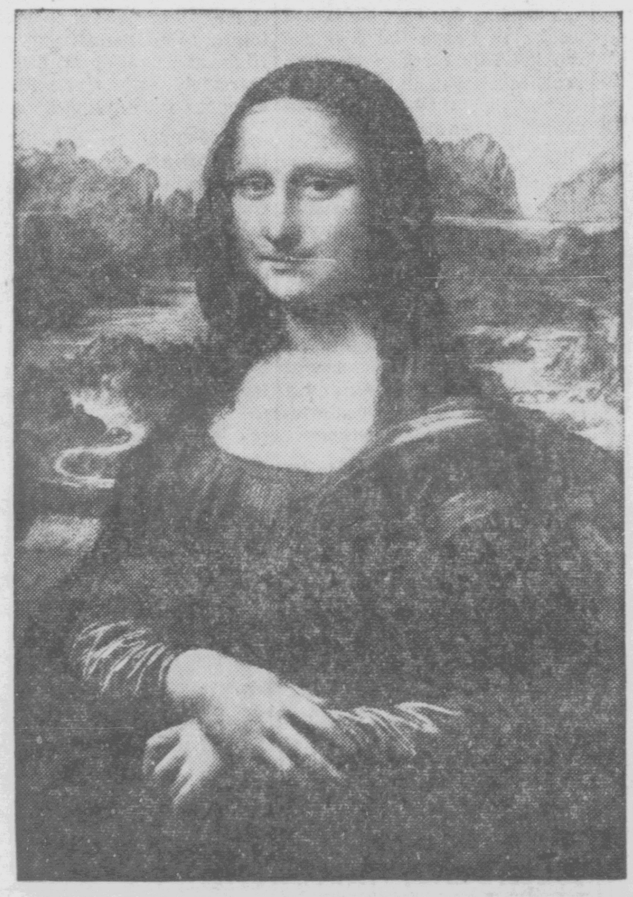
Because Rambler was built to fill a genuine need for a fine quality, sensibly sized, economical automobile, whereas the imitators were rushed out to meet competition.

Because, although they approximately copied Rambler's size, the others could not copy Rambler's basic excellence.

Because Rambler offers not just one or two models, but the world's widest choice of compact cars, including 16 station wagons.

Because only Rambler gives you the Best of Both: big car room and comfort plus small car economy and handling ease.

Visit your Rambler dealer and see the car that "called the BIG TURN" and made the whole industry head in a new direction. Before you buy any car, large or small, see the proof that Rambler's originality still has not been successfully copied—that only a Rambler can equal a Rambler.



How Rambler's Basic Excellence Brings You Balanced Qualities of Usefulness

The 1960 Rambler has been built to meet the public's specific needs in a motor car—to give the ideal balance of qualities that are most useful to the user:

- Highest quality ideally balanced with lowest prices.
- Fine performance ideally balanced with top economy, proved by 10 years and 25 billion owner-driven miles.
- Big car comfort ideally balanced with small car handling ease.
- Greater strength ideally balanced with less weight.
- Smart modern styling ideally balanced with spacious, easy-to-enter interiors.
- Plus exclusive "Deep-Dip" Rustproofing of the entire body up to the roof, not just "shallow-dip"—or no dip at all . . . world's widest choice of compact models . . . smoother "Deep Coil" Ride . . . finest heating, ventilating and air conditioning . . . reclining seats . . . adjustable headrests and many other exclusive luxury features.

That is why the run-away compact car success of 1960 is RAMBLER—the originator and world's largest builder of compact cars.

Focus Show To Fete University Women

Merry and gay the traditional way, will be next Tuesday's special Christmas luncheon at Rickey's when Fashion Focus invites you to "Have a Gala, Glamorous Holiday."

Blending the magic ingredients for such a gala, glamorous holiday will be the American Association of University Women with its Fellowship Group honored by Fashion Focus for a national and international program of fellowships available to graduate women students to study for their doctorate at universities in America and abroad.

Yuletide is the season to sparkle, and the attractive AAUW models will oblige next Tuesday by showing twenty-four holiday beauties gathered from the leading fashion houses by Helen Gray to brighten the corner where you are at Christmas.

Traditionally, Christmas is the time of year when a gala evening coiffure adds the extra sparkle to a holiday occasion. With this in mind, a San Rafael salon will introduce eight new holiday hair looks to compliment the glamorous late day fashions.

Traditionally Christmas says "it's fun to be busy, but not to be swamped." To aid Santa Claus' with their Christmas list, the AAUW models will show glittering, eye-catching accessories as they promenade, each to make a perfect gift.

Candles and twinkling lights, pine boughs and mistletoe, Christmas music and a festive smorgasbord will all add to the mood of a traditional Christmas.

Y-Teen Clubs Seek Volunteer Adult Leaders

What do you think about teen-agers?

Do you believe a teen-ager should be encouraged "to grow as a person, to grow in friendship with people of all races, religions and nationalities, and to grow in the knowledge and love of God?"

Teen-agers in five Marin high schools want to form YWCA Y-teen Clubs with these goals as their stated purpose. They are waiting to get started for just one thing: adult leadership.

Mrs. Frank Rice of Sausalito, chairman of YWCA Board in Marin, said the Marin Y has been scouring the county for five women volunteer club leaders. Qualifications are genuine interest in and understanding of teen-agers, ability in group leadership, and willingness to help Y-teens fulfil their purpose. Mrs. Rice said that the YWCA would provide leadership training for club leaders as soon as they can be found.

She said youngsters are ready to form clubs at Drake, Novato, Redwood, San Rafael and Tamalpais High Schools, as soon as they can find volunteer leaders to meet with them one afternoon a week and help them plan and carry out programs of recreational activities, service projects and discussion groups.

Each club plans its own activities. This year Y-teen clubs are stressing improved communication between youth and adults, concern with world affairs, alleviation of juvenile delinquency, integration, education for the future, and strengthening of religious values.

Readers who would like to volunteer as leaders of Y-teen clubs are invited to telephone the YWCA between 10 a.m. and noon, or write to the Y at 1010 B street, San Rafael.

Y-Teen Clubs Seek Volunteer Adult Leaders

What do you think about teen-agers?

Do you believe a teen-ager should be encouraged "to grow as a person, to grow in friendship with people of all races, religions and nationalities, and to grow in the knowledge and love of God?"

Teen-agers in five Marin high schools want to form YWCA Y-teen Clubs with these goals as their stated purpose. They are waiting to get started for just one thing: adult leadership.

Mrs. Frank Rice of Sausalito, chairman of YWCA Board in Marin, said the Marin Y has been scouring the county for five women volunteer club leaders. Qualifications are genuine interest in and understanding of teen-agers, ability in group leadership, and willingness to help Y-teens fulfil their purpose. Mrs. Rice said that the YWCA would provide leadership training for club leaders as soon as they can be found.

She said youngsters are ready to form clubs at Drake, Novato, Redwood, San Rafael and Tamalpais High Schools, as soon as they can find volunteer leaders to meet with them one afternoon a week and help them plan and carry out programs of recreational activities, service projects and discussion groups.

Each club plans its own activities. This year Y-teen clubs are stressing improved communication between youth and adults, concern with world affairs, alleviation of juvenile delinquency, integration, education for the future, and strengthening of religious values.

Readers who would like to volunteer as leaders of Y-teen clubs are invited to telephone the YWCA between 10 a.m. and noon, or write to the Y at 1010 B street, San Rafael.

MORE THAN 100 children are expected for the baby party to be held from 2 to 4 p.m. on the Dominican College campus, San Rafael. Hawaii Theme Chosen For P-TA Program

Members of the Lynwood School P-TA are busily preparing the Christmas program to be presented on Dec. 17 in the multi-purpose room of the school.

The theme "Christmas in Hawiai," will be a tribute to the newest state. The program will be under the direction of Fred Baguio and 140 children will participate including grades three through six. A troupe of professional entertainers will also present a portion of the program.

Songs will be sung in the Polynesian language and the dances will be authentic island dances. Three of the songs were written by Baguio. One tells a story of each of the eight Hawaiian islands.

Parents are making the decorations which carry out the Hawaiian theme and the refreshments will include a Hawaiian dessert.

Baby sitting will be available.

Calif. Prefers Blondes

NEW YORK (UPI)—California is the top market for color hair rinse, reports Ellen Noreen Baum, creator of hair rinses (Noreen).

Metropolitan New York also is a top market, but the rest of New York state is conservative, Mrs. Baum said. Big-city women go in for lightening, toning down the hair, and use of glamorous colors.

BIGGEST CALIFORNIA MASS JUMP

When 180 paratroopers bailed out of seven C119 Flying Boxcars over Beale Air Force Base recently it was the biggest mass jump ever conducted over California. The men had been airlifted to Hamilton Air Force Base from Ft. Campbell, Ky., and belonged to the 101st (Screaming Eagle) Airborne Division. Lifting them from Hamilton to the scene of the jump were planes of the Air Force Reserve's 349th (Golden Gate) Troop Carrier Wing based on Hamilton.

BOUND FOR THE GROUND—"Geronimo!" and it was off into space for 180 paratroopers of the 101 Airborne Division, known as the Screaming Eagles, as they hit the silk recently over Beale Air Force Base. Part of the group is shown left, while above is a lone paratrooper ready to land and go into action against a mythical foe portrayed by California National Guard units. Including 16 armed and loaded jeeps, the drop was the largest ever staged over California. The troopers were from Fort Campbell, Ky., and after being airlifted to Hamilton Air Force Base were flown to the drop in C119 Flying Boxcars.

The 180 men, each with a specific duty to perform in the mock battle, rushed into action against an "enemy" force representing an aggressor country. The paratroopers were declared winners of the mock war.

GOING INTO ACTION—Hitting the ground on a dead run, these fighters from the 101st Airborne Division have shed their parachutes and are seeking cover from the fire of the "enemy," guerilla fighters from the mythical country of Aggressorland. The mock battle, staged near Beale Air Force Base, was won by the paratroopers after an all-night battle with units of the California National Guard.

Sitting behind the wheel ready to take the jeep into action is Pfc. Wayne Roth of Youngstown, Ohio. A total of 16 jeeps and 180 men of the 101st Airborne Division dropped in the mass assault on the "aggressor" forces.

CASUALTY—One of three casualties in mass paratroop drop near Marysville was Pfc. Don Martin of Los Angeles who suffered a broken arm when he "got fouled up" with another of the 180 men from the 101st Airborne Division who made the jump. Here Martin patiently awaits help as an unidentified medic from the California National Guard rushes from the first aid helicopter to his assistance.

Add Substitute Teachers To Your List Of Unsung Heroines

There are many unsung heroines in our schools. The greatest of all are the substitute teachers. They face a new ordeal each morning.

Hats off to substitutes today.

Their day starts early. Up, dressed, breakfasted before the phone can ring. Then they wait for the call. Will the substitute teach first grade in a nearby school or ninth grade in a tough district far across the town? Will the children be well dressed and clean or will she be worried about lice, skin infections and malnutrition?

One thing she can count on. Wherever she goes at least a few of the boys will do their best to make her miserable. Do you envy the substitute? I don't.

Then comes the phone call. A voice tells her to report to a certain school in about ten minutes. She rushes frantically. Traffic is bad, but she gets there. She meets the principal. He greets her and gives her some directions. He takes her to the classroom. Then she's on her own.

Does she find that the regular teacher has left instructions for her to follow? Sometimes. But often not.

The bell rings, the children troop in. Boys grin knowingly when they see who's there. They make wisecracks. A spitball flies. But the substitute isn't daunted. She's been through this before. She cracks down hard. She lets them see who is boss. Thereafter the boys are quiet. The more reliable pupils help her.

By mid-morning she's feeling comfortable. Another successful day ahead.

In the afternoon the children leave. She is their friend now. They say goodbye regretfully. The substitute makes out reports so the regular teacher will know what has happened. Then she packs up and departs. Tomorrow is another day.

Thank you, substitute teachers. We need you. We appreciate you. We're glad you are willing to do your difficult job.

Hopps Denies Link With Tangier Firm

Insurance adviser Stewart B. Hopps of Belvedere said yesterday his only connection with a Moroccan firm under investigation by the New York attorney general was as a $25,000-a-year adviser—a post he resigned in 1958.

He has been described by Atty. Gen. Louis L. Lefkowitz as the "masterful planner" of a "nationwide fraud" jeopardizing more than 100 million dollars in savings deposits.

UNDER INVESTIGATION

The International Guaranty and Insurance Co. of Tangier and its relations with eight savings and loan associations in the United States and under investigation by Lefkowitz. He will question Hopps and 45 other persons beginning Jan. 13 under a court order obtained last week.

"I am not now and never have been a stockholder, officer, director or trustee" of International Guaranty, Hopps said in a statement mailed to the Independent-Journal from New York.

"The company asked me to give advice on its U.S. affairs and in 1957 I agreed to accept such employment for a $25,000 annual retainer. "My most important advice was that a trust fund be established for the additional protection of American policyholders."

FUNDS ENDANGERED

Lefkowitz said that the eight savings and loan associations were endangering their depositors' funds by not insuring with an agency of the U.S. government.

The associations named are in Idaho, Washington, Maryland and Illinois. Instead of insuring with the federal government, they had placed their insurance with the Moroccan firm, Lefkowitz said.

Hopps denied that the firm has failed. He said the California Insurance Department and a California superior court that had seized International Guaranty's assets had "acknowledged International to be solvent and . . . returned over one million dollars in assets."

Book Smuggling Case To Reach High State Court

The Caryl Chessman book smuggling case, ordered tossed out by the District Court of Appeals, will now go before the state Supreme Court.

Dist. Atty. William O. Weissich said the district court had denied a re-hearing of the case, and the attorney general has informed Marin that he will file an appeal to the state's highest court.

The case involves the smuggling of the manuscript of Chessman's "The Face of Justice" from Death Row of San Quentin Prison in 1957. Weissich presented the case before the grand jury, which indicted George T. Davis, Chessman's attorney; literary agent Joseph Longstreth, and publisher Prentice-Hall Inc. The three are charged with conspiracy to smuggle the manuscript out of Death Row.

Smuggling Whisky Into Jail Results In New Sentence

Laurel Allen Forwood, 23, of 26 Spring Grove avenue, San Rafael, must serve six months in county jail for smuggling whiskey into a jail cell last Oct. 31.

He was sentenced yesterday by Judge Thomas F. Keating of Marin Superior Court. Forwood is also placed on five years probation.

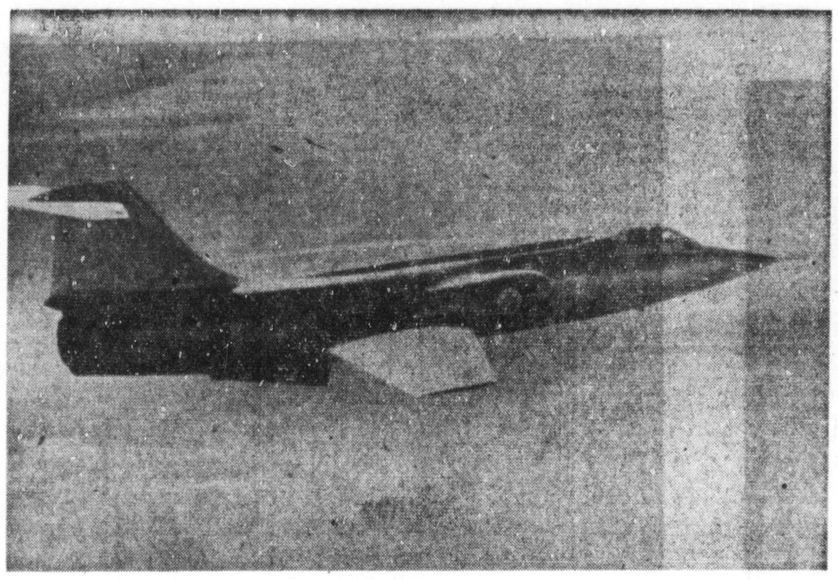
Forwood was serving a jail term for a previous conviction when he smuggled a partly filled bottle of bourbon into the jail.

Doctors Named To Hospital Plan Unit

Dr. Harry N. Hensler of Ross, chief of staff at Marin General Hospital, has been named chairman of a standing committee on planning for the hospital's new 116-bed wing.

Other committee members are Drs. Donald C. Barbour, Walter J. Treanor, George Oliva, William G. Manson, John G. Carr, Edward F. Healey, J. L. Hurlburt, Richard S. Hahr and Carroll A. Russell.

Plans for the new wing are being prepared by Robert Stanton, Carmel architect.



STARFIGHTER WEARS THE MAPLE LEAF

The F104, first aircraft ever to hold simultaneously the world's speed, altitude and time-to-climb records, will go into service in Canada's European Air Division next year. Canada plans to use the Starfighter as a "strike and reconnaissance" weapon to attack behind the enemy lines. (UPI Telephoto)

WOMAN FIGHTS CITY HALL— AND SHE WINS

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Jo Wheeler fought city hall and won.

Miss Wheeler and some of her confederates didn't like the perforated floor mats.

She told the board of public works: "Spike heels catch in the holes and might cause women to fall."

So the board solemnly ordered all perforated floor mats replaced with solid, ribbed mats.

Airman Jailed For Theft Of Gasoline

The distinctive odor of gasoline and a length of rubber hose landed a Hamilton Air Force Base Airman in the arms of the law.

Stopped for a routine check on Las Gallinas avenue in Rafael Meadows at 2 a.m. Sunday by a patrol from the Marin County sheriff's department, Robert Russel Weaver, 20, of 8 Elm avenue, San Anselmo, wound up being charged with illegal possession of 20 gallons of gasoline.

The fuel, Weaver admitted to the officers, came from a truck parked in the Robert S. Herman Garden Supply yard on Las Gallinas.

When stopped, Weaver told the officers he was lost and was attempting to find his way back to Highway 101.

The overpowering smell of gasoline, however, prompted the officers to investigate further. The car was full, they noted, as was a five-gallon can alongside four feet of garden hose in the trunk of the auto.

Under questioning Weaver told the officers he had run out of gas at the Terra Linda stop light and had coasted as far as he could.

Starting to walk to San Rafael, Weaver said, he passed the trucks and decided to take enough gas to get home. Borrowing the hose from a front yard, he said, he siphoned the can full four times, putting three canfulls in his gas tank.

Weaver was booked for petty theft.

College Schedules Art, Pottery Sale

A three-hour art and pottery sale sponsored by the College of Marin art department will start at 7 p.m. tomorrow in the art building on the Kentfield campus.

Proceeds will go to the department's "kiln fund," which provides scholarships, equipment and supplies for deserving art students each semester.

Last year, more than 900 ceramic items were sold at auction. For this year's public sale, the newly formed student art club is adding an exhibition of paintings, sculpture, crafts and mosaics, all offered for sale.

The crab will be served with salad, French bread and refreshments. William Cavanaugh and Nelson Norgren are in charge.

Safe New School Rises At Fire Tragedy Site

CHICAGO (UPI)—"The safest school in the city" was being built today at Our Lady of the Angels Parish, where fire killed 92 youngsters and three nuns one year ago.

Meticulously, almost piously, workmen erected the reinforced concrete and steel girders for the new, $1,250,000, 33-room Roman Catholic parochial school.

Architect James Barry called it "the safest school in the city." There was to be fireproof tile flooring and panic doors and co-ordinated alarms—and an eternal memory.

It only was minutes before afternoon dismissal that cold Dec. 1 last year when choking, black smoke and lapping flames suddenly engulfed the old, three-story parochial school.

Almost immediately, firemen arrived but even in that short time panicked children, some with clothes afire, had started jumping from windows. Others sat trapped at their desks by the suffocating roof-tar filled smoke. The few who groped to windows were dead before firemen could reach them.

A shocked nation mourned the dead — and took a hasty look at all its schools.

Now, one year later, at least 53,000 U. S. school buildings have made fire-prevention improvements, the National Fire Protection Assn. said.

The association, a non-profit fire safety organization, warned, however, that 18 million youngsters still were "being exposed to needless fire hazards."

"There has been some improvement, though," the association said. "There now are 4,500,000 American school children whose lives are better protected against fire than at this time last year and another 9,700,000 youngsters are attending schools where at least some fire hazards have been reduced."

Officially, the Our Lady fire still is "of undetermined origin."

There had been talk, shortly after the tragedy, of a boiler explosion. Then attention shifted to rubbish left under stairwells and maybe an eighth grade boy trying to sneak a smoke. Finally, there were rumors of arson. All were discarded.

"There's not much mentioned about the fire, now," Mrs. John Gorski, who lives down the block from the school, said. "I feel it was God's will. If it did happen, there's nothing you can do."

Fluoridation Signs Termed Misleading

"Dangerously misleading" arguments are being used to persuade Marin County voters to favor fluoridation of their drinking water, Chester A. Kerfoot, head of the Marin Pure Water Committee, charged at a meeting of the group last weekend.

He said that signs suggesting that the public "drink cavities away" are being displayed in markets. He termed this "a siren song" suggesting that "a magic mixture of sodium fluoride (a waste product, deadly poison) and water" will destroy everybody's tooth cavities.

The claim, Kerfoot said, is only that artificially fluoridated water is a caries preventive measure for children under 12, "though conclusive tests establishing this have not been presented."

Audiologist To Speak

Marin County Parents of Hearing Handicapped Children will meet at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the Marin General Hospital annex. Dr. Richard Dixon, chief audiologist of the San Francisco hearing and speech center will be guest speaker.

Non-Paying Guest Burns Hotel Rug

A non-paying guest who apparently used the lobby of the Lincoln Hotel as a bedroom Saturday night burned a 12-inch hole in the carpet, Mrs. Gertrude Dolores Powers, manager of the hotel at 805 Fourth street, told San Rafael police.

An unidentified tenant said he had seen a sleepy-looking man of about 50 in the lobby during the early hours of the morning.

The man had told him, the tenant said, that he had been "beaten up by two fellows" and was on his way to report the beating to police.

No such report had been made to them, police told Mrs. Powers.

They advised her to keep the hotel door locked during the night and issue keys to the paying guests.

BOARDS GET TOGETHER

Coordination Sought In Higher Education

By JERRY HARRELL

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The boards which run California's two big systems of higher education met together for the first time in history just this year.

The meeting was followed by two more as the state Board of Education and the University of California Board of Regents worked to cope with multiplying problems facing the colleges.

The two boards meet jointly again next week, following a meeting of their liaison committee, to act on proposals for a master plan for higher education.

Time is running out, for Gov. Edmund G. Brown and the Legislature have called for a draft of the plan by the time the lawmakers convene in February.

At stake is the future course and availability of higher education in the nation's fastest growing state.

At issue are the problems of who should teach what, who should do the research, who will get new campuses to meet the burgeoning enrollments.

Behind is a series of attempts to coordinate higher education that stretches back to 1919, often cordial, seldom conclusive.

The University of California, established in 1868, traditionally has been the center for research and advanced graduate study, providing training for the professions such as medicine and law, and expanding the frontiers of basic knowledge through research.

Its board of regents has come to be almost a separate government, running a sprawling empire scattered over eight campuses, employing 19,000, enrolling 45,000.

The state colleges, started as normal schools in San Francisco in 1862, for years were considered solely teacher training colleges. Now there are 14 campuses, with big enrollments in the liberal arts, engineering and special fields.

They're governed by the state Board of Education and supervised by the state Department of Education.

Frequently, the courses of the university and the state colleges overlap. Often this has led to quarrels, such as ones in which the university fought engineering training and graduate degrees at the colleges.

The junior colleges, started in 1910, are supported primarily by their home districts and governed exclusively by home rule.

They offer technical-vocational courses which require only two years plus lower division work for those who plan to go on to a four-year school.

Attempts to coordinate higher education in California date from 1919, when the Legislature ordered an overall study.

A 1929 legislative act provided a two-volume report on education but it dealt primarily with the lower schools.

The Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching made a study in 1931. One of 47 recommendations was for a state Council on Educational Planning and Coordination.

The council was set up in 1933 and wrestled with the problem until 1940.

The present liaison committee has been working since 1945, when the two systems began working together.

Youth Draws Jail Term For Assault

Lester Brigham Young, 18-year-old Marin City youth who assaulted the president of the IDESST in Sausalito last August, drew a jail sentence and was ordered to pay for medical costs incurred by the victim.

Judge Thomas F. Keating of Marin Superior Court yesterday put Young on three years probation on condition he serve 120 days in jail, with credit for time served. Young must pay for the cost of treating Manuel G. Brazil, who suffered a skull fracture.

Police said Young struck Brazil with a bottle during a brawl at a dance in the IDESST Hall.

Add Substitute Teachers To Your List Of Unsung Heroines

There are many unsung heroines in our schools. The greatest of all are the substitute teachers. They face a new ordeal each morning.

Hats off to substitutes today.

Their day starts early. Up, dressed, breakfasted before the phone can ring. Then they wait for the call. Will the substitute teach first grade in a nearby school or ninth grade in a tough district far across the town? Will the children be well dressed and clean or will she be worried about lice, skin infections and malnutrition?

One thing she can count on. Wherever she goes at least a few of the boys will do their best to make her miserable. Do you envy the substitute? I don't.

Then comes the phone call. A voice tells her to report to a certain school in about ten minutes. She rushes frantically. Traffic is bad, but she gets there. She meets the principal. He greets her and gives her some directions. He takes her to the classroom. Then she's on her own.

Does she find that the regular teacher has left instructions for her to follow? Sometimes. But often not.

The bell rings, the children troop in. Boys grin knowingly when they see who's there. They make wisecracks. A spitball flies. But the substitute isn't daunted. She's been through this before. She cracks down hard. She lets them see who is boss. Thereafter the boys are quiet. The more reliable pupils help her.

By mid-morning she's feeling comfortable. Another successful day ahead.

In the afternoon the children leave. She is their friend now. They say goodbye regretfully. The substitute makes out reports so the regular teacher will know what has happened. Then she packs up and departs. Tomorrow is another day.

Thank you, substitute teachers. We need you. We appreciate you. We're glad you are willing to do your difficult job.

Hopps Denies Link With Tangier Firm

Insurance adviser Stewart B. Hopps of Belvedere said yesterday his only connection with a Moroccan firm under investigation by the New York attorney general was as a $25,000-a-year adviser—a post he resigned in 1958.

He has been described by Atty. Gen. Louis L. Lefkowitz as the "masterful planner" of a "nationwide fraud" jeopardizing more than 100 million dollars in savings deposits.

UNDER INVESTIGATION

The International Guaranty and Insurance Co. of Tangier and its relations with eight savings and loan associations in the United States and under investigation by Lefkowitz. He will question Hopps and 45 other persons beginning Jan. 13 under a court order obtained last week.

"I am not now and never have been a stockholder, officer, director or trustee" of International Guaranty, Hopps said in a statement mailed to the Independent-Journal from New York.

"The company asked me to give advice on its U.S. affairs and in 1957 I agreed to accept such employment for a $25,000 annual retainer. "My most important advice was that a trust fund be established for the additional protection of American policyholders."

FUNDS ENDANGERED

Lefkowitz said that the eight savings and loan associations were endangering their depositors' funds by not insuring with an agency of the U.S. government.

The associations named are in Idaho, Washington, Maryland and Illinois. Instead of insuring with the federal government, they had placed their insurance with the Moroccan firm, Lefkowitz said.

Hopps denied that the firm has failed. He said the California Insurance Department and a California superior court that had seized International Guaranty's assets had "acknowledged International to be solvent and . . . returned over one million dollars in assets."

Book Smuggling Case To Reach High State Court

The Caryl Chessman book smuggling case, ordered tossed out by the District Court of Appeals, will now go before the state Supreme Court.

Dist. Atty. William O. Weisich said the district court had denied a re-hearing of the case, and the attorney general has informed Marin that he will file an appeal to the state's highest court.

The case involves the smuggling of the manuscript of Chessman's "The Face of Justice" from Death Row of San Quentin Prison in 1957. Weisich presented the case before the grand jury, which indicted George T. Davis, Chessman's attorney; literary agent Joseph Longstreth, and publisher Prentice-Hall Inc. The three are charged with conspiracy to smuggle the manuscript out of Death Row.

Smuggling Whisky Into Jail Results In New Sentence

Laurel Allen Forwood, 23, of 26 Spring Grove avenue, San Rafael, must serve six months in county jail for smuggling whiskey into a jail cell last Oct. 31.

He was sentenced yesterday by Judge Thomas F. Keating of Marin Superior Court. Forwood is also placed on five years probation.

Forwood was serving a jail term for a previous conviction when he smuggled a partly filled bottle of bourbon into the jail.

Doctors Named To Hospital Plan Unit

Dr. Harry N. Hensler of Ross, chief of staff at Marin General Hospital, has been named chairman of a standing committee on planning for the hospital's new 116-bed wing.

Other committee members are Drs. Donald C. Barbour, Walter J. Treanor, George Oliva, William G. Manson, John G. Carr, Edward F. Healey, J. L. Hurlburt, Richard S. Hahr and Carroll A. Russell.

Plans for the new wing are being prepared by Robert Stanton, Carmel architect.

Canada plans to use the Starfighter as a "strike and reconnaissance" weapon to attack behind the enemy lines. (UPI Telephoto)

WOMAN FIGHTS CITY HALL— AND SHE WINS

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Jo Wheeler fought city hall and won.

So the board solemnly ordered all perforated floor mats replaced with solid, ribbed mats.

Airman Jailed For Theft Of Gasoline

The distinctive odor of gasoline and a length of rubber hose landed a Hamilton Air Force Base Airman in the arms of the law.

Stopped for a routine check on Las Gallinas avenue in Rafael Meadows at 2 a.m. Sunday by a patrol from the Marin County sheriff's department, Robert Russel Weaver, 20, of 8 Elm avenue, San Anselmo, wound up being charged with illegal possession of 20 gallons of gasoline.

The fuel, Weaver admitted to the officers, came from a truck parked in the Robert S. Herman Garden Supply yard on Las Gallinas.

When stopped, Weaver told the officers he was lost and was attempting to find his way back to Highway 101.

The overpowering smell of gasoline, however, prompted the officers to investigate further. The car was full, they noted, as was a five-gallon can alongside four feet of garden hose in the trunk of the auto.

Under questioning Weaver told the officers he had run out of gas at the Terra Linda stop light and had coasted as far as he could.

Starting to walk to San Rafael, Weaver said, he passed the trucks and decided to take enough gas to get home. Borrowing the hose from a front yard, he said, he siphoned the can full four times, putting three canfulls in his gas tank.

Weaver was booked for petty theft.

College Schedules Art, Pottery Sale

A three-hour art and pottery sale sponsored by the College of Marin art department will start at 7 p.m. tomorrow in the art building on the Kentfield campus.

Proceeds will go to the department's "kiln fund," which provides scholarships, equipment and supplies for deserving art students each semester.

Last year, more than 900 ceramic items were sold at auction. For this year's public sale, the newly formed student art club is adding an exhibition of paintings, sculpture, crafts and mosaics, all offered for sale.

Safe New School Rises At Fire Tragedy Site

CHICAGO (UPI)—"The safest school in the city" was being built today at Our Lady of the Angels Parish, where fire killed 92 youngsters and three nuns one year ago.

Meticulously, almost piously, workmen erected the reinforced concrete and steel girders for the new, $1,250,000, 33-room Roman Catholic parochial school.

Architect James Barry called it "the safest school in the city." There was to be fireproof tile flooring and panic doors and co-ordinated alarms—and an eternal memory.

It only was minutes before afternoon dismissal that cold Dec. 1 last year when choking, black smoke and lapping flames suddenly engulfed the old, three-story parochial school.

Almost immediately, firemen arrived but even in that short time panicked children, some with clothes afire, had started jumping from windows. Others sat trapped at their desks by the suffocating roof-tar filled smoke. The few who groped to windows were dead before firemen could reach them.

A shocked nation mourned the dead — and took a hasty look at all its schools.

Now, one year later, at least 53,000 U. S. school buildings have made fire-prevention improvements, the National Fire Protection Assn. said.

The association, a non-profit fire safety organization, warned, however, that 18 million youngsters still were "being exposed to needless fire hazards."

"There has been some improvement, though," the association said. "There now are 4,500,000 American school children whose lives are better protected against fire than at this time last year and another 9,700,000 youngsters are attending schools where at least some fire hazards have been reduced."

Officially, the Our Lady fire still is "of undetermined origin."

There had been talk, shortly after the tragedy, of a boiler explosion. Then attention shifted to rubbish left under stairwells and maybe an eighth grade boy trying to sneak a smoke. Finally, there were rumors of arson. All were discarded.

"There's not much mentioned about the fire, now," Mrs. John Gorski, who lives down the block from the school, said. "I feel it was God's will. If it did happen, there's nothing you can do."

Play Scheduled By High School Drama Group

A psychological thriller, "Night Must Fall" will be presented by the San Rafael High School advanced drama class as the senior play, Friday and Saturday.

The drama by Emlyn Williams will be presented at 8:30 o'clock both nights at the school auditorium, directed by Dennis Dunn, drama instructor.

Dunn said the Actor's Workshop acting method has been tried for this play and has had good results in the seven weeks of rehearsal.

Nine students play the roles in the drama of a psychopathic killer in the English countryside. Rick Shroers plays Dan, a young bellboy who comes to the country house of Mrs. Branson (Lenor Brawley), an elderly woman who is cared for by her niece (Antoinette Guerrero). Karen Woodman is the Branson cook whom Dan knows. Other players are Ed Orlick as the niece's suiter; Mike Malone, the inspector from Scotland Yard; Wendy Davis as Dora Parkoe, the maid; Pauline Peele as the district nurse, and Dean Steuer.

"Night Must Fall" has been successful on Broadway and became an academy-award-winning film.

ANGRY WORDS FLY—In the opening act of "Night Must Fall" Karen Woodman as the cook and Lenor Brawley as Mrs. Branson exchange heated words. The psychological drama is to be presented Friday and Saturday nights by San Rafael High School drama students.

Remodeled TV Shop Reopens In Larkspur

Dexter's Television and radio Service in Larkspur unveiled its newly remodeled and enlarged store today in a grand reopening celebration.

Coffee and cookies were being served and visitors received free gift pencils. The open house will continue until 9 p. m.

Located at 25 Ward street, the sales and service organization is owned and managed by Oakley W. Dexter Jr. and his wife, Emma Dene.

The store has a new 1,600-square-foot second story and a remodeled exterior of redwood and stucco. The interior of the main floor has been completely redecorated and a section has been added for listening to records before purchase.

Offices of the firm have been moved to the second floor, which also has storage space for used television and radio sets. The addition increases total floor space to 3,000 square feet.

David B. McDougall of Larkspur and Charles M. Heiman of Corte Madera were the contractors.

The Dexters have been at their present location 13 years. From one service truck they have expanded to five, all equipped with two-way radios.

Dexter's will be open from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. daily until Christmas. On Dec. 24, the firm will give away a television set, hi-fi, stereophonic unit, radio and other gifts.

Zurcher Re-Named YMCA President

Walter Zurcher of San Rafael has been re-elected president of the board of managers of the Young Men's Christian Assn. of Marin.

Other officers, elected to serve throughout 1960, are Walter Busher, secretary; Bert Broemmel, treasurer; Erwin Farley, first vice president, and Dr. Catherine Pike, second vice president.

Newly elected to fill vacancies on the board were John George, Leland Jordan, Dr. Richard Hinzie, Mrs. R. C. Brear and Kenneth McKinnon.

Chamber Releases Planning Calendar

A new trade promotion planning calendar for 1960 is now available to Marin businessmen from the Greater San Rafael Chamber of Commerce.

The calendar-booklet of 48 pages is available to all Marin firms as long as the supply lasts, according to Richard L. Shirley, chamber manager. It contains not only the daily planning calendar section, but also a directory of special days, weeks and months, thus enabling merchants to tie in with national or regional promotions.

"This is the most complete trade promotion calendar we have ever been able to procure," said Shirley, "and its faithful use should help individual merchants in their business planning. It is a good business almanac."

Construction News Program Slated

Marin's biggest industry will be discussed regularly starting Saturday over radio station KTIM on the "Marin Construction News" program. To be heard at 12:30 p. m., the broadcast will feature E. Douglas Roberts, manager of the Marin Builders' Exchange, and KTIM program director Bill Thompson.

New construction, future advertising of bids, construction legislation, and interviews with contractors and architects will be covered in the series.

Zurcher Re-Named YMCA President

Walter Zurcher of San Rafael has been re-elected president of the board of managers of the Young Men's Christian Assn. of Marin.

Other officers, elected to serve throughout 1960, are Walter Busher, secretary; Bert Broemmel, treasurer; Erwin Farley, first vice president, and Dr. Catherine Pike, second vice president.

Newly elected to fill vacancies on the board were John George, Leland Jordan, Dr. Richard Hinzie, Mrs. R. C. Brear and Kenneth McKinnon.

Play Scheduled By High School Drama Group

A psycholological thriller, "Night Must Fall" will be presented by the San Rafael High School advanced drama class as the senior play, Friday and Saturday.

The drama by Emlyn Williams will be presented at 8:30 o'clock both nights at the school auditorium, directed by Dennis Dunn, drama instructor.

Dunn said the Actor's Workshop acting method has been tried for this play and has had good results in the seven weeks of rehearsal.

Nine students play the roles in the drama of a psychopathic killer in the English countryside. Rick Shroers plays Dan, a young bellboy who comes to the country house of Mrs. Branson (Lenor Brawley), an elderly woman who is cared for by her niece (Antoinette Guerrero). Karen Woodman is the Branson cook whom Dan knows. Other players are Ed Orlick as the niece's suiter; Mike Malone, the inspector from Scotland Yard; Wendy Davis as Dora Parkoe, the maid; Pauline Peele as the district nurse, and Dean Steuer.

"Night Must Fall" has been successful on Broadway and became an academy-award-winning film.

Remodeled TV Shop Reopens In Larkspur

Dexter's Television and radio Service in Larkspur unveiled its newly remodeled and enlarged store today in a grand reopening celebration.

Coffee and cookies were being served and visitors received free gift pencils. The open house will continue until 9 p. m.

Located at 25 Ward street, the sales and service organization is owned and managed by Oakley W. Dexter Jr. and his wife, Emma Dene.

The store has a new 1,600-square-foot second story and a remodeled exterior of redwood and stucco. The interior of the main floor has been completely redecorated and a section has been added for listening to records before purchase.

Offices of the firm have been moved to the second floor, which also has storage space for used television and radio sets. The addition increases total floor space to 3,000 square feet.

David B. McDougall of Larkspur and Charles M. Heiman of Corte Madera were the contractors.

The Dexters have been at their present location 13 years. From one service truck they have expanded to five, all equipped with two-way radios.

Dexter's will be open from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. daily until Christmas. On Dec. 24, the firm will give away a television set, hi-fi, stereophonic unit, radio and other gifts.

Chamber Releases Planning Calendar

A new trade promotion planning calendar for 1960 is now available to Marin businessmen from the Greater San Rafael Chamber of Commerce.

The calendar-booklet of 48 pages is available to all Marin firms as long as the supply lasts, according to Richard L. Shirley, chamber manager. It contains not only the daily planning calendar section, but also a directory of special days, weeks and months, thus enabling merchants to tie in with national or regional promotions.

"This is the most complete trade promotion calendar we have ever been able to procure," said Shirley, "and its faithful use should help individual merchants in their business planning. It is a good business almanac."

Construction News Program Slated

Marin's biggest industry will be discussed regularly starting Saturday over radio station KTIM on the "Marin Construction News" program. To be heard at 12:30 p. m., the broadcast will feature E. Douglas Roberts, manager of the Marin Builders' Exchange, and KTIM program director Bill Thompson.

New construction, future advertising of bids, construction legislation, and interviews with contractors and architects will be covered in the series.

ANGRY WORDS FLY—In the opening act of "Night Must Fall" Karen Woodman as the cook and Lenor Brawley as Mrs. Branson exchange heated words. The psychological drama is to be presented Friday and Saturday nights by San Rafael High School drama students.
